Military Coup Is Charged In D. R., Balaguer Quits

MAYORS MEET—A meeting of New York State mayors in Rochester split down party lines over a statement challenging the Diefendorf Committee staff report on state aid to education. The statement, issued by the Democratic mayors, said the committee's proposal "continues to ignore the need of the large cities." From left: Mayor John Flynn, Yonkers; Mayor Erastos Corning II, Albany; Mayor Robert Wagner, New York City; Henry Dutcher, Rochester city manager; Mayor Henry Gilette, Rochester; Dr. Max Rubin, president of New York City board of education; and Dr. Robert Springer, superintendent of the Rochester board of education. Explosion Clue To Vanished B47

PLATTSBURGH, N. Y. (AP)—A report of a pre-dawn explosion near Watertown gave searchers a possible clue today to the fate of a B47 jet bomber that vanished with its crew of four.

Air Force planes scoured snow-covered, hilly farmland southeast of Watertown after a woman who lives about 10 miles from the city reported that, at 2:15 a.m. Tuesday, she heard a plane flying low and then a blast that jarred her house, beside Route 177.

The B47 had been expected to return to Plattsburgh at 7 a. m, Tuesday and had fuel enough to last until 8:30 a. m. Watertown is 133 air miles southwest of Plattsburgh.

Violence Pressures Decision

4 Killed, Score Hurt in Rioting

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Pressured by bloody rioting, President Joaquin Balaguer resigned Tuesday night and a new civil-military junta was sworn in to rule this troubled Caribbean island nation.

The junta was installed at the National Palace several hours after air force tank troops fired into a defiant crowd of hundreds in the heart of the capital, killing at least four persons and wounding a score more.

Shots Touch Off Riots

The shooting touched off the most violent rioting in the city in months, and demands mounted for the resignations of Balaguer and his armed forces chief, Air Force Gen. Pedro Rodriguez Echavarria, who had been accused of planning to set up a military dictatorship.

(News dispatches from Santo Domingo were subject to censorship and made no mention of the fate of Gen. Rodriguez Echavarria. However, he told newsmen of the government change and Balaguer's resignation after a long emergency meeting of the State Council, and it was assumed he was still in control of the armed forces.)

Seven in Junta

The junta — four civilians and three military men — took over the government from the all-civilian seven-man council which had ruled for only 16 days. The council, headed by Balaguer, was installed Jan. 1 to guide the nation for 13 months toward its first free elections after 31 years of iron-fisted rule by the late dictator, Generalissimo Rafael L. Trujillo.

The change in government drew immediate fire from the National Civic Union, the largest anti-Trujillo faction, and leader of the opposition to Balaguer. A spokesman called it a military coup d'etat and said all Civic Union members in government posts would resign. However, associates of one of them, Foreign Minister Antonio Bonilla Atiles, said he had no plans to step out.

Rules Until 1963

Radio Caribe, a government station, said the new junta will rule until Feb. 27, 1963, the date Balaguer had set for an elected government to take over.

Project Is for $2,409,000

Rosendale Approves Flood Control Work

A $2,409,000 project for flood control in the Rosendale area of Rondout Creek, which is part of a $5,948,000 program approved by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, North Atlantic Division, was unanimously approved Tuesday night at a meeting of the Rosendale Flood Control Committee.

The Army Engineers, according to U. S. Senator Kenneth B. Keating who last week disclosed the $5,948,000 project approval, recommended in a report to Washington authorization for construction of local protection works on the Beer Kill, Fantine Kill, Ellenville, on North Gully at Ellenville and on Rondout Creek at Rosendale.

Costs Are Included

The recommendation also included $29,600 annually for operation, maintenance and replacement costs.

The recommendation also includes provisions requiring local interests to protect the channels, ponding areas, other flood agencies from encroachment and to bear a portion of the costs of construction, maintenance, operation and replacement, Senator Keating said.

Follows Wharton Report

The approval action followed a report from Congressman J. Ernest Wharton to the Rosendale Flood Control Committee last week informing the group that the Army Engineers' report was complete and sent to Washington.

The Engineers' report was authorized in resolutions adopted by the Senate public works committee late in 1955, Senator Keating said. He explained that Congress must approve the project and appropriate money before work can begin.

The Rosendale flood control project was submitted by the village officials in June 1960 and accepted by the Army Engineers. The program involves Rondout Creek between LeFever Falls and the Route 32 bridge, according to William P. Curran, counsel for the Rosendale committee.

Curran noted that the project

Molotov Charged As Opponent of K's Coexistence

MOSCOW (AP)— Pravda today accused former Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov of waging dogmatic and stubborn opposition to Premier Khrushchev's policy of peaceful coexistence.

The attack in the Soviet Communist party newspaper was the first propaganda blast against the old Bolshevik since the Soviet government announced Jan. 8 that he would return to his former post as permanent Soviet representative to the International Atomic Energy Agency in Vienna.

Battle Still Raging

The blast was so strong that foreign observers in Moscow felt the battle against Molotov and his so-called anti-party group could still be under way.

"Lenin's views on questions of foreign policy," said Pravda, "and above all on problems of war, peace and peaceful coexistence are being distorted not only by

Agree on School Need

Conflict Is On Method Of Giving

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Almost-unanimous agreement that state spending for schools should be increased but sharp conflict on how it should be done marked the Diefendorf Committee's public hearing today on its staff recommendations.

Parents, teachers, school-board officials, representatives of local governments and others assembled for the hearing shared the view the staff program did not go far enough in meeting financial needs of public schools.

Big cities, led by New York and Buffalo, protested that the staff proposals, if adopted by the Legislature, would be unfair to them and overly solicitous of rural schools.

Point to 'Error'

Others among the 70 scheduled speakers echoed Gov. Rockefeller's view that the staff erred in using the traditional yardstick of real-estate valuation in measuri the wealth of school districts.

The governor has said that a district's ability to raise money through income, sales or other non-property taxes also should be taken into consideration in determining its ability to support its own schools and its need for state help.

The staff committee recommended that districts be authorized to levy non-property taxes to relieve property-owners but the Republican - controlled Legislature has long opposed this plan and its opposition is particularly intense in this election year.

The Diefendorf staff proposal for pegging state aid to an annual per-pupil cost of $500 also came under fire.

To Draft Views

After today's hearing, held in a downtown Albany hotel, the Diefendorf Committee will draft its own, final recommendations and submit these to the Legislature.

Because of the wide, divergence of opinion on how school-aid formulas should be revised, it now is uncertain whether any major changes will be adopted this year by the Legislature.

In any event, it is expected that state aid to schools, now $800 million a year, will be increased by at least $100 million, regardless of how it is divided.

At present, districts and the state share a cost of $389 per pupil.

State aid to education now takes a third of all state spending. Educators have said they see no end of rising school costs so long as enrollments keep going up.

Local school districts raise nearly $1 billion, practically all in real-estate taxes, as their share of education costs.

No Halt Underground

U.S. to Try Soviet Again On Test Ban

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States plans a determined new effort in the next round of disarmament negotiations to get the Soviet Union to agree to a treaty banning nuclear weapons tests under an international inspection system, officials said today.

The United States will go ahead, meanwhile, with its program of underground test explosions, and the probability is that in the next couple of months President Kennedy will make a final decision to conduct nuclear tests in the atmosphere.

Informants said today that the present trend of administration thinking is strongly in favor of atmospheric tests aimed at improving U.S. nuclear weapons performance and developing an anti-missile missile.

Next Round March 14

The next round of disarmament negotiations is expected to open in Geneva March 14. The date and place are tentative pending approval of the 18 nations which will participate in the conference under U.N. auspices.

Nuclear test ban talks, which opened at Geneva almost three years ago, came to a dead end Tuesday.

However, the United States and Britain stopped just short of making a final break in the negotiations with Moscow. Representatives of the two Western powers told the Soviet delegation their governments were willing to take up the test ban problem as part

Nixon's Chances Enhanced

Knight Out, Coast Squabble Tightens

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Goodwin J. Knight's exit from the 1962 campaign tightened up California's race for governor today.

Political leaders differed on the eventual effect, but most agreed it enhanced Richard M. Nixon's already bright chances for the Republican nomination.

No Slugfest Now

Knight, 65, announced Tuesday he would not file for his old job in the June 5 primary. He was stricken last November by infectious hepatitis—a liver disease. His doctor, he said, advised against a strenuous campaign.

The decision by the colorful ex-governor removed the prospect of a Republican slugfest between Nixon and Knight, who had pledged a "real gloves-off fight."

It installed a hard-charging state assemblyman, Joseph C. Shell, 43, of Los Angeles, as Nixon's chief challenger on the Republican ticket.

Shell, an avowed conservative, has been making evident headway against Nixon's early commanding lead in polls. A wealthy oilman, he has delivered at least 400 talks throughout the state while Nixon has been busy on a book and other matters.

Another Makes Bid

A third GOP candidate, former Lt. Gov. Harold J. (Butch) Powers, made a pitch for Knight's votes, saying "he and I always saw eye to eye." Knight, governor from 1953 through 1958, remained silent on whether he'll take sides in the Republican primary.

Democrats probably were disappointed by Knight's action. They had hoped that a serious cleavage in Republican ranks would help Gov. Edmund G. Brown in November.

Brown, who is expected to announce his own candidacy next Wednesday, got a lift in 1958 when Knight gave up his bid for re-election under heavy Republican pressure and handed the party's nomination for governor to former Sen. William F. Knowland. Brown defeated Knowland by more than a million votes.

The Democratic governor said the latest development means that the moderates voting on the Republican primary "apparently are left without a candidate."

In his statement Knight said: "It is with greatest regret that I now follow the advice of my doctor. I shall not file as a candidate for governor in March."

Nixon, in a statement, extended his sympathy to Knight and best wishes for his recovery.

"I know," he said, "this is a difficult blow to a man who has been such a vigorous and tireless campaigner."

The case was referred to the grand jury.

Carlino Claims Affidavit False on Control of Him

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlino says one of the key affidavits in the fallout-shelter conflict-of-interest case against him is false.

The embattled legislative leader made the statement to newsmen yesterday after he had appared for the first time before the Assembly Committee on Ethics, which is investigating the Carlino case.

Carlino testified under subpoena, although he has said he was willing to testify at any time. The meeting was closed.

The affidavit by Warren C. Adams, president of the Adams Manufacturing Co. of Camden, Tenn., quoted officials of a fallout-shelter firm as saying in 1960 they had Carlino "in our hip pocket."

The New York Times quoted Adams today as saying in a telephone interview from his Camden home that Carlino and some of his associates were trying to ruin him because of the affidavit.

"Everything I stated in the affidavit is absolutely true," Adams was quoted as saying, "and I shall be happy to testify at any time that the committee calls me."

Mark Lane, a Democratic assemblyman from Manhattan, has accused Carlino of a conflict of interest because he was a director of the firm, Lancer Industries Inc., when Gov. Rockefeller's school fallout - shelter program was passed by the Legislature last November.

Carlino said Tuesday the Adams affidavit was "tailored" to fit the facts that existed in 1961. It would have been impossible for such facts to have been available to anyone in 1960, Carlino said. He also noted that no one had corroborated Adams' statement.

"Completely false and perjurious," Carlino said of the affidavit.

Carlino also confirmed reports that two of his lawyer friends had gone to Camden last week to investigate Adams' background. Adams has said the men posed as New York investigators and began a smear campaign against him. He implied they were trying to scare him from testifying.

Adams had been engaged by Lancer as a subcontractor to manufacture fallout shelters but the agreement later was terminated.

Strict secrecy surrounded the Ethics Committee meeting. Several hours before, the chairman, Assemblyman Donald A. Campbell, R - Amsterdam, said no formal meeting of the committee was planned.

Carlino's office announced that he was testifying shortly after Carlino had entered the meeting, held in an office in the Capitol.

No date has been fixed for a public hearing.

An additional $20,000 was added by the Legislature Tuesday to the committee's regular appropriation of $5,000.

Massacre Is Linked to Same Group That Slew 13 Airmen

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — The United Nations displayed concern today over reports of the massacre and mutiliation of from 18 to 20 Roman Catholics by bands of Congolese troops and youths at Kongolo, in North Katanga.

Reports received by the U.N. said 20 European priests were killed. Vatican representatives said, however, 17 European priests and a lay brother were the victims.

Neither the United Nations nor the central Congolese government could confirm the report of an African seminarian who fled from Kongolo after the attack. But in passing the account on to Premier Cyrille Adoula the United Nations noted that the story was told under oath in the presence of the Roman Catholic bishop for Kivu Province.

The seminarian said the troops were inflamed against the Roman Catholic priests because they were "poisoning the minds" of young people in the area.

The priests—believed all Belgians—were lashed, the report said, and shot by the troops; their bodies mutilated by the youth groups; then thrown into a nearby river by young seminarians who had been arrested by the soldiers and forced to assist.

No nuns were attacked, according to the report.

The troops involved apparently were the same contingent that massacred 13 Italian U.N. airmen in Kindu last November. Normally based in Stanleyville, they were sent by leftist leader Antoine Gizenga to invade North Katanga, and since their rampage in Kindu have been cohsidered a disorderly, undisciplined band under no one's control.

Special Council Session Called Thursday Night

Mayor John J. Schwenk has called the Common Council to a special session in the Council Chambers Thursday, Jan. 18, at 7:30 p. m.

The purpose of the special meeting, Schwenk indicated, will be:

1.—To inform the Council of the financial and tax-billing problems created by its refusal to act on a 1962 budget during the month of January;

2.—To urge the Council to prepare to act on the passage of a 1962 budget at the next regular meeting February 6.

3.—To assist the Council in reaching such a decision by making available an explanation of his suggested revisions to the budget prepared by the former mayor.

Schwenk Is Not Debating On Jobs, Says He's Busy

Mayor John J. Schwenk in reply to charges issued Tuesday by Attorney William A. Kelly as county Democratic chairman today said he is more concerned with his job as mayor than involvement in political argument.

Kelly charged that the mayor has "indiscriminately fired" city employes and he hit at proposed legislation that would create the posts of executive assistant and stenographer in the mayor's office. He did not list any departmental changes made but some were reported by other sources today.

The Democratic chairman also proposed appointment of former Mayor Edwin F. Radel or F. William Sheehan, of the Veterans Administration, as urban renewal director.

Mayor Schwenk, in his reply, said: "The political campaign ended last November. My main concern now is to give the city a good administration and not engage in a series of charges and counter charges."

Kelly charged the mayor with acting illegally in his first 15 days in office in a move to create "an assistant mayor by dictatorial appointment." The mayor, he held, realizing a law violation was involved sought the change through legislation "to create this wholly unnecessary position." Obligations and responsibilities of the post, he claimed, are actually those of the mayor. He felt the council will not approve the change.

In addition, he charged, "in his frantic search for jobs for his political cronies, the mayor has indiscriminately fired a number of employes not because they were not doing a good job, but merely because they were Democrats." In some instances, he held, the changes were made "in callous disregard of their closeness to retirement age under the social security law."

In contrast, he claimed, former Mayor Radel, kept on a man for over a year to gain retirement benefits. He charged that in one case involving Mayor Schwenk the employe had only months to go.

City boards involved, he held, were not consulted, and he claims that Schwenk "has shown his contempt for the law

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—That great institution, the circus, in recent years has fallen upon hard times. Other forms of entertainment, including broadcasts, reached parts of the country that once depended upon an occasional visit of the traveling tent shows.

But now, in the measured opinion of Emmett Kelly, probably the nation's most famous clown, television is reviving interest in the big shows.

Kelly, whose "Weary Willie" character has delighted cotton candy-eating crowds for two generations, said that around 1950 he felt the circus had really "started to go." Crowds were no longer turning out, circuses were combining and sometimes not even leaving winter quarters.

"But now things seem to be picking up," he continued. "People seem to want to go to the circus again. And I think TV is completely responsible — particularly because the children are interested."

Kelly will be narrator Sunday night of a Project 20 documentary showing behind-the-scenes -circus life on NBC's "Show of the Week."

ABC will follow NBC's lead by running full length feature films regularly in prime time. Starting April 8, the network will put old movies with big star names in a two-hour spot on the Sunday evening schedule. There are reports that the plan will dislodge "Bus Stop" and "Adventures in Paradise," neither of which have been getting good audience ratings.

NBC's Saturday night movies—two hours of old films—have done fairly well, but their popularity seems to rise and fall with the quality of the movie and the size of the movie-star names involved.

ABC's decision to go ahead on Jan. 23 with the taped comedy special made by Ernie Kovacs shortly before his death could be a mistake in view of the tragic circumstances. It will be difficult for viewers to catch the spirit of his comedy. It may be a pretty morbid half hour.

Recommended tonight: Perry Como Show, NBC, 9-10 (EST)—Polly Bergen is guest star; Circle Theater, CBS, 10-11 — "Securities Are for Suckers," about stock forgeries.

Budget Hearing Falls Back to School Subsidy

HARRISBURG (AP)—The legislative budget hearing returned to the controversial public school subsidy today.

The Department of Public Instruction was called before the joint House and Senate Appropriations Committees to discuss the remainder of the $487.4 million spending for education in Gov. Lawrence's $1 billion general fund budget for 1962-63.

The department, which began its testimony Monday, yielded its place Tuesday to permit the committees to take up Lawrence's $41.1 million request for the state-aided universities.

It produced the first public airing of the proposed new aid program for Temple University, an airing that indicated the opposition to the program was overrated.

Heated Controversy Marks Penn. Hearing

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Pennsylvania Pharmacy Board will resume hearings Jan. 29 on the heated controversy over a license application from the Bazaar of Nations in Delaware County.

The board scheduled the new hearing Tuesday after a day-long session of testimony marked by fiery exchanges between two board members and a state senator acting as counsel for Bazaar of Nations.

The senator, Benjamin R. Donolow, D-Philadelphia, touched off the fireworks almost as soon as the hearing got underway, then threatened to call for a state police investigation of the board.

Atty. Gen. David Stahl apparently managed to smooth things over however, because by the afternoon session, Donolow withdrew his threat.

Group Concerned With Truck Ban On Rural Roads

Closing of many rural roads to trucks during the spring is an increasingly critical problem to thousands of farm families and should receive the attention of the current session of the New York State Legislature, according to a resolution unanimously adopted by the New York State Highway Users Conference.

Fred H. Sexauer of Auburn, chairman of the conference, in announcing the resolution today, said that the posting of roads is creating hardships both for those performing delivery services to the state's large agricultural population and for the farmers themselves. The Highway Users Conference resolution gives recognition to the growing problem of posted roads and calls for the amendment of certain sections of the vehicle and traffic law of the state. The amendment would provide that, upon application by any vehicle operator, permits may be issued to use such posted roads as is deemed necessary for the performance of essential local services.

Sexauer explained that each spring, state roads in many areas are "posted" so that vehicles over a certain weight are not allowed to use them for an unstated period of time. The major agricultural industry, dairy farming, has been particularly hard hit by these postings since it is essential to handle milk daily, and a growing number of dairymen are having their milk hauled by tank trucks directly from the farm to processing plants. Also, more farmers are taking their feed and grain supplies in bulk deliveries, he said.

The problem of posting, said the conference chairman, also affects a growing number of people moving to rural areas who use fuel oil for heating. The conference, composed of 17 statewide organizations, believes that some form of relief is needed to prevent these hardships from continuing, he concluded.

Special System

A special radio-telephone communications system is used on the New York State Thruway to control all State Police patrol cars, emergency service vehicles, maintenance and toll collection cars and administrative vehicles.

Moses Is Booed At Hearing for Mitchel Future

MITCHEL FIELD, N.Y. (AP)—Long Island State Parks Commissioner Robert Moses was ruled out of order Tuesday as he criticized the conduct of hearings to determine the future of abandoned Mitchel Air Force Base.

Boos and catcalls dotted his appearance before the Federal Aviation Agency panel in the first of two days of hearings. At issue is whether a portion of the 1,112-acre site should contain a 540-acre general airport.

Moses was gaveled down by hearing chairman Oscar Bakke as he said "there has been nothing remotely approaching a judicial attitude on the part of this agency..."

There followed a heated exchange in which Bakke said:

"I invite you to continue testimony directed constructively toward the issue before us at this proceedings, namely, the feeling of the community toward an airport at Mitchel Field."

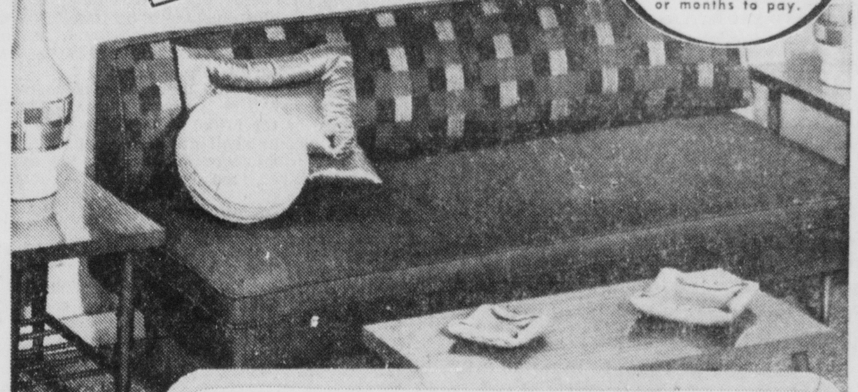

Moses countered that "in the course of 40 years in public work, I have never heard of an instance where a chairman refused to put something in the record."

About 67,000 disabled vehicles are furnished with emergency service along the New York State Thruway each year. The super-highway is patrolled night and day.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JANUARY 17, 1962

PRELUDE TO MASTERY

The history of the human race can be written in terms of man's efforts to control and rise above his environment. One might wish that man would get on with this task, and stop devoting so much energy to feuds and disputes and wars. All this energy would be more profitably used in the battle to master the natural world.

These thoughts come to mind as a result of the storms which have brought the cold wrath of the elements down upon an enormous expanse of the United States. Such manifestations of nature in a rough mood are a reminder that, though man is able to contend successfully with his environment, he is very far from controlling it.

Scientists dream of mastering the weather. Already they are able to see future weather with considerable accuracy. The U. S. weather satellites have given them a valuable new tool for prediction. There is talk among the experts, now, that in time mankind may be able to "play" the weather as he would some planet-sized organ.

Granted that uncertainty as to tomorrow's weather adds zest to life, this dream is a pleasant one. The January storms reaching from South to North and across a vast section of the Middle West caused much hardship and required an expenditure of energy—human energy, and the fuel energy of machines and heating units—that cannot be measured. It would be a wonderful thing were man able to moderate such storms.

The other advantages of weather control are obvious. Billions of dollars and untold human labor could be saved. But the chances that this will ever come about are slim as long as men devote so much of their time to fighting and preparations for more fighting. If only man could learn better control of himself, control of his environment would be well on the way from dream to reality.

HOW TYRANTS OPERATE

The late Henry L. Mencken, a good deal of a poseur as well as a writer who excelled in puncturing stuffed shirts, once made a remark which explains much of the Russian policy. He said, "The whole aim of practical politics is to keep the public alarmed, and hence clamorous to be led to safety."

The restrictions that communism imposes on its subjects would be intolerable, were they not represented as absolutely necessary in view of dangers from without. Any insistence on a higher standard of living can be put down if it is stated that, without sacrifices, an unrelenting enemy would enslave the Russian people. Hitler used the same technique; he justified his oppressions by proclaiming that Germany was in peril, and could be saved only if the people were willing to endure hardship.

Thus a tyrant appeals not only to the instinct of self-preservation, but to that of patriotism. In World War II, for example, Stalin recalled the achievements of Peter the Great, and of the Russian resistance to Napoleon.

All this leads to a general conclusion that help to place the Soviet Union in perspective. The important thing is not so much what Khrushchev says, as why he says it.

THE CHANCE IS REMOTE

Coming to wider attention is a relatively new school classroom device which is supposed to measure how well a student audience understands what the teacher is saying.

Under this "responder" system, each student can signal electronically his response to an instructor's questions and statements. The teacher can at a glance get an evaluation of the whole group's grasp of the material, and slow down if he seems to be moving too fast.

So far nobody has proposed installing such a system in the U. S. House and Senate to gauge how well our lawmakers may understand the bills they act upon.

If it comes to that, and we get honest electronic answers, the legislative mills may grind far more slowly in future than they do now.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THINGS DO HAPPEN!

The other night, I went to the Metropolitan Opera House to hear the Walkuere, which, if you do not know, Richard Wagner took out of the Volsungs and Niblungs and wrote a series of opera about. It takes enormous energy to sing any of the music in the Ring, first because Wagner had no mercy for singers, expecting them to blow themselves to bits and secondly because it is undoubtedly the most glorious music ever written if you can understand what it is all about.

Richard Wagner's concept of the opera was that it united all the arts into a single idea. However, the night I went, the star lost her voice and they substituted another, poor dear, who had not enough wind to carry Wagner across the mountain which he expects a soprano to do. Of course, Flagstad had no problems because nature built her that way and all went well until Walter Winchell called Flagstad a Nazi.

So the night I went to hear the Walkuere, they had a real German Wotan, with all the muscles and stomach that is required for such a character but a bug got him and his voice was not what it should have been — an accident that shows what can happen to an actor who plays a god. So they got another Wotan, gods being available in these days as in those and the curtain went up and everyone was happy.

Wotan was doing pretty well until he — the second one — lost his voice or forgot his part; I do not know what happened for I, not being a master of these things, listen only to the orchestra that carries into dreams.

When Wotan sang, in German, of course:

"Thy bed shall be lit by torches more brilliant
Than ever for bridal have burned!
Fiery gleams shall girdle the fell,
With terrible scorchings scaring the timid,
Who, cowed, may cross not Brunnhilda's couch
For one alone freeth the bride;
Or freer than I, the god!"

Down came the curtain. The god had lost his way. Nobody knew whether he was to get his money back or what, but on the whole it was a decent audience that took what came good-naturedly, figuring that these German gods were playful folk who got all mixed up with maids and beer and sometimes even with such a one as Hitler.

My eyes were cast on a bass fiddle player, a girl, who I was told was part of the augmented orchestra. I recalled what Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes said to Justice Brandeis when both were aged and walking to the Supreme Court to prove their eternal youth, "Oh! Would that I were eighty again."

The curtain rose again and the first Wotan courageously finished the show, for come what may, the show must go on and Wagner was justified when the original Wotan sang:

"He who my spear in spirit feareth,
Ne'er springs through their fiery bar!"

Brunnhilda lies though dead and Wotan disappears through the fire.

Slow curtain.

All the time I wondered when the big chandelier would fall from the ceiling and put an end to the whole business. Next time I shall take Bob Considine and Toots Shore or some other pundit to listen to Wagner's leitmotif. For them only the first row would do.

But this must be said: Erich Leinsdorf, the maestro who ran the whole show, leading the orchestra, bringing in the singers, directing what the stage hands should do about the curtain, was as cool as a captain on a sinking ship.

This Leinsdorf, at 25 or some such age, was Toscanini's assistant conductor which means that he was apprentice to the greatest baton that ever was whirled. I shall, God willing, be watching him for years to come at Tanglewood where he is to succeed the lovable Munch and the dramatic Koussevitzky.

Tanglewood, up in the Berkshires, is where music can be done at its best. There Munch introduced Berlioz to me in a richness I had never expected to experience and Leinsdorf will do something like that. For a man who could go through such a Wednesday at the Metropolitan can do anything. And these days at the Met it is standing room only.

Blood Pressure Readings: A Gauge to State of Health

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

In a previous column, I explained how blood pressure is recorded and the meaning of the figures you are given. In short, to take a simple example, if you are told your reading is 150 over 100, that means your systolic level (force of the heart pump) is 150 millimeters of mercury (written mm.Hg.) and that 100 mm.Hg. is your diastolic level (written 150/-100).

What do these figures mean in terms of health and disease?

Well, the diastolic level is the more important and the easier to define. It's easier to define because it is not subject to all sorts of variations. In other words, it's fixed, like the price of a postage stamp.

It's more important than the systolic level because it represents the resistance against which the cardiac pump must work. So there's general agreement that the normal range of the diastolic tension is between 60 and 90 mm.Hg.

The answer to "how high is up?" so far as the diastolic level is concerned is anything over 90 or, at most 100 mm.Hg. Indeed, an elevation over 100mm.Hg. is a matter of grave consequence.

When we come to systolic levels, which are emphasized most (often to the exclusion of the more important diastolic), we're going to have a difficult time defining the height of "up." The systolic pressure is subject to as many fluctuations as April weather.

Within the course of a few minutes it can vary as many as 50 mm.Hg. These variations can be caused by any number of factors most of which have nothing to do with the state of the heart or its blood vessels.

For examples, systolic levels are influenced by age (higher as we grow older), sex (higher in women), weight (higher in the obese), body build higher in Mr. Five-by-Five than in Mr. High Pockets), heredity (higher in certain families, consistently lower in others), the position of the subject during the test (higher when lying flat), the place of the test (higher in a doctor's office than at home), the identity of the observer (higher when taken by a doctor than when taken by a nurse or by the subject himself), the emotional state of the observer (higher if tense, irritable and excitable), the emotional state of the subject (very much higher if under strain), the purpose of the examination (very much higher if an insurance or induction physical than one done by own doctor for routine check-up) etc.

Now then, you ask "How high is up?" Well, like the old vaudevillan of whom the question was originally asked, I have to do a bit of head scratching. For, as you can see from the list of variables I just mentioned, even Univac might have a tough time coming up with an exact answer.

But, so as not to beg the question entirely, let's say that any systolic reading in excess of 200 mm.Hg. constitutes hypertension. And in the last of these columns, we'll go into the meaning of an elevated systolic tension.

"Know Where We Can Borrow a Pen To Sign This?"

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Comparison of President Kennedy's State of the Union message with the one he delivered a year ago, nine days after his inauguration, shows that he hasn't backed up an inch. The second message goes way beyond the first, enlarging earlier recommendations in number and size.

Speculation that the President would cut down his objectives and present only programs that were more likely to be approved by Congress turns out to be all wrong.

THE 1961 MESSAGE found the American economy in trouble from seven months of recession, three years of slack, seven years of diminished economic growth and nine years of falling farm income.

One year later the President finds the number of labor surplus areas reduced by 40 per cent, employment up a million, the work week lengthened, farm income up by a billion dollars.

Unemployment is still admittedly too high.

Corrective measures asked for by the President and enacted by Congress last year helped keep unemployment from going higher. But to make it go lower, additional measures are now asked for. They include manpower training, youth employment opportunities for new workers, permanent strengthening of the unemployment insurance system.

A YEAR AGO, the prospect of a government budget deficit of several billion dollars was unavoidable. Now the President promises a balanced budget for next year. It may not materialize, but it is within the realm of attainability if there is cooperation between Congress and the White House.

The balanced budget with increased government spending is possible, of course, only if there are increased tax payments on greater business and labor income in an expanding economy. But this is nothing to sit on contentedly.

So the President puts forward radical new tax programs intended to promote greater economic growth and, with new flexibility, to hold back future trends toward recession.

The President now reports inflation held to the lowest increase in the cost of living for any year since the end of World War II. But this is no cause for resting on the oars, either. The President therefore rows forward in the new message to urge again that business and labor keep price and wage increases in step with productivity increases, in the public interest.

LAST YEAR, THE CONGRESS DID NOT accept Kennedy's recommendations for a new farm program, federal aid to education, health insurance for the aged, tax reform, postal rate increases, health and welfare improvement. This has not deterred him in the least.

He is back this year urging passage of all his old programs and adding new ones.

Of the 30 major domestic programs recommended in the President's 1962 message, about 10 are brand new. Some of them may not seem so new, because they have been reported and discussed widely in recent weeks. But they will be new proposals before the Congress.

Among them are mass immunization of children against contagious diseases, a new public welfare program, a massive attack against adult illiteracy more aid to medical and other higher education, long range conservation and recreation programs, new starts on water, power and rural electrification, support for civil rights legislation already before the Congress even though these are not White House proposals, urban transportation and a new department of urban affairs and housing.

PERHAPS THE MOST SWEEPING proposal is for a wholly new approach, a bold new instrument of American policy embodied in a new five-year trade expansion act. One goal is "to enlarge the prosperity of free men everywhere."

If there is one key phrase in the whole new message that sums it up, it is, "but we have just begun."

Drive on Clubs in Capital Called New Demagoguery

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Lots of things are "new" under the Kennedy administration besides the "new frontier," and one of them is the new demagoguery.

Webster's New World Dictionary defines a demagogue as "a person who tries to stir up the people by appeals to emotion, prejudice, etc., in order to become a leader and achieve selfish ends."

Officials of the Kennedy administration from the President down as well as some members of Congress, have launched a crusade to cause social clubs in Washington to admit Negroes as members. Although these clubs are private institutions—like a private home—high officials of the Kennedy administration have used their power of publicity to denounce those clubs which for years have selected their members without regard to outside pressures. The purpose, of course, is to win votes not only in this area but in all the Northern states of the Union.

President Kennedy told his press conference that his application for membership to a local club, which had been recently withdrawn, would not be resubmitted. It had been sponsored by Professor Galbraith, U. S. Ambassador to India, who resigned from the club when it turned down the application of a Negro for membership. No information has been made available as to whether the club did or did not reject the application on racial grounds or whether it was done because of some failure of the applicant to meet all requirements for membership. Various white applicants also have not been admitted.

More Drastic Step

A more drastic step has been taken by Rep. Herbert Zelenko, Democrat of New York, who has just introduced in Congress a bill that would prohibit the District of Columbia from issuing food and beverage licenses or occupancy permits to any club that practices racial or religious discrimination in admission of members. Who is to find out why an admissions committee declines to elect an applicant?

What of the clubs in other cities? This is supposed to be a state and municipal matter, but the Federal government these days is not dismayed by such barriers. Mr. Kennedy in his State-of-the-Union Message boasted that his Administration "has shown as never before how much could be done through the full use of executive powers."

Thus, any business which wants to retain or get a contract with the government can be threatened with withdrawal or denial of such contract unless its employment policies and purchasing practices conform to the interpretation of "civil rights" laid down by the executive branch of the government.

Full Use of Powers

This very procedure not only is being used with government contractors, but reaches down into subcontracts. Business is not alloted to subcontractors unless they too, will agree to conform to the obligations of the contractor in his relations with the Federal government on matters of discrimination in employment. Congress has never written a law covering these matters, and it's all being done by what the President calls "full use of executive powers."

Likewise, tax exemptions granted to non-profit organizations can presumably be withdrawn at will by the Administration if they do not toe the mark—though a few "freedom rides" may be required to force action in this field.

The plight of government officials themselves, incidentally, now is an unhappy one. The President said in a statement to his press conference this week about the episode in which a Negro official of the State Department was denied membership in a local club:

"I have said from the beginning that I thought this was a personal matter which involved not only the members of this government, but involves everyone in the city and everyone in the country, and every individual must make his judgment in the way that he believes to be right and I have stated that my application for the Cosmos Club was not being renewed."

Is It a Hint?

Is this a hint that all government officials should follow the lead of the President? His brother, the Attorney General, resigned from a club here that declines to admit Negroes. How long can other officials withstand the pressure being exerted? Many of the clubs here have members employed by the government or members who do business with the government.

To the new demagoguery, however, there may have to be added added the "new hypocrisy." For there are lots of officials in the Kennedy administration—including President Kennedy and Vice President Johnson—who belong to clubs here and in New York and other parts of the country which practice various forms of racial and religious discrimination. Will some Administration official soon go to the annual meetings of such clubs and demand the passage of resolutions condemning what their admissions committees do when they bar certain applicants? It is just as logical, and it all comes under the head of the new coercion and the new demand for conformity.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Mark Twain wrote in 1907, "The political and commercial morals of the United States are not merely food for laughter; they are an entire banquet. Our standards were fairly high a generation ago. They had been brought to that grade by some generations of wholesome labor on the part of the nation's multitudinous teachers. But Jay Gould, all by himself, was able to undermine the structures in half a dozen years. Before Jay Gould's time, there was a quite elegant phrase that was on everybody's lips and everybody enjoyed the thrill of it: 'The press is the palladium of our liberties.' It was a serious saying and true but it is long ago dead and safely tucked away in the limbo of oblivion. No one would venture it now, except in sarcasm. Mr. Guggenheim has lately been chosen United States Senator from Colorado, reputedly by a bought Legislature—which is almost the customary way. In many instances, the palladium of our liberties has nothing but compliments for him and justification."

The Denver Post said that even though Guggenheim spent a large sum of money, he only followed the precedents of other states. There was nothing "essentially wrong" and Guggenheim would "make the best Senator Colorado has ever had."

"He is just the man for the place," the Post continued. "There is no use trying to reform the world. The Denver Post bows to the will of the people."

Mark Twain was competitive and controversial in those days, for he was a contemporary of colleagues in the palladium who were henchmen and, some of them, subsidized, covert press agents of the likes of Gould and Guggenheim. I have seen similarities in the change which has taken place in the political morals of the United States in the years since Roosevelt's first Inauguration in March, 1933. I have seen the rise of a corps of tedious, always predictable defenders of enormities by members of one royal family in the White House. I have observed the glorification of synthetic honors called "awards" which invariably fall to politico-social agents of the cult of corruption.

The odious, impalpable vapors offend the numb sensibilities of Americans who now are damned from the White House as extremists of the right. The "extreme left" is the right-border of Communism and treason. The same tight roster of eligibles, especially among famous or notorious women, revolves from year to year. The considerations by which they are adjudged to be great women are never set forth in a way to permit arguments. Like the undefined epithet, "McCarthyism," their virtues are suggested, not specified. The palladium that Mark Twain mentioned in contempt precludes definition.

In my time in journalism on the national field, I have seen the rise of uncompromising contempt for the defenders of the standards which Mark Twain had viewed with longing retrospect in 1907. True, he detested the Republicans then and believed the Democrats were pure by comparison. But he was near the end of his life and unable to observe the subtle defilement of the Democratic Party.

It is inexact to say that William Buckley and his National Review are the only successors of Swift, Dickens, Mark Twain and Henry Mencken. But dissent is not encouraged and mostly is forbidden while assent grows more impudent. There is not one writer in such general practice in the daily press today whose literary expression excels in art or honor the Democratic Platform of 1960.

The dejection of the Denver Post so long ago has taken possession of us.

The palladium does "bow to the will of the people" and again, "there is no use trying to reform the world."

Historian's Report Includes Paltz, Shawangunk, Gardiner

The annual report of Kenneth E. Hasbrouck, historian for the Town and Village of New Paltz, and the Towns of Shawangunk and Gardiner was released for publication this week as follows:

The year of 1961 went by all too quickly and like many other people, the historian must admit that a number of items that should have been accomplished, just did not make the schedule. Perhaps one can find some consolation in the fact that new tasks presented themselves and time had to be borrowed to care for that proverbial "stitch in time."

On December 31, 1960 at midnight, The Hugenot National Bank, which was founded and organized as the Huguenot Bank in 1853, merged with the State of New York National Bank of Kingston. It is of interest to note that the Huguenot Bank became the Huguenot National Bank on April 10, 1865.

Sees Eventful Year

1961 seems to be an eventful one for the banks in New Paltz. In March New Paltz Savings Bank celebrated its 90th year in business. A collection of old pictures of early New Paltz made an excellent display for the anniversary. The need for such pictures resulted in having the old glass slides preserved in the vault of the Memorial House reproduced.

The slides, taken by William Shults between 1880 and 1915, had to be handled very carefully. They have now been reproduced as regular negatives and a collection of photographs, size 8 by 10 inches is available for display purposes. Others were given by Mrs. Virgil B. DeWitt.

During the past autumn a collection of aerial views of New Paltz was purchased by the historian for the historical collection. The area is growing so rapidly that we must keep some pictorial record for the future.

The State University College at New Paltz completed its celebration of the 75th Anniversary of teacher education. Considering that the total college enrollment in September 1961 was 3,000, it is difficult to imagine what changes will take place within another 75 years.

History of College

A history of the College, "In A Valley Fair," by Elizabeth and Robert Lang, 1960 made its appearance during the past summer. It was a very worthy project, which should have been done before. It is evident that the Langs had to do a great deal of diligent work to produce a history when the sources of information were so widely scattered. Perhaps we can hope that a Volume II will be forthcoming in the not too distant future.

A new Town Hall was built during the past year which forms an addition to the Municipal Building, erected in 1950. New Paltz can be proud of this achievement.

New Paltz School District once again defeated a proposal presented by the School Board for additional school buildings. The proposal was to build a new elementary school in New Paltz. There was a separate proposal which would permit the School Board to purchase land in the Town of Gardiner for a second elementary school in the future. The voters defeated both items by a fairly large majority. It has become increasingly apparent that the taxpayers in New Paltz as well as other neighboring districts are becoming rather difficult to convince that additional funds for education are needed.

Sees Dilemma

It is definite that we find our good citizens in the midst of a dilemma. On the one hand, if they wish to give their children a good education, they must tax themselves for that purpose beyond what they feel they can afford; on the other hand if they continue to procrastinate and proper facilities to educate our young people are delayed, the problem is often duplicated. We generally find ourselves outdated before a solution to a given need is arrived at satisfactorily.

The present generation is surrounded by taxes and is confused in its appraisal of value received and the price of progress. The school is one place in which the local taxpayer can still have a voice. Perhaps a thorough examination of other taxes would cause more agitation than evidenced at a school meeting.

Perhaps part of the problem is in the fact that the public has not been educated to the needs of education and that our system of taxation has become antiquated. Most assuredly there must be another form of tax other than property tax to meet the bill for school requirements and more aid must come from the state.

The day has passed when we can consider property to be a true evaluation of wealth.

Library Gets Addition

The year of 1961 saw the new addition to the Elting Memorial Library underway. The project is to cost approximately $25,000 and the funds are being raised by means of a drive which has been most successful under the leadership of the President William Heidgerd. The new addition has been needed for a long time and with the facilities it will provide, should prove to be of great value to our fast-growing community.

During the past year the parish of St. Joseph's at New Paltz and St. Charles' Roman Catholic Church at Gardiner have the honor of being given a Monsignor. Father Edward P. Monckton is the first Monsignor designated here since the founding of a parish in the 1860's.

During June, the members of Huguenot Historical Society and The Descendants of the New Paltz Patentees met on Huguenot Street for their annual luncheon and meeting. The affair was highlighted by an excellent talk given by Mrs. John Lee Frisbee (Lucy P. Frisbee), well-known feature writer, who spoke on the importance of preserving the old houses on "the street," which is becoming nationally famous.

Thousands come to New Paltz to visit the old houses that retain their original architectural simplicity.

Stone House Day Held

Stone House Day was most successful on August 5. Eleven houses were open to the public and the affair was considered by all who attended as a perfect way to spend a day.

Many guests remained to spend the weekend in New Paltz and promised to return with friends. Sponsored by the members of the Reformed Church and aided by the members of the Huguenot Historical Society, the event which is always held on the first Saturday of August will quite likely continue for many years. Stone House Day will be held for its 12th year on August 4, 1962.

The historian continues a policy of good publicity which includes filing records and reports, sending material to travel agencies, bus companies, and to any and all sources that will place New Paltz and this area before the public.

Another house has been added to the group owned by the Historical Society. In August of 1961, the members of the Hasbrouck Family Association purchased the Abraham Hasbrouck House on Huguenot Street. The Family Association will finance and sponsor the house under the ownership of the Historical Society. The society now has four houses: Memorial House, Freer House, Col. Josiah Hasbrouck House and the Abraham Hasbrouck House. The last named will become a museum after it has been put in condition in the spring.

In August, The Hasbrouck Family in America With European Background was completed. The two volumes cover the descendants of the family throughout the United States (1672-1961).

When a family is traced over a period of at least 10 generations and over 14,600 descendants have been recorded with many references to individuals, it becomes a social history as well as a genealogy. Copies of the genealogy have gone to France, Saudi Arabia, Germany, Puerto Rico, Canada and England as well as to individuals and libraries in most of the states of our country.

Brochures Requested

During the past year brochures from our towns have been requested by libraries in foreign countries. It is amazing the number of people we have from other nations that visit our area.

Due to the fact that 1961 was the beginning of the 100th anniversary of the Civil War, efforts have been made to organize the papers and miscellaneuos materials in the museum. It is hoped that people who have Civil War items in their possession will give them to the Historical Society.

During the past year Dr. Virgil B. DeWitt and Mrs. Abel Quick gave the historian some very interesting letters written by soldiers and sailors who served from this area.

Town of Shawangunk

In Septemer, the Town of Shawangunk was very well represented in the 100th Anniversary, commerorating the Civil War. The exhibit of Civil War items, whicl have been collected by Addison and James Crowell of Wallkill, were of great interest to the members of the Ulster County Historical Society when they made a field trip to Southern Ulster.

The fine museum of Will Plank at Marlboro was also visited. The members enjoyed visiting the old New Hurley Church and having an excellent luncheon prepared by the ladies of the congregation. Such trips make us aware of the interesting places and collections we have in our own county.

In connection with the Town of Shawangunk, 1961 should note the very fine old house, known in recent decades as the Phinney House, located in the Village of Wallkill, Ulster County. It is for sale and in danger of being destroyed.

The house was built by Severyn or Cornelius Bruyn in 1766. At that time, Wallkill was not in existence and the Bruyn House and a mill were the only evidences of civilization in the "Basin."

Of course Benjamin Hasbrouck lived on a stone house up on the hill where the Borden's later resided and about a mile north DuBois and Ostrander families had settled. The Scotch-Irish Grahams, Kanes and Banks lived across the Wallkill River.

Fireback Dates House

To return to the Bruyn house, one finds that an iron fireback in the fireplace marked: S. B. 1766 which is supposed to record the name of the builder and the date the house was erected.

In 1929 the house was pictured and described in Dutch Houses of the Hudson River Valley by Helen Wilkenson Reynolds as "an interesting exception to the architectural rule in Ulster County."

The house is built on two levels. On the lower level is an old stone basement, above which conceivably a stone house could once have risen. The front and rear verandas are approximately 1800 in design and so also is the carved fan-light over the front door. These details suggest that the house belongs in the period 1790-1800. The gambrel roof is very unique.

Actually the date of construction of the building is of little importance in relation to the fact that the structure should be preserved. The house would make an excellent museum or colonial restaurant. There are some very fine things that could be done for communities if we only had money. Perhaps the main thing we need for such a project is hard work and a spirit of preservation.

Mansion In Good Hands

It is interesting to note that the mansion built by Marion Borden on the hill to the east of Wallkill in 1906, seems to have finally come into the hands of those who will use it for a good cause. After years of standing empty, the great house will become a private school.

The event of John G. Borden coming to Wallkill, (or as it was known in those days, Shawangunk Post Office), had a lasting effect upon the community, especially in relation to parcels of land. Actually it is difficult to find an area in and around the village that was not at one time owned by the Borden family.

Fortunately most of these land purchases of John G. Borden and their subsequent resale following his death in 1891 and continuing through until the death of his daughter, Marion in 1930, are available locally.

Of course it is possible to find all the legal transactions in the County Clerk's Office or the Surrogate's Office at Kingston, but in Wallkill one can find a much more interesting story of the land, its people and their daily lives.

Documents Preserved

Deeds, wills, mortgages, letters, leases and many interesting notes on the properties were preserved in the Borden safe. This large collection was given to the Town Historian in 1953. The collection will soon be catalogued and placed in the vault of the Town Building.

These papers trace the lands at and in the vicinity back to the 18th Century. They will be available to the public. The records give quite a complete record of the people who lived in the area between 1750 through 1925. This collection will augment the town records.

During 1962 the historian would be very pleased to see some of the following projects undertaken:

A group of articles dealing with "Fact and Fiction."

A catalougue of historical material relating to the Civil War.

Listing of our old houses, 19th Century.

A record of industry.

A new history of Ulster County.

Handicrafts which were a part of our culture.

A catalogue of paintings (primitive and others) owned by museums and private owners in this area.

A catalogue of town records (Gardiner and Shawangunk).

Naturally any person who is willing to undertake one of the projects would be gratefully received and helped.

Pupils Show Interest

It is pleasing to note the interest of a number of our school children in the history of their community. A very fine piece of work was accomplished in New Paltz Central School in the form of a manuscript done by the children of the Seventh Grade. Such projects should be made available for the educational benefit of others.

A Junior Historical group has been formed, sponsored by Mrs. William Heidgerd and Mrs. Raymond Otis.

During the past year some very fine collections of old papers, documents and records have been turned over to the historian. It is hoped that the practice will continue. Our historical library is growing, but in many cases it is an expensive process as some of the books dealing with our area and families are out of print and must be obtained at the price set by book dealers.

Occasionally a generous person gives a book which is greatly needed. Due to the cost of such books it is impossible to loan them out, but information is always available from the historian. During the summer, the library of the museum on the Modena Road in the Town of Gardiner is available to all who wish to make use of it.

Record Is Kept

An indexed record of events is being kept up to date and the policies in relation to preservation as reported in previous Reports from the Historian are being continued.

Mr. and Mrs. Foster Traver and Mr. and Mrs Cleveland Nohearn are doing a very fine job of greeting our visitors at the Memorial House and the Locust Lawn. Both museums report a larger number of visitors during 1961 than we had in 1960. The Historical Society is most fortunate in having such dedicated people.

The historian is grateful to the three supervisors and mayor for their continued support. The Town Boards and Village Board permit the use of "freedom of choice" in matters pertaining to historical matters, which is greatly appreciated. We are moving ahead slowly, but in time when clerical help is financially possible, the matter of increased publicity should be explored to the fullest. The historian would like to see this area triple its amount of good publicity that will inform the public of the outstanding features of Ulster County.

Respectfully submitted,
KENNETH E. HASBROUCK

Stiffens Resistance

GENEVA (AP) — Pro-Western Prince Boun Oum stiffened his resistance to an agreement with Laos' other two political princes Tuesday night, and it appeared a Geneva conference of the princes would not even meet unless the United States could pressure Boun Oum to the table.

Boun Oum, premier of the conservative royal government in Vientiane, (1) refused to address the 14-nation Geneva conference on Laos because it had also asked pro-Communist Prince Souphanouvong to speak; (2) repeated that he would not agree to giving the defense and interior ministries in a coalition government to neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma's faction, (3) said again he would not hold formal negotiations here with the other two princes on formation of a coalition government.

It costs about $10,600 a mile each year to maintain the 559-mile New York State Thruway.

Refresher Class For Area Pilots To Start Feb. 1

Certified pilots in the Poughkeepsie area will have an opportunity to attend a 12-week Pilot Safety Refresher Ground School in Poughkeepsie High School beginning Thursday, Feb. 1, the State Commerce Department announced today.

Part of a Statewide aviation safety education program initiated by Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller, the Ground School offers pilots 36 hours of comprehensive instruction in civil air regulations, navigation, radio, meteorology, aircraft operation and instruments. Sessions will be held from 7 to 10 p. m. each Thursday through April 19.

The course is co-sponsored by the State Commerce Department's Bureau of Aviation and the Poughkeepsie Adult Education Department. It is open to all area certified pilots. Student pilots may enroll if they have written permission of their flight instructor or flying school operator.

Information on registration can be obtained from Rudolph Albanese, coordinator of Adult Education, Poughkeepsie. There will be a registration fee, payable to the Poughkeepsie City School District.

Objective of the State's air safety education program is to give certified pilots an opportunity to familiarize themselves with new technical and safety advances in aviation as well as to improve their general aviation knowledge.

Ground instructor for the course will be Raymond Lucey, a commercial pilot, flight instructor and ground instructor for Poughkeepsie Aviation Services. Assisting him will be Roland K. Alexander, air safety consultant of the State Commercial Department.

Lucey is a pilot with several thousand hours flying time. Alexander is a licensed pilot with more than 7,000 hours logged to his credit. Previous to joining the State's Aviation Bureau, he was employed for 17 years as flight operations inspector with the Federal Aviation Agency.

Pilots who successfully complete the course will receive certificates from the State Commerce Department. To date, approximately 550 certificates have been awarded throughout the State.

Favors Present Milk Controls

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dairy industry advisers have given Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman ammunition for ditching the present federal dairy support program in favor of rigid controls on milk production.

A National Dairy Advisory Committee urged that the present program be continued.

Under it, dairymen produce as much as they like, and the government must buy the surplus in the form of butter, dry milk and cheese.

Freeman has said the government cannot continue costly farm programs. He has predicted the cost of dairy supports may run to $600 million during the marketing year beginning April 1, more than double the current year.

The committee also set up guidelines for a possible production controls and asked that before any cuts are made in the support rate, dairy farmers be given a chance to vote on a production-control program.

Freeman is expected to press Congress for authority to impose dairy controls.

Some Up, Some Down

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) — Lt. Col. L. F. Kengle Jr., of the U.S. Lakes Survey, predicts lakes Superior, Huron and Michigan will be higher this year than last but lakes Erie and Ontario lower.

Great Lakes shipping companies measure inches in millions of dollars over the shipping season. Although assured of only 27-foot channels, every inch above this low-water mark permits the loading of additional tons.

Kengle estimated that Lake Erie would average 2.1 feet above the low-water mark during June while Lake Ontario would be 2.5 feet above. Last June, Erie was 2.9 above and Ontario 2.8.

Kengle made his estimates at the 24th annual joint conference of the Great Lakes Carriers' Association and the Dominion Marine Association.

Why We Say--

LAST DAY: The last day before the beginning of Lent (in the Christian churches) is known in Paris and New Orleans as Mardi Gras Day — It literally means "meat-eating Tuesday" because it is the last day before the traditional meatless Lenten season.

Astronaut Glenn Must Wait Until Valve Is Fixed

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The attempt to launch astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. into round-the-world orbit has been postponed one day, until Jan. 24, because of a faulty valve in a unit designed to cool Glenn's space suit.

Reliable sources reported the delay. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration has not announced a specific date for the launching and had no comment on the report.

Two previous launching dates, Dec. 20 and Jan. 16, slipped by because of other problems. Glenn is scheduled to orbit three times around the earth in 4½ hours.

FOOD FOR AMERICANS Stuffed Eggplant Is Delicious Fare

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Looking for a main dish with nutrition, flavor and economy? Then try this lamb-stuffed eggplant.

Select an eggplant that is firm, free from blemishes and of a uniform dark color. It can be baked in the skin, boiled in water, stewed in oil or stock, or sliced and fried in butter. Notice to weight watchers: One pound eggplant carries only 111 calories.

CURRIED STUFFED EGGPLANT
(Yield: 4 servings)

- 1 cup chopped onion
- 1 cup chopped fresh mushrooms
- 1¼ teaspoons curry powder
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 cup ground cooked lamb
- ½ cup fine dry bread crumbs
- ¼ teaspoon ground black pepper
- 1 teaspoon salt
- Toasted sesame seed for garnish
- Fresh parsley for garnish

Wash eggplant. Wrap in foil and bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 50 minutes or until partially done. Cut in half and remove pulp to within ½-inch of the skin, being careful not to cut skin. Chop pulp and place in a mixing bowl. Saute onions, mushrooms and curry powder 2 to 3 minutes in butter or margarine. Add to eggplant pulp. Add lamb, bread crumbs and seasonings. Mix well. Spoon mixture into eggplant shells. Place halves in a close-fitting baking dish close together so they hold their shape. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 35 minutes or until browned. Garnish with toasted sesame seed and fresh parsley.

NOTE: To toast sesame seed: Place sesame seeds in a shallow pan and put into a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 20 to 22 minutes, stirring once or twice to toast uniformly.

CURRIED stuffed eggplant provides enough good eating to be the main dish. Toasted sesame seeds are the garnish.

Bill Would Curb Some Bill Collectors

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A Republican state senator proposes to curb what he terms the sharp practices and harassing methods of "abusive and over-diligent" bill-collectors, including their use of profanity in pressing claims against debtors.

A bill introduced in the Legislature Tuesday by Sen. Walter Van Wiggeren of Herkimer would bar agents of bill-collecting companies from:

Publishing the names of debtors, using badges or uniforms, sending demands for payment on forms that resembled government documents, and, in addition to profanity, using obscenity or vulgarity.

Under his bill, the State Department would license collection agencies, which would be required to post a $10,000 bond to be forfeited if they broke any of the rules.

Bing Counts on Win

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—A wan but jolly Bing Crosby left St. John's Hospital Tuesday after a 16-day stay following a kidney operation.

He joked with newsmen and waved to fans as he came down the stairs. A newsman asked: "Are you going to the Pebble Beach golf tournament?"

"Going?" said Bing with mock disbelief, "I'm going to win it."

More Pox Cases

LONDON (AP)—The search for smallpox victims in Britain widened today as new suspected cases of the disease cropped up in three more industrial centers.

After being confined mostly to areas around Bradford, in Yorkshire, four new suspect cases appeared in Manchester, Birmingham and Cardiff, in Wales.

Already five deaths—and possibly a sixth—have been attributed to smallpox since immigrants from Pakistan brought it to Britain just after Christmas. An undisclosed number of suspected cases are being held in isolation hospitals.

Milking for Science

BRISTOL, England (AP)—Stan Evans said modestly today that as far as he knows he is the first person ever to milk one of the world's shortest-tempered beasts—a rhinoceros.

Evans, 30, a keeper at the city zoo, is milking two-ton Stephanie, a recent mother, in the interests of science.

The milk is being analyzed with a view to concocting a substitute food for baby rhinos whose mothers are killed by poachers in Africa. If the experiment succeeds, it may save the increasingly rare black rhino from extinction.

Protest Color Bars

ERLANGEN, Germany (AP)—Students from African and Asian countries have protested against color bars they say have been raised by restaurant owners in this little Bavarian university town.

The foreign students office of Erlangen University said the protest was lodged after a number of African and Asian students had been thrown out of inns or were refused service.

Pair to Face Jury On Theft Charge

Two area young men are being held for Grand Jury action today as the aftermath of a burglary at a Woodstock home Monday night.

According to state police of the Lake Katrine station, Robert J. Fenton Jr., 17, of Route 28A, West Hurley and John W. Eckert, 22, of 101 Main Street, Rosendale, were arrested Tuesday night, following a break at the Bruce Woodin home in Woodstock when $2 in cash, two packs of cigarettes and five figurines, whose value was not immediately ascertained, were stolen.

The two were charged with burglary, first degree.

Fenton and Eckert waived examination before Justice of Peace Arthur A. Reilly of the Town of Ulster and were held for Grand Jury action. They were committed to Ulster County Jail.

2 Motions Denied In Gambling Case At Poughkeepsie

Motions on behalf of an accused Beacon gambler, seeking permission to inspect the grand jury minutes and a list of witnesses who testified during a recent investigation, were denied Tuesday by Dutchess County Judge John R. Schwartz.

The motions were made by counsel for John Nuccitelli, 47, of 478 South Avenue, Beacon, named defendant in three indictments charging four felony counts of operating a policy business in Beacon between Jan. 1 and July 13, 1961, and misdemeanor charges of conspiracy, keeping a place for policy, being a common gambler and possession of policy slips.

Judge Schwartz granted the defendant's counsel a third motion seeking a bill of particulars setting forth specifically the street and number of the premises, buildings, rooms and establishments claimed by authorities to have been operated by Nuccitelli in the operation of the alleged policy business.

The motions were made by Henry Hirschberg, of Newburgh, counsel for the defendant.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — Economic news was bright but the stock market put on a dull performance, displaying a mixed pattern in quiet trading early this afternoon.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .10 at 256.10 with industrials down .10, rails off .30 and utilities up .20.

Gains and losses of most key stocks were fractional, some moving a point or so. A few specially-situated issues made wider gains.

Steels and motors recovered as the session wore on but rails eased for a change. Tobaccos and rubbers were mostly lower. Airlines, chemicals, aircrafts and nonferrous metals were mixed.

Market technicians looked for a test of support levels around 700 in the Dow Jones industrial average.

A 1-point drop by American Motors, which touched a new low, was accompanied by fractional gains among the Big Three motors.

American Telephone also sank about a point.

South Puerto Rico Sugar fell about 4. International Business Machines fell more than 3 and Lorillard more than a point.

Amerada picked up more than a point of recent losses. Boeing added about a point.

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — A Roman Catholic priest collected 16 extr tickets Tuesday night while sponsoring a charity Golden Gloves boxing show at Buffalo's Memorial Auditorium.

The Very Rev. Msgr. Franklin M. Kelliher, director of the Working Boys Home, a Catholic Charities agency, reimbursed 16 automobile owners $5 each after their cars were ticketed for illegal parking near the auditorium.

Denies Club Has Racial Policy; JFK Is Member

WASHINGTON (AP) — The president of an exclusive club in which President Kennedy holds honorary membership denies that the organization has any policy barring Negroes and Jews from membership.

Randall H. Hagner, prominent builder and president of the Chevy Chase Club in Maryland, was asked about the matter after it had been brought up in a column by Arthur Krock in Tuesday's New York Times.

The article, discussing the controversy over exclusion of Negroes in which several high administration officials have resigned from the socially eminent Metropolitan and Cosmos clubs, reported Kennedy's honorary affiliation with the comparably rated country club.

Chevy Chase, Krock wrote, has maintained "a more rigid discrimination than either of the others, and broader in that it also excludes from membership all Caucasians it assigns to one ethnic group."

"The Chevy Chase Club has no such policy," Hagner said. "Each candidate for membership is considered as an individual."

Asked about the composition of the club membership, Hagner said there are no Negroes on the roster but there are "several Jewish members."

Wants Job for Radel

Schwenk, he charged, has "suddenly abondoned his campaign position against federally financed urban renewal," and "has just completely endorsed the Radel urban renewal program."

If the mayor is sincere in his announcement that he wants the best men in city positions, he said, "he should at once offer the position of urban renewal director to the one person responsible, more than any other, for bringing about the plan for urban renewal, and who has more knowledge about it than any other person in our city, namely Edwin F. Radel." Then he added that he might also consider Sheehan, "who for 19 years has been one of the most competent public officials who ever held office in the VA."

Changes Noted

Noted today were these changes in city jobs: Appointment of Albert Appa, of Third Avenue, to succeed Thomas Coughlin, former Seventh Ward alderman and supervisor as custodian of the Municipal Auditorium, the naming of Roland Lamoreaux, of 86 Spring Street to replace Thomas Donahue, of 50 Ravine Street, as steam boiler fireman, city heating plant, and appointment of James Locke, of Delta Place, to replace Harry Howard as stock clerk of the public works department. Howard is now a sewage displosal plant trainee.

Local Law No. 1 of 1962 has had its first reading in the Common Council. Kelly's statement indicates that it is unlikely to be adopted because the Democrats have an 8-5 advantage in the council. Eye Tax Dodges

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tax collectors are keeping their eyes on donations of art and the like.

Bona fide gifts to museums and schools and other charitable institutions are fine, said Internal Revenue Commissioner Mortimer M. Caplin. Such donations have contributed to the nation's cultural resources.

But he said Tuesday there have been a significant number of cases where the donations have been used as a tax dodge—contributing mainly to the giver's pocketbook.

Military Coup

ment spokesman described the situation in the Dominican Republic as fluid and withheld immediate comment. The United States resumed diplomatic ties with the Dominican government after the installation of the State Council.)

The junta, to rule without a presiding officer, retained two members of the deposed council—Antonio Imbert and Luis Amiamatio, prominent businessmen and the only survivors of the band of 12 that plotted Trujillo's assassination last May.

Other Members

The other members are Maj. Wilfredo Medina Natal, Lt. Col. Neil Rafael Seija and Rea. Adm. Enrique Valdez Vidaurre, and two government officials during the Trujillo era, Armando Oscar Pacheco and Huberto Bogaert.

Unconfirmed reports said three members of the old State Council were placed under arrest. They are Rafael Bonnelly, lawyer-teacher who had been scheduled to replace Balaguer as head of government; Dr. Nicolas Pichardo, president of the University Professors' Association and a Civic Union member; and Eduardo R. Barreras, second vice president of the council and former president of the Supreme Court.

The seventh council member, Msgr. Eliseo Perez Sanchez, Roman Catholic vicar general of the nation and a long-time opponent of the Trujillo regime, was reported to have asked to be taken prisoner also but was sent home. This report could not be verified.

500 Mass in Park

The shooting broke out after a crowd of about 500 massed in Independence Park across from Civic Union headquarters as Civic Union loudspeakers blared anti-government broadcasts.

Targets of the demonstration appeared to be Balaguer, a holdover from the Trujillo era who had been dragging his feet on his promise to resign, and Gen. Rodriguez Echavarria.

Police were unable to cope with the demonstrators. Troops and six tanks of the air force—strongest of the Dominican armed forces—moved into the square. Troops on one of the tanks opened fire and the crowd dived for cover.

Official estimates put the toll at four dead and 19 injured. The Civic Union said at least eight persons were killed and many injured.

A government spokesman blamed Communist agitators for the violence. The commander of the tank unit said his troops were forced to open fire in self-defense.

The shooting brought thousands storming into the streets. They overturned trash cans, hurled stones and set fire to a theater. Navy and army troops armed with automatic rifles moved in to reinforce police and cleared the streets in two hours. A dusk-to-dawn curfew was enforced.

Dutchess Father

on her way to classes at Arlington Junior High school.

Police said the girl was in a car with Pilch when the vehicle was stopped by State Police on Route 17 near Deposit, Broome County, Saturday night. Pilch returned to Dutchess county in custody. The girl was taken home by relatives.

Poughkeepsie Police Chief John L. Martin said city police have a warrant charging Pilch with first degree grand larceny, accused of the theft of a rented car.

Warrant Waiting

The Dutchess county sheriff's office reports a warrant is there charging Pilch with abandoning two sons.

Pilch told authorities he formerly resided at Rhinebeck and Staatsburg and prior to moving to Pleasant Valley he resided at 820 Main Street, Arlington.

Authorities said Pilch was divorced from his first wife in 1957. He remarried December, 1960, and later was separated from his second wife.

Over 100 Appear At 1-Day Session In VA Office Here

It was a busy time Tuesday at the one-day session here for a representative of the Veterans Administration who sat at the central post office for interviews.

F. William Sheehan who was in Room 213 interviewed more than 100 ex-servicemen or their widows, some of whom had to wait for over two hours for their turns.

Sheehan who will be at the post office every Tuesday for consultations formerly had a permanent office until the VA closed 191 stations the last of December.

Today he is in Poughkeepsie at the post office there, Room 200; and will be on Wednesdays from now on.

There are no permanent stations now between New York City and the Canadian border except in Albany.

It was the decision of the VA in Washington that the need for district offices had diminished because most of the GI benefit programs and housing matters have been taken care of, it was announced.

The Kingston office covered five counties.

Those who visited the one-day office yesterday from 8:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. expressed unhappiness over closing of the permanent VA here, and some of them said they intended to write to authorities.

When it was announced that the VA offices were to close, telegrams, petitions and letters were sent to Washington, D. C., by servicemen's organizations, civic officials, labor unions and individuals.

Wharton for Office

Congressman J. Ernest Wharton who represents this area stressed that the offices were needed and was one of those favoring their continuance.

There is a state agency here which handles claims, the New York State Division of Veterans Affairs at 32 Main Street, which has county branches.

Those appearing at the VA one-day station yesterday reported to the Marine recruiting office which they deemed inadequate with three shaky chairs and not much room. They crowded in the hall and the line continued down stairs to the sidewalk.

To Write Again

Many said they intended to write to the VA Regional office, 12-16 Russell Road, Albany 1, and others thought they would take another try at writing to Congressman Wharton who has an office at the Stuyvesant-Kingston Hotel, and to Senators Kenneth Keating and Jacob Javits in Washington, D. C.

Reopening the office here is up to the VA, however, and all the elected representatives can do is make appeals.

Clashes Kill Four

ALGIERS (AP) —Four more persons were killed today in clashes between the nationalist rebel and right-wing European undergrounds today.

Nearly 30 persons were killed Tuesday by grenade, bullet and knife as French officials studied the possibility of a state of siege to halt the conflict between Moslem fighters for independence and Europeans who want Algeria to remain a part of France.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING...

ROGER E. SPEAR

Look for Future Growth; Forget About P-E Ratios

Q) "Several years ago I inherited a few thousand dollars and began investing for capital gains. After two years I found that I wasn't doing much more than breaking even after commissions, taxes and a few losses. One year ago I did a lot of selling and bought 100 shares of Reynolds Tobacco. Since then, it has split two-for-one and moved up substantially in price. From what I can gather, a stock selling at 30 times earnings is ovepriced. What should I do?" A. S.

A) If I were you, I'd hold. Every so often we hear that an issue selling at a certain price-earnings ratio is overvalued. While this could be the case in a weakening situation, I think it is a poor yardstick to use for judging the market levels of the best-acting stocks.

IBM and Xerox, for instance, have been standout growth issues for years and most likely will continue to move rapidly ahead. Three years ago, if you had used a similar yardstick in evaluating either of these stocks, you'd have sold—and lost out on some very large subsequent market gains.

At present, Reynolds Tobacco sells for about 30 times 1960 earnings and about 26 times expected 1961 results. Considering the company's growth potentials, I don't think this is out of line. In fact, when you look back several years from now, it may seem pretty reasonable.

Q) "Do you like McLouth Steel?" P. G.

A) Yes, I do. In recent years, McLouth has had one of the best earnings trends in its industry. Dividends have not been paid since 1948, but the recent retirement of the preferred plus prospects of record earnings in 1962 could lead to a resumption of a cash payment. Share action has been quite good, and at present levels I believe the stock is still reasonably priced.

Rosendale ...

in Rosendale would eliminate the north channel around Ackerman's Island, would widen and deepen the south channel, eliminate the canal at the site of the gorge, lower the lips of LeFever Falls and straighten the creek between the Route 32 bridge and the Thruway bridge.

Slight Work in Village

The only work in the village, Curran said, would be the raising of a section of Main Street to the level of Route 32.

Members of the Rosendale Flood Control Committee present at last night's meeting were: George Mollenhauer, town supervisor; Henry Mollenhauer, Attorney Curran, Herbert Kimker, chairman of the Rosendale committee; Joseph P. Bianco and Warren Larrabee.

Others attending the meeting held at Villa Bianco were Bernhardt Kramer, representing Congressman Wharton; Mayor George DeFelicis, James McKeown, village water superintendent; Mrs. McKeon, village treasurer; Charles George, village trustee and Mrs. Hunter.

Active Since 1955

The Rosendale committee organized in October, 1955 and since has been actively engaged in promoting the project.

The $5,948,000 program approved by the Army Engineers also includes estimated costs of $1,584,000 for the Beer Kill and Fantine Kill project and $118,000 for the North Gully project also at Ellenville.

The improvement on Beer Kill, Fantine Kill and North Gully will afford protection against recurrence of a flood larger than the maximum of record, that of August, 1955, while the improvement on Rondout Creek will protect against a flood equal to the maximum flood of record.

Elsewhere, the cost of local protection works or flood control reservoirs would exceed the benefits which would accrue.

U. S. to Try

Full Blame on Russians

The State Department put the full blame for the collapse of the nuclear test talk on the Soviet Union.

The Soviet government, the department said in a statement, had categorically rejected "the objective of reaching agreement on a separate nuclear test ban treaty under effective international safeguards."

Furthermore, the department said, the Soviet Union long had insisted "that it will only discuss such an arrangement (a test ban) in the context of general disarmament negotiation."

Resume on Tuesday

The nuclear test sessions resumed in Geneva Tuesday after a holiday recess. The United States and Britain immediately made an appeal, the State Department said, for the Soviet Union to agree to engage in "serious negotiation."

This appeal the Russians flatly rejected, the State Department said.

Molotov Charged

bourgeois ideologists but also by people who slip from the living and creative Marxist-Leninist position to the path of dead dogmatism.

"This refers directly to the anti-party group headed by Molotov, (Lazarus M.) Kaganovich and (former Premier G. M.) Malenkov. As is known, Molotov, in his dogmatic stubborness, slips down to making statements alleging that Lenin never and at no time spoke about coexistence of states with different social systems."

Returned Nov. 12

Molotov, now 71, returned home from Vienna Nov. 12 to fight a move to expel him from the Communist party after Khrushchev had denounced him and other members of the anti-party group once again at the 22nd Soviet Communist party congress. It was generally assumed that Molotov would be expelled from the party and at best would be allowed to live out his days in obscurity.

The announcement that he was returning to Vienna aroused immediate speculation in diplomatic quarters that Khrushchev had suffered a setback.

Vienna Trip Uncertain

The Foreign Ministry at first said Molotov already was en route to the Austrian capital. Later that week the ministry said it did not know when he was going back. The ministry now will not even discuss the matter with Western correspondents. Neither will the headquarters of the Soviet Communist party.

Pravda's article declared peaceful coexistence is absolutely necessary now because a new world war would be suicide.

It praised Khrushchev for having made more than 30 visits to countries in Europe, Asia and America in support of his policy of peaceful coexistence.

Congress Approval Of Army Changes Appears Assured

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress appears willing to accept President Kennedy's plan to streamline the Army's high command.

The reorganization program caused little surprise and no declared opposition when it was announced by the Pentagon Tuesday. Its major provisions were known beforehand to key members of both House and Senate, either of which could kill it by passing a resolution.

The plan—the first major Army reorganization in nine years—involves creation of two new commands under which will be concentrated (1) research, (2) development, (3) procurement and (4) other functions now performed by such individual technical services as the Ordnance, Quartermaster and Signal Corps.

It does not affect the Army's combat structure or any of the field command organizations.

"The prime purpose of this reorganization is to develop an army with the best possible command structure, management, training, doctrine, weapons, equipment and morale," said Secretary of the Army Elvis J. Stahr Jr.

A House Armed Services Committee member said he had heard of no strong opposition to the scheme and doubted whether any member would even go through the motions of offering a disapproving resolution.

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., member of the Senate Armed Services committee, commented that "I am convinced that the proposed changes will give us a better Army—and also the maximum return for the taxpayer's dollar."

The Continental Army Command at Ft. Monroe, Va., will take over the training of technical manpower, a job it already does for combat personnel.

The Army will also establish an office of personnel operations to exercise central control of all Army assignment and promotions.

$2 Million Bail Asked for Jailed Trader of Stamps

UTICA, N.Y. (AP)—A lawyer planned to ask State Supreme Court today to raise from $10,000 to $2 million the bond required for the release of a trading-stamp trader from jail.

Anthony J. Fernicola, the lawyer, failed Tuesday to obtain from Justice Frank Del Vecchio an order that would free Theodore Berkley. The justice reserved decision on a petition for a writ of habeas corpus.

Berkley, involved in a court fight with one of the nation's oldest and largest firms dealing in trading stamps, was jailed because he refused to pay a $500 fine for contempt of court. He has said he was willing to remain in jail "on behalf of the American housewife."

The Sperry & Hutchinson Co., which deals in trading stamps, had obtained a temporary court order to restrain Berkley from engaging in his business of swapping stamps of one kind for another. The firm contended the operation was an unfair business practice.

Seeds of Unrest

Sukarno Arrests Former Premier

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Former Premier Sutan Sjahrir, a pioneer in Indonesia's struggle for independence, has been arrested along with a dozen other leaders of dissolved political parties, informed sources said today.

The arrest of Dr. Sjahrir, former Foreign Minister Mohammed Roem and others took place early Tuesday, apparently on orders from President Sukarno, sources said.

All those reported taken into custody were leaders or associates of the Socialist party or the right-wing Masjumi Moslem party.

There was speculation that the arrests were due to political tension in the country generated by the clash with the Netherlands over West New Guinea.

Sjahrir, a leader of the now-dissolved Socialist party, was premier of the unrecognized Indonesian republic from 1945 to 1947, during the first two years of its fight for independence from the Dutch. He had been mostly out of public life since the nation became independent in 1949.

Both the Masjumi and the Socialist party had bitterly opposed Sukarno's "guided democracy" government until he banned them on August 17, 1960.

Wagner May Seek Governor Post, Eleanor Indicates

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP) — Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York, who has said he intended to serve his new, four-year term, may seek the Democratic nomination for governor after all, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt indicates.

Wagner has been mentioned often as the likely opponent of Republican Gov. Rockefeller, who will seek re-election in November.

The mayor has said repeatedly, however, he planned to keep his New York City post, to which he was re-elected last fall.

But Mrs. Roosevelt said Tuesday night a political declaration like Wagner's frequently is "not a permanent announcement."

The widow of President Franklin D. Roosevelt commented at a news conference prior to speaking at a meeting of the International Relations Club at Harpur College in nearby Vestal.

Turnpike Aide Is For Safety Belts

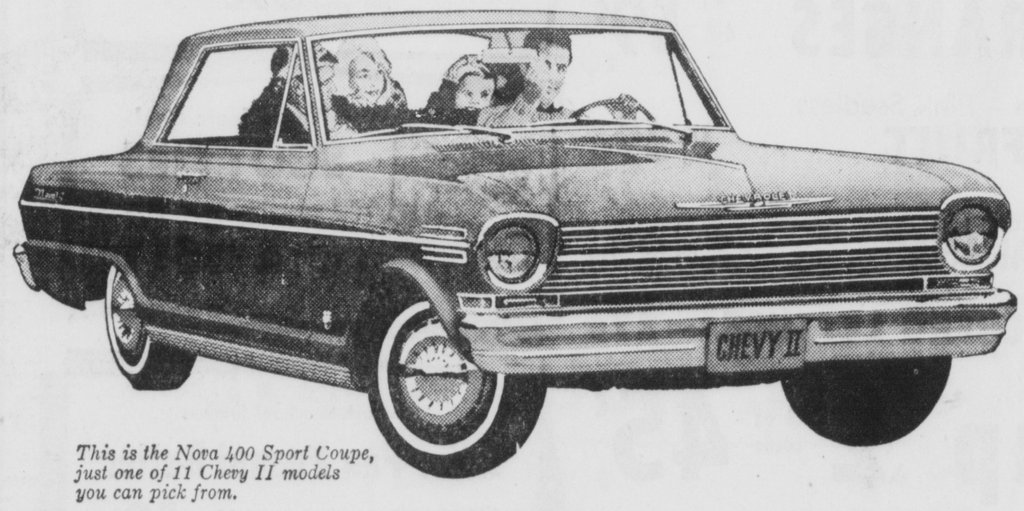

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Auto seat belts could have saved one out of every five persons killed on the Pennsylvania Turnpike last year, a turnpike aide said Tuesday.

Turnpike Public Relations director Robert E. Hetherington, addressing the Western Pennsylvania Safety Council here, said many deaths were caused by accidents in which the victim died after being thrown out of his auto. Seat belts could prevent these deaths, he said.

Noting that seat belts are not yet in widespread use, he pointed out that of the few motorists involved in turnpike accidents while using the belts, none was killed.

CHEVY II WINS AWARD FOR ENGINEERING EXCELLENCE !!!

This is the Nova 400 Sport Coupe, just one of 11 Chevy II models you can pick from.

The men who know cars best put Chevy II to the test. And, after they had compared it with the rest of the '62 crop, the editors of Car Life magazine picked Chevy II for their coveted Engineering Excellence Award. Why? Well, here are just a few of the reasons in the editors' own words: "We think the Chevy II, in either 4- or 6-cylinder form, represents an important development in the American automotive field. . . .

"The car is maximum transportation at minimum cost—minimum in both initial price and cost of operation." And sprinkled throughout the editors' reports on the engineering and road testing you'll find authoritative accolades like "easy maintenance and service" . . . "long wearing ruggedness" . . . "simple elegance" . . . "modern in concept and design" . . . "reasonable size" . . . "sound and solid" . . . "delightful car to drive" . . . "up to date as the missile age."

Get the full story on the spunky, stylish Chevy II in the February, 1962, issue of Car Life. Or, better yet, get on down to your Chevrolet dealer's and see for yourself why liveliness, luxury and low price have never been more beautifully blended!

He has had 14 years experience in fire service having been a member of the Port Chester Fire Company from 1948 to 1958 and a member of the Stone Ridge Fire Company since 1958. He is now serving as assistant chief, a position he has held since 1960.

The course will run for the next ten weeks and all volunteer firemen are especially urged to attend in order to become acquainted with all the latest fire fighting regulations. Chief Thein in making the announcement of the courses, expressed his pleasure at the excellent turnout of volunteers from the Cedar Grove and Saxton Fire Companies who have attended the first two classes already held, and requested attendance from volunteers of other companies to join the 30 men who are already registered.

Solon's Father Dies

He had been bedfast since Oct. 31 when he fell and broke a hip.

Blasts Damage Negro Churches

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Dynamite explosions at three Negro churches—the first such violence involving churches here in 3½ years—damaged the buildings and nearby houses Tuesday night.

No one was in any of the church buildings at the time and no injuries were reported by nearby residents.

Two police officers near one of the blast scenes received minor injuries from the force of the explosion.

Fire Marshal A. Rosenfeld said the blasts were caused by dynamite.

The first explosion occurred at New Bethel Baptist church shortly after 10 p.m.; the second seven minutes later at St. Luke's African Methodist Episcopal Zion church three blocks away; and the third about 40 minutes later at a small independent church—Triumph Church of Kingdom of God in Christ—about three miles from the area of the other explosions.

Several bombing incidents—some with racial implications—occurred here in recent years. The last was an unsuccessful attempt to dynamite a Negro church in 1958.

Pastors of the churches bombed Tuesday night said they could give no reasons for the blasts.

Spasmodic racial trouble has erupted here several times in recent years. Some houses occupied by Negroes were damagd by dynamit in April 1956.

OAS Report Will Lash Cuba, Ties

WASHINGTON (AP)—An inter-American peace committee report due today or Thursday is reported to condemn Cuba for acts of intervention, human rights violations, and Communist ties.

The Organization of American States report is based on the committee's investigation of Prime Minister Fidel Castro's regime in Cuba. The investigation was requested in a resolution introduced by Peru.

Authoritative sources have said the report contains these major points:

1. Citation and condemnation of Cuba for acts of subversion and political intervention. This reportedly is backed by nine examples of political intervention on the part of the Castro government. In each case, sources said, evidence is presented by the government concerned.

2. Condemnation of human rights violations. Six broad categories of these violations are cited, including executions, jailings, deportations, and deprivation of property.

3. Condemnation of Castro's proclaimed ties with the Sino-Soviet bloc.

Latin American experts regard the report as one of the strongest documents ever presented against a country. One diplomatic source said the report is "a serious document that makes no affirmation that is not backed by fact."

The committee chairman is Ambassador Francisco R. Lima of El Salvador, whose government, with other Central American states, plans to seek sanctions against Castro at next week's foreign ministers' conference at Punta del Este, Uruguay.

The other members of the committee are Colombia, the United States, Uruguay and Venezuela. The committee approved the report unanimously.

The peace committee's report will be one of the basic documents to be laid before the foreign ministers, who will determine if the Castro regime constitutes a menace to the peace of the hemisphere and, if so, what steps are to be taken to meet the problem.

The U.S. delegation, to be headed by Secretary of State Dean Rusk, made plans to leave Saturday night for the foreign ministers' conference, which opens on Monday.

Participating in the meeting were governors John N. Dempsey of Connecticut, who called the session, Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, John A. Volpe of Massachusetts and John Notte of Rhode Island, Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York City and Edwin Michaelian, county executive of Westchester County, N.Y.

New Yorkers In Washington

By JOSEPH R. COYNE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Never underestimate the initiative of an 11-year-old who wants to deliver newspapers.

There's one in Rochester, N.Y., who wanted a paper route but said he couldn't get one because he was too young. He asked Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., to help.

The youngster, whose name Keating did not disclose, penciled this note to the senator:

"I don't like the law that says kids cannot have paper roots until they are twelve because I am eleven and I want a paper root. You can't get any other good jobs either. Can you do anything about it?"

Keating was out of town at the time, but an aide said the law the youngster spoke of must be a state law. He suggested the lad contact his state assemblyman for advice.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., is convinced that Russian spies slipped into his hotel room each night and rummaged through his luggage during his recent trip to the Soviet Union.

"There's nothing definite," Javits said. "It's just a feeling."

He said clothes in the suitcases he and his wife carried appeared on many occasions to have been disarranged.

New Yorkers kicked off the opening of Congress in style this year. The state society, which is made up of Empire Staters who work in Washington, held a reception in the old Supreme Court chamber at the Capitol.

The society is headed by Rep. Robert R. Barry, R-N.Y.

Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., jokingly referred to Rep. Leo W. O'Brien, D-N.Y., as "my congressman" when both met in the Speaker's lobby for the opening of Congress last week.

In the recent reapportionment of congressional districts, Stratton's home county, Schenectady, was moved into O'Brien's district for the 1962 elections.

Miss. Paper Closing

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — The Jackson State Times, an afternoon newspaper, announced today it would end publication with today's editions.

He said equipment of the paper, which began publication Feb. 28, 1955, would be sold to the Mississippi Publishers Corp., which publishes the rival Jackson Daily News and Morning Clarion-Ledger.

Can't See Water Now in Creek That Did Damage

MOHAWK, N.Y. (AP) -- The usually placid Fulmer Creek, which went on a rampage and flooded the main street and basements of 50 homes here, was so peaceful today that it couldn't be seen.

The flood waters returned to the stream bed Tuesday night and flowed out of sight beneath thousands of chunks of ice that still choked the 25-foot-wide creek.

"We can't see the water," a policeman said.

The creek surged into a residential area of this Mohawk Valley community Monday night as an ice jam, piled against a concrete bridge, diverted the water over the banks.

In addition to the flooded basements, these were some of the effects: 50 houses left without heat, 20 families evacuated from their homes and dozens of foundations weakened.

Although no damage estimate was available, it was expected to run into thousands of dollars.

Crews blasted ice jams in the creek in an effort to clear the channel. Other workers, including volunteer firemen, manned pumps of every type to remove water from the flooded basements. Still other workers used plows and trucks to haul away the 6-by-8-foot pieces of ice washed into the main street, Route 5S.

The flood followed a heavy downpour, which coupled with temperatures in the 40s, broke a solid bed of ice in the creek.

Won't Give Out Surplus Potatoes To Welfare Folk

WASHINGTON (AP)— The Agriculture Department says it definitely will not distribute surplus potatoes to families on relief.

Such distribution would be a "very questionable undertaking," Acting Secretary John P. Duncan Jr. said in a letter to Rep. Harold C. Ostertag, R-N.Y.

Ostertag had asked the department to make surplus potatoes available to welfare recipients in New York State.

In his letter, released Tuesday, by Ostertag, Duncan cited warehouse and storage problems, the availability of potatoes at low cost in grocery stores and the high cost of nationwide distribution as reasons for reaffirming the department's position.

Duncan recently rejected a similar request by Sen. Kenneth B. Keating R-N.Y.

GOP Leaders Reject Chief's Union Message

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate and House Republican leaders have quietly vetoed National Chairman William E. Miller's effort to write a GOP state of the union message.

Miller circulated among party chieftains a 4,000-word document vigorously criticizing the Kennedy administration's record and proposing a series of political stands to be taken by Republicans in the new session of Congress.

Miller predicted 10 days ago the issuance of such a statement. He said the idea was to advance "affirmative programs" which Republican candidates could cite in the campaign as being more effective than President Kennedy's proposals.

The Republican leaders in the Senate and House, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, declined to go along with the idea.

They put the project in mothballs for possible consideration later in the year of some statement of broad principles on which a majority of Republicans could agree.

Dirksen and Halleck will continue to lay down Republican tenets in their weekly "Ev and Charlie" news conference, uninhibited by any guidelines Miller wanted defined in advance.

The first of their 1962 news conferences is scheduled for Thursday.

Science at Work In World Today

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Mother Earth taking a breather from earthquakes; the possible magic of souped-up light; and aerial typewriting are among the latest subjects for science at work.

Bushed-out Earth

Although plenty of major political rumblings occurred on its surface during 1961, the earth last year was comparatively quiet by the standpoint of producing internal rumblings — earthquakes, that is.

U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey seismologists told a reporter the year was a weak one for earthquakes—with only a few really big temblors occurring, and these at widely separated places.

Their explanation:

Mother Earth was, in effect, pretty bushed after rumbling in real tough fashion the year before —when she loosed such major quakes as the Chilean one that spawned a great tidal wave in the Pacific Ocean.

Souped-up Light

Keep the name LASER under your hat. Some day, devices bearing that monicker may vastly increase the range of space communication; make possible knifeless surgery; allow transmission of 100 million simultaneous telephone calls; and even provide a new form of death ray.

Navy and other scientists say such possibilities are envisioned from still highly experimental research on the LASER technique, more formally known as "Light Amplification by Stimulated Emission of Radiation."

LASER is a system for amplifying and sharpening weak waves of light to produce a very narrow, powerful beam—and the ultimate hope is to employ optical waves in much the same way radio waves are now used.

Its secret is based on the fact that if certain chemicals, gaseous or solid, are excited to emit light —for example, under the influence of an electric current—the weak light will further interact with atoms of the material. Under proper conditions, the original waves of light are thereby intensified.

Aerial Typist

Now we have skytyping by airplanes as well as the more familiar skywriting.

As described in Ethyl News, five airplanes fly parallel courses in tight formation and . oot out staccato smoke bursts electronically. The idea is to get a skywritten advertisement out fast before poor weather sets in.

In the typing technique, one central-control pilot in the squadron operates a radio transmitter which sends impulses to receivers in the other planes—triggering smoke valves.

Farmer Dies in Mishap

CLAY, N.Y. (AP)—A 71-year-old farmer died Tuesday after he fell head first into a chicken feeder and was nearly buried in grain, police said.

Fred Joss lost his life in the accident on his farm near this Onondaga County community.

N. Y. Holding Firm To Buy Co. Control

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Public Service Commission today authorized National Fuel Gas Co., a New York City holding firm, to acquire control of Empire Gas and Fuel Co. Ltd. of Wellsville.

National Fuel will exchange 108,100 shares of its stock, valued at $3,080,850, for 12,400 shares of Empire stock, the PSC said.

Empire sells natural gas to approximately 15,000 customers in parts of Allegany and Steuben counties, including the cities of Hornall and Wellsville.

The PSC said National Fuel planned to integrate the operations of Empire with the Iroquois Gas Co., one of its subsidiaries serving much of Western New York.

Budget Time in Washington

JFK Will Air New Figures, To Be Record for Peacetime

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the most awful things about the federal budget—and it is awful if you're not good at arithmetic—is that it will monopolize Washington conversation for quite a while.

In two plump volumes President Kennedy at noon Thursday unfolds for Congress the national budget, his estimate on the cost of running the government another year.

More Simplified Now

One of the most delightful things about Kennedy's budget, in a gruesome kind of way, is that it is supposed to be more simplified and streamlined than any budget of the past.

The only one likely to think so is the superintendent of a digit factory. Nobody could enjoy this budget, or any other budget, except an accountant. Having to read it is like being sentenced to frustration.

Many people in government, thousands, have been putting this estimate together since last summer.

The all-time peak for budget spending, in any one year — $98,416,000,000 — was reached in 1945. That was the big, climactic year of World War II.

Kennedy's budget is expected to be around $92.5 billion, the highest of any peacetime year. It is for the fiscal year beginning next July 1 and ending June 30, 1963.

If this seems like a shocker, it needn't be. The cost of running the government has been going up. In the fiscal year ending next June 30 spending will probably top $89 billion.

Steady March Up

The budget trend under President Dwight D. Eisenhower was up, too, although it dipped a couple of times. It has been that way ever since President Harry S. Truman's time when, after a postwar low point of $32,955,000,000 in 1948, there was an almost steady march up.

In the various departments and agencies of government, beginning last summer, officials began estimating their next fiscal year cost. Department heads went over the figures. They are supposed to cut where they can.

When all that is done, the figures go to the Budget Bureau, which not only is supposed to reduce dollars to pennies but insist that department heads justify every dime they say they need.

Then Fun Begins

After that the President and his advisers go over the estimates. The final, finished bundle, coverir everything from pencils to missiles, is what Kennedy hands Congress.

Then the fun begins. Some members of Congress have regular reflex actions every year when the budget arrives. This time, before he ever saw it, Rep. Clarence Cannon, D-Mo., announced as he has in the past: "We will have to cut it."

Cannon is chairman of the House Appropriations Committee which will divide itself up into a lot of subcommittees and then for months hold hearings to quiz government officials on why they need so much.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The Kennedy Administration is giving the old college try in its hope of changing the pattern of prime labor crises.

Americans are used by now to important labor - management negotiations going down to the final deadline for strike, with tension mounting over possible calamities to companies, workers and public alike. The suspense often takes a toll itself—in nerves, in bitterness, in money, in economic disruption.

Early Pact Sought

In the upcoming steel contract talks, widely labeled this year as crucial, the administration is hoping to get a pact well in advance of the July 1 strike deadline. The public would doubtless be the gainer, especially if the hurried-up talks don't set off another inflationary wage-price spiral.

But even the well-wishers for the success of the administration effort, and they are many, wonder a little if the goals the President set in his news conference Monday can be reached, human nature being what it is.

The President wants the early pact to halt a buildup in steel inventories already under way and likely to get up steam if the talks later should appear headed for deadlock. Such a buildup could upset the time table of the current recovery, and a subsequent letdown could disrupt the economy.

It is only natural for both labor and management negotiators to want to use any tool they can to win their points. One traditional tool is an approaching deadline whose increasing nearness inspires concessions to avoid a strike. Neither side would want a strike if it could get in other ways the concessions on which it has set its heart.

Against Stockpiling

While the administration strives to get the steel talks under way and hopes for an early pact, it is urging steel users to avoid piling up steel stocks. Their increased orders, apparently for a hedge against a possible strike, has sent steel output to its highest weekly volume since early April 1960.

It is to the steel users advantage to avoid piling up stocks beyond their current needs, the Iron Age points out today. The metalworking weekly says this would ease pressure on the market, eliminate the cost of carrying heavy stocks, and help prevent a possible business decline in the final months of the year, which would hurt them along with many others.

But the magazine also notes that many steel users feel they can't afford to gamble on any evidence to date that there won't be a strike or a hike in prices as a result of it or of a pact averting it. Company executives feel they can't afford to be caught without steel.

Dynamite Removed

An employe of Hercules Powder Company, Port Ewen, was summoned Monday to remove five sticks of dynamite from the premises of Deputy Sheriff Frank Neri Jr., of Mountain Road, Ashokan. While cleaning up about the premises, which he had purchased a week ago, Neri found the dynamite in a chicken coop. Sheriff Claude Bell was notified and sought assistance from Hercules in removing the explosive which was placed in a container and disposed of. How long the dynamite had been in the chicken coop is not known. The premises were acquired by Neri from Harold Buley.

Right Opening Is Slam Setter

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

At last year's winter carnival tournament in St. Paul, a few people couldn't play because the hotel ran out of chairs and tables.

For this year's event on Feb. 1, 2, 3 and 4, Leo and Reine Seewald, who are largely responsible for making the tournament one of the best there is, have promised there will be chairs and tables for all.

In last year's event, Reine really pulled the chair out from under South when she came up with the right opening lead against his slam contract.

She was faced with two tough problems after North's bid of six spades. The first one was whether to save at seven hearts, but she decided against that course.

The choice of opening lead was tougher. Everyone likes to lay down an ace against a slam contract, but Reine was sure that North would be void of hearts. She also was sure that North was going to show up with a tremendous diamond suit.

Therefore, a trump opening could do her no good. That left a possible ace and one diamond opening. Leo might be able to ruff the second diamond. That seemed unlikely and this left one other suit, clubs. The club was led and South had a bottom score.

Bright Colors Are Introduced in Style Show by Italians

By LOUISE HICKMAN

FLORENCE, Italy (AP) — Patrick de Barentzen produced a new spring and summer fashion collection Tuesday night chock full of ideas.

Rib-hugging little jackets had collarless necklines high in front and carved out in V shapes or squares or horseshoes to just over the shoulder blades in back.

Opened-out accordion pleatings gave appealing texture to some of the trim, spare De Barentzen silk suits. Closely placed bias bands—worked horizontally, vertically and diagonally—added surface interest to other designs.

An evening coat's pleated collar swirled high around the face or opened out flat.

Colors were bright: yellow, oranges, maroons, pinks and greens.

De Barentzen's coats had close-fitting bodices, wide skirts and wide bell sleeves falling from narrow shoulders.

Slim afternoon dusters, in crepes used the knotted scarf motif for bodice draping. Waistlines started to rise about cocktail time, when the line went Empire with pleat-broken flared skirts.

The De Barentzen evening scene went off in too many directions at once to be consistent. The hats by M. Gilles, De Barentzen's partner, were the best part. Circlets of flower pouf, with veiling centers, covered the face like a fencer's mask.

Peters-Goercke Wedding Is Announced; Ceremony Takes Place at St. Joseph's

Miss Madge Martha Peters, daughter of Mrs. Helen Paradies, 302 Wall Street, exchanged nuptial vows with Rolf Alexander Goercke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander J. Goercke, 176 Smith Avenue, this city, on January 16 in St. Joseph's Church.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony was the Rev. William E. Williams. Mrs. Frank Rafferty was organist and Max Schmitt was soloist.

Poinsettias decorated the church and the pews were marked with white satin ribbon.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother. She wore a gown of white Chantilly lace over satin. It was styled with a Sabrina neckline outlined with pearls and sequins, long sleeves and a long molded bodice. The bouffant hooped chapel length skirt was designed with tiers of pleated tulle. She also wore a matching lace mantilla and carried two white orchids.

Joan Murphy of Kingston served as maid of honor in a ballerina length gown of lavender satin peau designed with a scoop neckline, short sleeves and a pouff bustle in back. Her matching crown with circular veil and short white gloves completed the outfit.

Marion Goercke, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, and Joan Dwyer of Kingston served as attendants. Candace Scott of Kingston was junior bridesmaid and Eve Scott of Kingston was flower girl.

The attendants wore gowns identical in style and color to that worn by the honor attendant. The junior bridesmaid wore a ballerina length gown of pale lavender silk with a matching crown and short white gloves. The flower girl was attired in a ful length gown of pale lavender silk. All carried bouquets of lavender mums.

Eric R. Goercke, the bridegroom's brother, was best man. Ushering were Robert J. Langling of Woodstock, and Bernard Smith of Morgan Hill.

Approximately 100 guests were entertained at The Alpine.

The bride was graduated from Kingston High School and the Moran - Spencerian School of Business. She is employed by Rusk, Rusk and Feeney. Her husband is an alumnus of Kingston High School and is employed by William Rylance and Sons, Inc. He served three years in the U. S. Navy, two years of which were spent in the Pacific area.

For her wedding trip to New York City, the bride wore a raspberry crepe dress with black accessories and a corsage of white orchids.

Mr. and Mrs. Goercke will reside at 7 St. James Court, this city, when they return.

Discussion Meeting Held at Methodist Church; So. America

The first of a series of meetings to be held at Clinton Avenue Methodist Church opened Sunday, Jan. 14 with a covered dish supper under the supervision of Mrs. Louis Becker. Later those present adjourned to the Assembly Room for services at 7 p. m.

The Rev. R. T. Edwards, pastor of the church, welcomed the group and made the announcements. Mrs. Clarence Dederick had charge of the Worship Service. A choir of 16 young people under the leadership of Mrs. Robert Gaines led the musical program. Mrs. R. T. Edwards was pianist.

Mrs. Alex Arcus, in charge of the program, used the book on Latin America "Land of the Eldorado" by Bishop Santo Uberto Barbiero as the basis of her study. The subjects used were "First Came the Conqueror and the Friar," "From Imperialism and Ecclesiastical Dominion to Freedom" and "The Fight for Self Government." These are descriptive chapters of early life in Latin America. Through discussion, map study and a quiz session, Mrs. Arcus gave a very comprehensive coverage of the early days in the Southtern Continent.

Mrs. Thomas Miller and Mrs. Arthur Crist had an interesting display of articles from Latin America. Mr. Crist had made a large poster of the Land of the Eldorado which served as a background for the display.

Mrs. Clayton R. Smith gave a brief summary of the castrophe which befell Peru last week. Mrs. Florrie Campbell closed the meeting with an inspiring meditation.

Sunday evening, Jan. 21, Thomas Miller will lead the Worship Service and Mrs. Clarence Dederick will continue the Study.

A covered dish supper will be served at 5:45 p. m. Evening Service, at 7 p. m. These are public services and everyone is invited.

SHOWER FOR A NEW HOUSE OWNER

Q: A friend of mine who is in her late thirties has just bought a small bungalow type house. She is not married. I would like to know if it would be proper to give a household shower for her. There are many things she needs as she has never set up housekeeping before. Heretofore she lived in a furnished apartment. This friend has gone to many showers throughout the years for friends and relatives and I thought it would be nice to give a shower for her and invite all those whom she gave presents. Would such a shower be in order, and if so, what would it be called?

A: It will be quite proper to give this friend a household shower. It would be called just that.

Q: What obligation is there for the bride's family to put up the various guests coming from out of town to our daughter's wedding? Are there any who have to be taken care of and any who don't have to be?

A: The bride's attendants who come from out of town have to be provided for by the bride's family, but not necessarily any others. It would of course be very hospitable to take care of the bridegroom's immediate family, if possible. But this is the exception rather than the rule.

Q: We are a family of moderate means and live a simple, moderate life. Our youngest son who has graduated from the Naval Academy has recently become engaged to a girl who comes from a very social and well to-do family. Will you please tell me what our duties and obligations are toward the girl and her family? I do so much want to do the right thing and not embarrass our son.

A: You and your husband should call on the girl's parents, telephoning first to find out when would be a convenient time for them to receive you. After this one formal requirement you let your future relationship with them take its natural spontaneous course.

We The Women

On Guard, You Husbands, For These Wifely Phrases

For men who haven't been married long enough to know—these are all wifely phrases that should put you on your guard for what's to follow:

● "Oh, by the way,"... Sounds casual, doesn't it? But your wife is about to announce something she has been waiting to spring on you until just the right moment. "Oh, by the way ... I had a letter from my sister, Sue, and she and Bill and the six children are planning to spend their vacation with us. Isn't that nice?"

● "I've got a surprise for you ..." This will be a surprise, all right, usually in the "it-was-such-a-bargain - I-just-couldn't-resist-it" department—though it may be anything from a fur coat for her to a new sofa for the living room. But don't expect it to be anything for YOU—not with that opening.

● "Now don't say a word until I've finished..." This is going to be bad. She's smashed a fender, overdrawn your checking account, or something of the sort. This is the time when you can make yourself a hero in her eyes just by not reacting the way she expects you to react. And with this opening you can be sure she expects the worst.

● "Oh, I almost forgot to tell you."... She hasn't almost forgotten. She has just been putting off telling you something you aren't going to be happy about... like accepting an invitation from a couple who bore you to death, or volunteering your services as a handy man or something of the sort.

● "I've got the most wonderful idea...." She'll look excited and starry-eyed when she begins with this one, because she knows good and well that while you may have your faults, you just can't disappoint her when she really has her heart set on something very special.

Safety in Numbers But Divorce Holds

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Judge Raymond W. Graham granted Evelyn Jones, 27, a divorce from Ernest Jones Tuesday but said the basis for the petition was "the most amazing I've ever seen."

"That a husband and father of 11 children should be guilty of incompatibility does injustice to the term," said Judge Graham.

The couple married when Mrs. Jones was 13 and has children aged 12, 11, 9, 8, 7, 6, 5, 4, 3, 2, and 1.

Who Will Foot the Bill For Higher Education?

BY FAYE HENLE

Here's a question I've been expecting from you: On what investment can I get a guaranteed 10 per cent return?

And, here's the answer: education.

Expenditures for education have been doubling every 10 years. Last year, according to a study by the Chase Manhattan Bank, formal education cost Americans nearly $45 billion, an amount equal to 9 per cent of production of all goods and services.

Included in this staggering figure were the salaries of two million teachers, plus salaries of others in schools and colleges. It included the maintenance and carrying charges on $43 billion in buildings and equipment as well as the time and effort of 13.8 million high school and college students, whom it is pointed out, might otherwise have contributed to the nation's output.

Because so many people realize the 10 per cent or more return that education yields, the pressure for education is great. A study financed by The U. S. Office of Education under its Cooperative Research Program affirms the economic significance of learning and notes:

"State colleges and universities will enroll an increased proportion of the nation's student population."

Based on a survey of 3,000 families on the question of financing education, half felt that a larger part of the cost of higher education should come out of tax funds.

This same survey reports an overwhelming majority of parents plan to send their children to state colleges, thus imposing more pressure than presently on states and the federal government to finance education.

Why the interest in state-endowed education? In many instances it costs about half as much to attend a state endowed college as it does to attend a private college. Many educators point out that good students are, and will continue to be, lost to private colleges because of rising costs.

It seems now that business is stepping in to insist that our economic growth is directly related to our educational gains. The bank study points to the fact that the rate of return on investment in education is about the same as the rate of return on business investment. They say, we have not passed the point where a dollar invested in education would yield the community less than a dollar of new plant and equipment.

The question then is: who is to support the financial needs of education, private enterprise or the government?

If you are in any position to make your voice heard, you might drop a note in the company suggestion box. I think you should press for more aid to education from private enterprise. Not only should more dollars come from private citizens but also greater vigilance over the rising cost of learning.

The bank study suggests more efficient programming of classroom use over a longer day and longer school year to reduce from $12.7 billion to $4.3 billion the funds which it is estimated will be needed to add new classrooms between now and 1970.

Solons Briefed On Differences Of Pin Machines

WASHINGTON (AP)—Take an austere congressional hearing room. Bring in a couple of garish pinball machines. Set them to chugging and dinging, banging and whirring, winking and blinking, and what have you got?

You have a row of congressmen grinning like a bunch of kids who know they're not supposed to smile in church, but can't help noticing the minister is still wearing his bedroom slippers.

That was the situation Tuesday with the House Interstate Commerce Committee. The amused smiles didn't last long, because the subject at hand was serious—a proposed law to ban gambling type pinball machines that can't be touched under current federal laws.

Lawyer Rufus King demonstrated the difference between an amusement type pinball machine, made by one of his clients, and a gambling type that looks much the same but has an electronic inside that "looks like the control section of an ICBM rocket."

King said his client, the Gottlieb Co. of Chicago, and the American Bar Association supports the proposed measure to ban interstate shipment of the gambling machines and require their makers to register with the Justice Department.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy earlier told the committee organized crime is making hundreds of millions of dollars a year out of these machines and it is time to tighten the federal laws against them.

Po'keepsie Man Gets Jail Term In Assault Case

A 20-year-old Poughkeepsie youth was sentenced Tuesday afternoon to 10 days in the Ulster County Jail after pleading guilty before Town of Lloyd Justice of the Peace Philip W. Schunk to third degree assault.

Henry Graham Hall, of 35 Market Street, Poughkeepsie, was arrested by Highland State Police. Sergeant Robert Smith said Hall was accused of cutting Salagiel Lee Merritt Jr., 19, of 135 Main Street, Poughkeepsie, on Monday. The incident occurred on Route 9W, Highland.

Merritt was treated at Vassar Hospital for lacerations of the face, which authorities said were inflicted with a penknife.

Havana Readies Parley Defenses

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro's regime today lined up heavy defense artillery for the inter-American conference in Uruguay. The government announced that President Osvaldo Dorticos would head the Cuban delegation and Carlos Rafael Rodriguez, one of Cuba's top Communists, would go along with the rank of ambassador.

Until Tuesday, Foreign Minister Raul Roa was scheduled to head the delegation to the conference Jan. 22 which will take up charges that communism based in Cuba threatens the peace of the hemisphere.

The switch was interpreted as evidence Castro's regime is going to do everything possible to head off drastic collective action against it.

Except for the Uruguayan host, Dorticos is the only chief of state scheduled to attend the conference. A government communique said he would hold the rank of foreign minister during the meeting.

Rodriguez, editor of the Communist paper Hoy and a chief planner in Castro's campaign to lead Cuba down the Marxist-Leninist road, also was a last minute addition to the delegation.

It was understood word of the change was communicated to Latin-American diplomats at a reception given Tuesday night for Roa by the ambassador from Uruguay, one of the seven Latin-American nations that still maintains diplomatic relations with Cuba.

Ethel Magafan, State College in New Art Fund

State University College of New Paltz will be among seven art galeries and museums in the East receiving gifts of contemporary American artists from the American Academy of Arts and Letters in New York, it has been announced.

Nineteen museums throughout the country wil receive paintings, which are acquisitions from the Childe Hassam Fund which is administered by the academy.

Woodstock's well-known Ethel Magafan is among the list of artists whose paintings were selected and acquired by the academy for gift to the various recipients.

Other artists in the group are: Paul Sample, Leonid Berman, Xavier Gonzalez, Ruth Gikow, Aaron Bohrod, Jay Robinson and Stuyvesant Van Veen.

The eastern recipients, besides New Paltz, will be Finch College, New York University, Cayuga Musueum, Auburn; Prendergast Free Library, Jamestown and Rutgers University and University of Vermont.

Clarence Bolton Was Outstanding In Woodstock Art

Clarence Bolton, who died recently, was known as "Bolt" to his family and many friends and earned an enduring reputation as one of Woodstock's noted lithographers and landscape painters.

A native of Wallingford, Conn., he came to Woodstock in 1917 for a two weeks vacation and remained in the artists colony until his death.

A graduate of the Yale School of Fine Arts, "Bolt" became famos for his lithograph of Woodstock's historic Dutch Reformed Church which he named "Morning Worship." Among other well known lithographs of his are "At Home" and "Still Waters."

Bolton was one of the first members of the Woodstock Artists Association; also a member of the Society of American Graphic Arts, the Oklahoma Art League and the Connecticut Fine Arts Academy. He was honored with many prizes and sold many of his lithographs and paintings in galleries throughout the country. He was awarded the Warren H. Manning Purchase Prize of the Southern Society in 1938, and in 1939 his lithograph, "The Sap Gatherer" won him the Purchase Prize of the Oklahoma Art League.

Published Newspaper

Clarence Bolton married Woodstock's own Louise Cashdollar with whom he weathered many business ventures along with his art work. At one time they were the original owners of The Nook.

"Bolt" also printed and illustrated a one-sheet newspaper here in Woodstock, which later became a monthly magazine. He named it the "Clatter." It ran for two years. His manifold talents also earned for him a first prize in the National Textile Design Exhibition in New York among about 1,500 exhibitors. His oil paintings were hanging in the National Academy of Design.

"Bolt's" unassuming, untiring and unselfish traits of character are unmistakably reflected in his paintings by the simplicity of design and by his masterful capturing of the atmosphere and feeling of his subjects.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Louis Bolton; a sister, Mrs. Henry Jochim of Lake Park, Florida; and a brother, William Bolton of Old Greenwich, Conn.

Italian Scene, Second Part By Schimmerling

This is a continuation of the preceding article. I wish to express my gratitude to the representatives of the Italian government and the affiliated Italian Cultural Institute for the information used in this column.

At my repeated visits to Versailles I did not realize that the Sun King Louis XIV would have been unable to build the famous Hall of Mirrors without the help of some craftsmen who escaped from the Republic of Venice. Likewise, when visiting the glass factories in Murano near Venice, I did not know that the world's looking-glass manufacturing started here. Nobody said so in Venice. But this is what you can read in and between the lines of the 1961 October issue of the above mentioned bulletin.—Some Czechoslovak glass experts frowned at this statement. They are of the opinion that in Jablonec (Northern Bohemia) this type of glass merchandise was manufactured at an earlier date. We know that glass was known before Murano and Jablonec existed and, if I am not mistaken, Cleopatra of Egypt "admired herself in a mirror."

The bulletin says that Italy built 650,000 cars in 1960, 150,000 more than in 1959 and that the output in 1961 will show about the same increase. As much as this must be welcomed from the Italian industrial viewpoint, for the sightseeing visitor who wants to cross a street in Florence or Rome, this is no joke, Thanks God, many of the streets are exactly as narrow as during the time of the Medicis and the Borgias, but traffic conditions have changed considerably. Perhaps less gasoline manufacturing will counteract the rise in automobile production. One oil chemist, says the bulletin, is of the opinion that the stupidest thing one can do with oil today is to make gasoline. Italians turn only 40% of the available oil into fuel, the other 60% are turned into all kinds of fertilizers, plastics, artificial rubber, etc. I truly hope there would be fewer cars in Via Porta Rossa or around Trinita dei Monti in Florence and Rome respectively the next time I come there.

In Southern Italy unemployment is still a problem. But some relief, as the bulletin implies, will be the oil chemical plant in Brindisi which will be bigger than the city of Brindisi itself.

Who is engineer Claudio Marcello from Forli (Italy)? He can boast to have built the largest number of dams all over the world. He constructed 38 within 37 years, perhaps the best average on record; more than one a year. He built the longest "arched" dam in the world, "the great rainbow" in the Northern Appennines, as well as the "tallest", the 900-foot-high Vajor dam in the Venetian Alps. When he was asked "what was the most dramatic episode in your career," he said "In dam building, there are no dramatic moments, only major disasters. My dams are all standing."

Christian Science Theme Is on 'Life'

Conflicting demands of everyday living can be resolved through spiritual understanding of God as divine life.

This is a theme of the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Life" which is to be read at Christian Science services Sunday in Woodstock.

Selections from the Bible will include this verse from Psalm 40: "I delight to do thy will, O my God: yea, thy law is within my heart."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy this citation will be read (p. 184): "Truth, Life, and Love are the only legitimate and eternal demands on man, and they are spiritual lawgivers, enforcing obedience through divine statutes."

The Golden Text is from John (17): "This is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent."

Every Member Visitation Set At Lutheran

John Frederick Goedecke, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Goedecke of Woodstock, was received into the Christian Church through the Sacrament of Baptism at Christ Lutheran Church in Woodstock. Sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. Russell Kerl of Kingston.

This Sunday, at the 11 o'clock service the 1962 Every Member Visitation will receive its commission to visit all the members of the congregation. The purpose of the visit is to receive each member's financial pledge for the year, which will assist the church as it seeks to meet its local and world wide objectives.

In addition, the Visitation Program will provide an occasion for the members to become acquainted with the church's objectives for 1962, as well as providing an opportunity for each member to participate directly in the attainment of these objectives.

The women of the church will meet on Tuesday, Jan. 23, at 10 a. m. at the home of Mrs. Linda Smith of Woodstock to roll bandages which will be sent to the Lutheran mission in Liberia, Africa. Clean, old sheets may be left at the church this week for the purpose of providing bandage material.

Members of the committee are: Mrs. Ruth Bark, Lawrence Deede, Miss Carol DeWitt, Robert Hessenauer, Mrs. Hans Horgan, Mrs. Morton Moseman, Harold Schussler, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Snyder, Mrs. Fred Thaisz Jr. and Mrs. Alice Weider.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Corinne Calvet, the Americanized French pastry, is getting her career off the ground after a hiatus of a few years.

The start of Corinne's renewed activity is a role as the contessa in Hemingway's "Adventures of a Young Man." It may well start her phone jingling again, but she isn't waiting around for that happy sound.

She has a new career: painting. To my own unstudied eye, it would seem this new career might overshadow the other one.

Corinne showed me some of the canvases in her Trousdale Estates home, a stone's throw from those of Richard Nixon, Dinah Shore and Groucho Marx—if you're the kind who throws stones.

The paintings are everywhere, even in the bathroom, and some of them seem brilliant. They are splashed with color, and in many of them you can see what the picture is about.

She classifies herself as "an impressionist who lets you know what she is doing."

Art is not new to her. When she started dabbling in drama in Paris, she was also studying sculpture and architecture at the Beaux Arts. Drama took precedence as she won fame in French and American films. When good roles stopped coming, she returned to art.

Now she is working till dawn each day to finish 45 paintings for a one-woman show in London in late spring.

Three years ago she was upset by her divorce from actor Jeffrey Stone and by the procession of sexpot roles that were submitted to her. She packed up son Robin and went to live in Paris. She remained a naturalized American citizen.

Surviving are a daughter, Miss Beatrice Aitchison, Washington; and a son, Clyde B. Aitchison Jr., Encino, Calif.

Skids Off Runway

CHICAGO (AP)—A four-engine jet plane owned by the Corning Glass Works, Corning, N.Y., skidded off a runway Tuesday night at O'Hare International Airport.

NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

Someday when I have the energy I hope to take my copy of the "Ulster County Gazette" of Jan. 4, 1800 and frame it with some of the items sent from all over the United States to my readers, and those sent or brought to me.

At present there are pictures of the Norwich, Mary Powell etc., at the Rondout Savings Bank, corner Mill Street and Broadway. A set of uptown Wall Street and North Front Street pictures were placed in the Savings and Loan Association of Kingston at 267 Wall Street. That is the bank, with the neat little lawn in front, and a big parking lot for their customers.

One of my neighbors, Mrs. Joseph Killian of Ravine Street brought me one of these Ulster County Gazette items, which was sent to her by Mrs. Edward Carroll from Oshkosh, Wisc. Mrs. Killian said, she received another one from, I think she said Philadelphia.

This is interesting. It seems a super market in that locality offered a prize of groceries for the oldest newspaper carrying advertising. Mrs. Carrie Cornwell of Middleton, Wisc., brought in our Ulster County Gazette and it won her the prize.

The supermarket received a good collection of advertisements but our Samuel Freer's paper brought the groceries home to Mrs. Cornwell. This write up which Mrs. Killian gave me quotes from the paper. We are known across the country, in nearly every state as the city where this strange Ulster County Gazette of Jan. 4, 1800 shows up, like a ghost.

Yet, today, we in Kingston do not own an original. One is down in Washington D.C. in the Library of Congress.

Perhaps we should take advantage of this "Ulster County Gazette" of Freer's. Everyone who has one, can have it framed, and have a general display of all those around here, then we can compare them. The Fifth Avenue library put out a book around 1950, giving illustrations of the various ones and when they were printed, or rather copied. As I remember, the Chamber of Commerce had one in their window.

Dr. A. J. Segal, optometrist, now of 265 Washington Avenue, when he was downtown, in the former Dr. Stern's offices, he discovered one of the Gazettes, put it in a frame and had it in his window, so no doubt he has it yet. He was a new Kingstonian then, yet he was very interested in the history of Kingston and that paper.

In case anyone wants to read a book on it and with illustrations, one was written by R.

Trailway Cafeteria, Yellow Jackets and Byrne Chevrolet scored victories in the Kingston YMCA Basketball league last night with Marty Kaye and Bruce Wiederspiel giving good individual performances.

The Cafeteria quintet nipped Accord, 64-60, thanks to a 34 point surge by Kaye, who normally feeds instead of taking shots. The former Gettysburg ace rimmed 16 field goals and two free throws for his total. Al Brown and Bill Fitzgerald were also in double figures for the winners, who had to stop a late surge by Accord. Ron Roby, the baskeball playing sportscaster, led the losers with 18 markers.

The Yellow Jackets overcame a bad first period and came from behind to nip Hub Delicatessen, 53-46, in a defensive battle. John Burris and Mel Williams shared honors for the winners while Al Short's 12 points paced the Delicatessen five.

Wiederspiel, one of the league's top shooters, had 12 field goals and eight free throws for 32 points in leading Byrne's to an easy win over Dick's Barber Shop, 93-73. Bruce Ruffner, Fred Orr and Walt Harder aided Wiederspiel. Joe Spada had 28 for the losers and Frank Allen contributed 19.

Tonight's schedule lists Baliton against Doran's at 7 o'clock and then a rematch of Saturday's night thriller between the Rye YMCA All-Stars and the Kingston stars, beginning at 8 p. m. It figures to be another good show.

Hawks Home Tonight Against C. W. Post

Seeking their fourth straight victory and their fifth in 11 outings, the New Paltz State Teachers College Hawks will host the C. W. Post cagers of Staten Island tonight, 8 p. m., at the New Paltz High School court.

Coach Doug Sheppard's cagers have scored consecutive wins over Fredonia State, Maritime and Drew University. The 94-53 decision over Drew was the best showing made by the Hawks to date.

After tonight's tilt, the team will be idle until Feb. 2 when it plays at Danbury State. Mid-term examinations are scheduled, giving the cagers a rest of some two weeks.

Only one home game will remain on the schedule when action resumes after the exams. That will be on Saturday, Feb. 17, against Oneonta State. Seven opponents will be met on the road.

The Big Guy . . . In Trouble

Chamberlain Is Too Tall Even For Present-Day Basketball

BY MURRAY OLDERMAN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

LOS ANGELES, (NEA)—The storm that has been building under seven-foot Wilt Chamberlain erupted on the floor of the Los Angeles Sports Arena.

Chamberlain was thrown out of a game for the first time. There were imprecations about the ancestry of the referee. One technical. A biting comment about the conduct of the game. Second technical and ejection.

To make sure the ripcord was pulled, Wilt pounced back on the court in two lopes for added riposte and got slapped with a third technical.

Chamberlain does everything big. It took courage for Norm Drucker to stand under the chin of the riled Philadelphia Warrior and keep pointing to the exit. Like surfboarding in a tidal wave.

The trouble now is that Chamberlain in scoring too much.

"He's become impossible the last several weeks," muttered a National Basketball Association official, "since he started hitting 50 a night. He's been reading what they write: 'So Chamberlain scores 70 points. What's it mean if his team loses?'

"He really wants to be known as a great player, like Elgin Baylor. Not just as a freak who dunks 'em."

One referee maintains that Chamberlain is bashful about the height that makes him a basketball superman and a highly controversial figure.

"Guy on the Warriors told me that Wilt doesn't even like to dunk the ball on a break unless he has to because he doesn't want to call attention to his height," he said.

WILT CHAMBERLAIN
"Not a freak who dunks 'em"

That's hard to believe. Like Jayne Mansfield wearing baggy clothes.

Sensitive Performer

Chamberlain is a sensitive, proud performer, however and, according to Coach Frank McGuire, is trying to take the spotlight off his point-making.

"He begs the other guys to shoot," insists McGuire, "and to drive up the alley because it would help him. The defense would have to switch and loosen up on him. But the players see this big guy so close to the basket. Psychologically they got to try to get the ball into him."

"Oh yeah," scoffs one official, "when did you ever see the Big Guy (that's how they talk about Chamberlain) pass off? When three guys drop off on him, you mean to tell me there aren't a couple of men open he could pass off to? You don't see them dropping off on (Bill) Russell."

Maybe they expect too much of Chamberlain. Because of his overwhelming physical prowess, he's never had to perfect the nuances of team play. Or maybe, as one official observes, they don't pay $65,000 a year to a guy who passes off.

"Wilt is a fine analyst,' defends McGuire. "He knows the game. I enjoy talking basketball with him. He's learning all the time. I've seen improvement since the season began.

"He'll come across the key hole to meet a pass, and that's asking a lot of a center who has gotten position. In this league you have to fight for it."

The way the incidents have been piling up, that isn't all Wilt Chamberlain will fight for.

Triandos Signs, So Do Ford, Berra

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Gus Triandos, Baltimore's bruised backstop, has signed his 1962 baseball contract, exchanged his problem child status for a role as the team's dean and temporarily at least signaled an end to all trade rumors.

The catcher, 31, who had his poorest season last year when he wound up with a .244 batting average and a few additional wounds on his battered hands, became the first Oriole to sign Tuesday by inking a contract for his eighth campaign with the club.

That stilled the debate over Triandos' status with the club, questionable since he expressed a desire last month to be traded.

Triandos was among a host of notable players who signed Tuesday, joining two members of the world champion New York Yankees—Whitey Ford and Yogi Berra—Willie Kirkland of Cleveland's Indians, and Chicago Cubs' Don Cardwell.

Ford, the top winner in the majors last season with a 25-4 record, signed for $50,000 and became the highest paid Yankee pitcher in history. Berra, veteran catcher turned outfielder during the 1961 campaign, received a figure estimated at $52,000.

Acquired by the Indians from San Francisco, Kirkland responded with 27 homers and 95 RBI and was rewarded with a "nice raise" to about $18,000. Cardwell, top pitcher on the Cubs with a 15-14 mark, and outfielder Danny Murphy brought Chicago's signed list to 18.

Pettit Is MVP for West Team

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — The West holds an edge in top talent with the likes of Oscar Robertson, Elgin Baylor and Jerry West, and with youth on its side, soon may catch the East in the National Basketball Association All-Star game series.

That's the opinion of Fred Schaus of Los Angeles, who coached the West in its convincing 150-130 victory over the veteran East stars in the 12th annual game before 15,112 here on Tuesday night. The East still leads the series 7-5.

"Understand, I'm talking about individuals, not teams," Schaus said. "You have to concede the Boston Celtics still are the best team in basketball."

Bob Pettit, 8-year veteran of the game's most valuable player trophy with a record 27 rebounds. Wilt Chamberlain, the 7-1 Philadelphian who holds a 49-point scoring average, set an NBA All-Star scoring record with 42 points.

The Big Difference

Yet most observers felt the catlike Robertson was the difference with his smooth play making and 14-point third-quarter burst that put the West out of reach.

"Oscar got us running again in the third quarter and that broke open the game," Schaus said, "but I won't argue that Pettit deserved the MVP award. Anytime a man gets 27 rebounds over the heads of Chamberlain and Bill Bill Russell (of Boston), you have to hand it to him."

Pettit had 27 votes from writers, Robertson 11 and Baylor 5.

Baylor, playing on an Army pass from Ft. Lewis, Wash., after a two-week layoff, led the West with 32 points. He admitted "I was tired and a little out of shape." Robertson had 26 points and Pettit 25.

Boston's Red Auerbach, coaching the East for the 6th straight year, thought Cincinnati's Jack Twyman "really killed us" with nine third-quarter points.

The West won last year 153-131.

New Paltz at Rondout Tonight

Rondout Valley Central, still battling for the UCAL championship, will host a dangerous New Paltz five tonight with the jayvee game listed to begin at 6:30 p. m.

The visitors have managed to win only two league games in four starts but they have two high scorers in Ken Freer, All-UCAL during 1960-61, and Woody Osterhoudt.

Rondout doesn't have a high scoring club but specializes in defense. Lynn Johnson is Coach Chick Meehan's biggest offensive threat. The Ganders are 3-1 in circuit competition and need this one to stay in the race.

Mel Farris Wins '325 Class' In State Archery Tournament

Mel Farris of the Kingston Archery Club won first place in the "325 Class" in the New York State indoor archery tournament at the Memorial stadium in Utica last weekend.

Don Bowra, a consistent local winner, placed second in the "400 Class" with a score of 712.

The tournament was a "Chicago" round where a perfect score is 864. It was interesting to note that the higest score of the day was only 756, shot by a sight shooter. Bowra's 712 and Mel Farris' 708 were the second and third highest instinctive scores of the day and ranked seventh and eighth in the entire tournament, including sight shooters.

Several grandparents and eight wheel-chair archers competed in the tournament.

The local archery club is interested in hearing from any persons confined to wheel chairs who might be interested in archery shooting. They are asked to contact Don Bowra or visit the Teen-age canteen on Henry Street on Monday evening. The Kingston archers will be glad to offer instruction and demonstrations to anyone or any interested group.

Newburgh Scores Victory, 76-50

Richie Scott pumped in 27 points and Newburgh Free Academy rolled to its 10th straight win, 76-50, against Our Lady of Lourdes last night at Lincoln Center in Poughkeepsie.

Coach Ed Donohue's Warriors stayed on even terms with the powerful Goldbacks for a half, trailing by only seven points, 34-27, at the intermission. But the visitors found the range in the third and fourth period to win going away.

Scott had nine baskets and nine free throws for his total. John Sileno added 14 and seven other players also scored. Mark Palinski and Gary Henderson paced the Warriors, who are now 3-7 for the season but have improved with each outing.

Arlington Blasts Highland, 85-58

Five quick baskets in the third quarter by Joe Horvath turned a fairly close game into a rout as Arlington High School won at Highland, 85-58, yesterday.

The home side, which won its first game of the season on Friday night, managed its best point production of the season with John DallVechia showing the way with 14 markers.

Horvath, a deadly shooter from outside, had 26 to pace Arlington.

Sports Talk

By CHARLES J. TIANO

Freeman Sports Editor

Louise Jordan is getting her share of tenpin headlines these days.

A week ago she clouted a pair of New Drop League records with a 235 solo and 608 series, the latter a career-first six hundred slam.

It was also disclosed that she now leads three leagues in individual high series. Besides the 608 in the New Drop, she has a 576 in the Community League and a 572 in the Bowlero Mixed.

The size of the scores indicates a new star in the making. The bowling firmament can always use one.

Tenpin Topics, Observations:

A notice in the recent Hudson Valley League statistical sheet left us with a cold, clammy feeling. It read: "There is one team that has not paid any weekly prize money. This team has paid one check but that check was returned to the secretary because the account was closed." What are the HVBL moguls waiting for?

Kingston HVBL entries are making wholesale switches in home drives. Miron Lumber is moving to 5 and 6 at the Bowlero. Three Brothers are camping on 3 and 4 and Charles Ramsey Corp. is going to 19 and 20. The greener pastures, they hope.

JUST A MYTH: Contrary to the popular theory that repeated "taps" indicate a weak ball, we saw Eddie Lubanski leave five 4-pins in one game. A twist of the dial and there was Dick Weber, the new Mr. Moneybags of pro bowling, leaving the 10-pin four times in one set against Don Carter. If you hit the pocket with regularity, you'll leave the key taps 4, 8, 10 and even the seven.

Oster Rolls in Classic:

Jerry Oster will compete in the ABC Classic team division with the Edmond Oldsmobile. Other members of the squad are Joe and Mike Morys, Edmund Gray and Luther Leach, all hometown hotshots.

A likely looking combination is the famed Faber Cement Block of Paramus, N. J. with such worthies as Al Faragalli, Graz Castellano, Tony Sparando, Lou Campi and Stan Marchut.

It's a bit of irony that the only unsponsored team in the American division of the Tavern Association was leading the pack at the halfway mark. That would be Team No. 7 and it figures.

The deadline for entries to the New York State women's tournament, opening in Kingston March 23, is closer than you think. It's Tuesday, Jan. 23, as a matter of fact. Last time we heard the entry total was over the 2,000 mark.

Professionals at Albany

The second leg of the Professional Bowlers Association circuit will be held at the Redwood Lanes in Albany, Jan. 24-27, with the Saturday finals televised nationally at 4:30 p. m. Glenn Allison, winner of the inaugural Empire State Open in 1958, will be on hand. So will Jack Ferraro of Kingston. Now if Jack can just make the semi-finals, everything will be just fine.

Lindy Faragalli of New Jersey moved among the all-time 300 shooters with his tenth at Phelps Manor in Teaneck last month. He tied Pat Paterson of St. Louis. The all-time leader is George Billick of Old Forge, Pa., with 16. Walter Ward of Cleveland is second with 12. Frank Clause of Old Forge and Hank Marino of Milwaukee have 11 each.

First left hand bowler to roll a sanctioned 300 game is Carl R. Long, 26, of Reading, Pa. He is an accountant whose right arm was amputated after it was crushed in an auto accident in 1952. The perfect game wasn't exactly a fluke. A four-night-a-week kegler, Long carries a composite average of 185 and had previous highs of 279 and 686.

The Bowling Proprietors' Association of America has launched a campaign to raise funds for the American Cancer Society during Bowl Down Cancer Week, April 22 to 28. The campaign will be conducted at 6,000 BPAA member lanes and will be coordinated through 48 state associations. The proprietors group is spending a half million dollars in promoting the project.

There's been a happy deluge of female standings and statistics the past few days. Nice to see everybody kept posted.

Floyd, Liston Bout Nearing Reality

NEW YORK (AP) — Tom Bolan, president of Championship Sports, told intimates a month ago that heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson would sign a contract the latter part of this month to meet No. 1 contender Sonny Liston, a boxing source said today.

The source, who did not want to be identified by name, said the proposed title bout probably would be held in New York no later than June.

According to the source, Patterson promised Liston a shot at the title last December through Bolan but never made a public announcement. In recent weeks Patterson reaffirmed that he would fight Liston with Championship Sports promoting, the source said.

Polio Benefit Cage Contests At OCS Saturday

Onteora Central school will be the scene of the annual polio benefit basketball presentation Saturday night with a tripleheader on tap.

In the 7 p. m. opener, two junior high teams will oppose each other. The women faculty will play a girls' athletic association team in the second game and in the final, the men's faculty five will oppose former Onteora Central school stars.

Money made at the games will be given to the March of Dimes. Athletic director Ed Witko is hopeful of another large turnout for this annual attraction.

Crosby Tourney Opens Thursday At Pebble Beach

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Bing Crosby's $50,000 golf production opens Thursday with a bulky field of 324 scattered over three courses and nature providing treacherous problems in a picturesque setting.

Celebrities in fields of entertainment, business, profession and sports team with golfing pros, who also shoot individually for a top prize of $5,300.

Crosby's event formally is known as the National Pro-Amateur, with the field boosted this year to 162 teams. Each pro has an amateur as his partner.

Bob Rosburg, former PGA champion, defends his individual title. He captured last year's event with a 72-hole total of 282.

Pro Wes Ellis teamed with San Francisco attorney Frank Tatum Jr. to take the pro-amateur crown with a best ball score of 252. They are seeking to defend a championship no team has won two years in a row.

Each golfer plays one round over Monterey Peninsula Country Club, Cypress Point and Pebble Beach before the field is reduced for Sunday's final at Pebble Beach.

Fingers are crossed for good weather, but rain is no novelty here, and winds whipping off the Pacific Ocean compound the problems on the trick courses.

Eleven pros who have won the Crosby are in the field. They face a host of young challengers including 1961 amateur champion Jack Nicklaus, Phil Rodgers who won the Los Angeles Open, and Tommy Jacobs who captured the top prize Sunday at San Diego.

Los Angeles Cage Team in Trouble; May Make a Move

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Los Angeles Jets are in trouble in the American Basketball League. Meantime the Cleveland Pipers, who "blew their tops" when they weren't paid Monday, have calmed down.

The final decision on the future of the Jets was to be made today. Their schedule probably will be altered to include some games in Long Beach and Pasadena.

The team has played most of its games on Monday and Tuesday nights, which the league considers undesirable from an attendance standpoint.

There had been talk of the club moving to either Fort Worth or Houston, Tex., or Portland, Ore. But it appeared that the club will stay in Los Angeles.

The Pipers, who lost a 118-110 decision to the Kansas City Steers in Commack, N.Y., Tuesday night, were not paid Monday, their regular payday.

"Some of the players blew their tops," admitted Coach John McLendon, "but it all has been straightened out and we'll play our scheduled game against the Pittsburgh Rens tonight."

He said the payroll would be met today.

In the other game of the doubleheader, the New York Tapers—moved from Washington—made their new home town bow by losing a 105-97 decision to the Rens.

Hodge, chalking up his third shutout of the season, kicked 35 shots out of his nets.

U. S. Bobsledders Now in 10th Place

Garmisch-Partenkirchen, Germany (AP)—United States hopes for a title in the two-man world bobsled championships this weekend today rested on the young shoulders of Gary Sheffield of Lake Placid, N.Y., and the veteran handling of Lloyd Johnson.

With only two days left for practice runs the American team was hard-pressed to catch the veteran German drivers, Franz Schelle and Franz Maurer, and Italy's Segio Zardini. This trio paced Tuesday's runs, with Sheffield and his brakeman, Gerry Tennant, both representing the U.S. Marines, in 10th spot.

Johnson, living in Germany the past few years, has not yet arrived. Veteran Stan Benham of Lake Placid said he will take his spot on the jury and may not even compete in the four-man races the following weekend.

"I want to see how Sheffield does in practice," he said. "He is specializing on two-man sleds and if he doesn't get along in the four-man training next week, I'll take over and drop my seat on the jury."

Sheffield and Tennant had a combined time of 2 minutes, 43.39 seconds Tuesday on two runs of 1:21.44 and 1:21.95. Schelle had a 2:35.96 and Maurer a 2:36.72. Zardini, the crafty little Italian, was only one-hundredth of a second behind Maurer.

Nittany Lions Win Over Colgate Club

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Penn State's Nittany Lions basketball team ran up their highest tally of the season when they mauled visiting Colgate, 80-65, Tuesday night.

The night's victims also included winless Syracuse, which bowed to visiting Cornell, 86-78, despite a near-record, 39-point effort by Orange sophomore Carl Vernick.

Other action involving Upstate colleges included victories by host Cortland State over Alfred, 64-49, and Oneonta State over visiting Griffiss Air Force Base, 84-61.

Penn State, sparked by Captain Gene Harris' 24 points, chalked up its eighth victory against seven defeats. Colgate, led by Bob Duffy with 22 points, now has an 8-5 record.

Syracuse's Vernick rang up the second highest total ever scored at Onondaga County War Memorial auditorium with 39 points. Ironically, the record of 42 points was set by a Cornell man, Chuck Rolles. On Feb. 1, 1956, Rolles tallied 42 points.

Syracuse has 13 defeats this season and 18 in succession over two seasons. Cornell's record is 11-2.

San Antonio, Tex. — Humberto (Lefty) Barrera, Robstown, Tex., outpointed Nacho Escalante, Mexico City, 10. Bantamweights.

Hamond had 16 points and Pleasants 10 for the winners, who are now 3-6 for the season. Onteora will play at Hunter-Tannersville on Saturday.

Delay Possible In Title Bout

LONDON (AP) — A heavy dose of influenza which has knocked out British middleweight Terry Downes today threatened another delay to his championship return fight with America's Paul Pender.

Downes, holder of the disputed world middleweight title is due to meet Pender in Boston next April, but there was speculation the fight might have to be called off again.

Downes took the title from Pender last July. Then he injured a thumb and had to postpone the return bout. He hasn't had a scrap since July.

The Mature Parent

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Children Want to Know What Makes Adults Tick

Dear Mrs. Lawrence:

My two-year old grandson is a handful to manage, very active and with a will of his own. When he's at home, he minds better than when his parents leave him with me.

I can tell him three times to leave the electric toaster alone and the moment my back is turned, he's back at it.

My daughter tells me to slap his hands when he disobeys, but as I think a child's parents are the only ones who should slap him, I hesitate to do this. My own children were both girls and. . . .

Answer: Put the toaster out of his reach. If he grabs other things you don't want him to touch, runs away or otherwise disobeys, grab him and hold him until he gets the message and quiets down. Have interesting things about that he can investigate, such as old alarm clocks, balls of string, cartons, etc.

Your little grandson doesn't want to haress you. He wants to discover whether you mean what you say. He wants to know what you're like inside.

Just as he insists on exploring toasters and puddles, he must also explore people. For in the toddler's world, things are always turning out to be other than they seem to be.

He shakes an old alarm clock that seems to be quiet—and astonishing rattles result. The cat we've told him to pet darts out a claw and gives him a scratch. He steps on a stone—and the ground he thought was safe rises up and hits him.

Appearances, he is busily learning, are deceiving. So, if he is intelligent, he pays little attention to a command like "Don't play with the toaster" until we make our wish for obedience real for him by making it impossible for him to play with it.

We can't behave like old alarm clocks with toddlers. We have to be what we appear to be.

If we are going to make noises like Authority, we have to back up the noises with action so that our words and our deeds become all of one piece to him. Then he can trust us.

The trouble is, we confuse the toddler's need to explore our character with defiance. We take his probings into the quality of our fimness as our personal and particular problem. It isn't. He investigates everything.

The Rosendale Republican Club will hold its first meeting of the year Tuesday 8 p. m. at the Grange Hall, Main Street. A large attendance is expected.

Rochester Town Appointments Are Named by Board

The Town of Rochester Town Board held its first meeting of the year, Jan. 4, at the town clerk's office in Accord.

Newly elected Democratic Councilman Joseph Lee and newly elected Town Clerk Eileen Baker were welcomed by Supervisor A. Richard Terwilliger (R). All board members, Highway Superintendent Richard Gray and Town Clerk Eileen Baker were present.

Board Organizes

The first part of the meeting was devoted to the annual organization and making of appointments and resolutions.

It was voted by resolution that voting would take place by closed ballot.

Welfare Officer, Lester Coddington. Enforcement Officer and Multiple Residence Law Officer, Howard Terwilliger. Dog Warden, Arthur Crose. Town Attorney, Saul Altholz. Constables Grant Schoonmaker, Joseph Avery, Wallace Baker Jr., and Hyman Bank. Grievance Board of Multiple Residence Law, Max Geller, Percy Greene, William Anderson, Lee Osterhoudt, Nathan Trowbridge.

Rosewitha Davis was named town historian. Hyman Banks was named Civil Defense Director; Lillian DiPasqua, deputy town clerk and Eileen Baker, registrar of vital statistics.

Salaries Listed

Supervisor, A. Richard Terwilliger $2,000. Tax Collector LeRoy Kelder $1,400. Superintendent of Highways Richard Gray $5,250. Town Clerk Eileen Baker $2,500. Justices of the Peace Abe Smith and Raymond Lawrence $1,500 each.

Councilmen Morris Sims and Joseph Lee $900 each. Assessors Sam Waruch, chairman, $1,800 and Assessors Harry Krom and Harold Bush $1,200 each. Secretary to assessors on audit. Welfare Officer Lester Coddington $1,200. Enforcement Officer and Multiple Residence Law Howard Terwilliger $750. Secretary to Enforcement Officer Margaret Marshall $350. Dog Warden Arthur Crose $600. Town Attorney Saul Althoz on audit.

Following the organization session the regular board meeting was held. After minutes of the previous meeting had been approved and bills audited the town highway superintendent gave his report.

A request was presented from Bern and Addis asking the town pave over a road in a development in the Granite area. The road fulfills the qualifications for becoming a town road.

Supervisor Terwilliger called for a special meeting to discuss the situation at Cherrytown Iron bridge which has been officially closed.

Urges Planning Body

Councilman Morris Sims suggested that a planning committee be appointed by the Town Board and include owners of businesses in the town. This planning committee would promote the efficiency and growth of the community. He requested the matter be considered and that further discussion with more details be had at a future meeting.

Fred Doscher requested Supervisor Terwilliger write to the Bureau of Traffic Control in Albany asking for a review and reduction of speed in the speed zone on the curves of Route 209 approaching and in front of the Accord bridge. Such speed zone would lessen the danger of accidents at the scene.

1958 Car Located

Bone-Chilling Cold Keeps Wide Section in Freezer

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bone-chilling cold stung broad areas of the nation's northern midsection today and freezing weather spread deep into parts of the South.

-40 in Minnesota

The core of the arctic air held an icy grip over North Dakota and Minnesota. Temperatures fell to nearly 40 degrees below zero in International Falls, Minn., on the Canadian border. It was 37 below this morning after a high of -14 Tuesday in the northern Minnesota city.

Freezing weather chilled Southern sections as far as central Texas and eastward through Arkansas, Tennessee, much of North Carolina and in parts of Georgia and Alabama.

The subzero belt stretched across the northern and northern central Plains, the Upper Mississippi Valley and the western Great Lakes region. Some ice-box readings: -30 in Duluth, Minn. -20 in Minneapolis; -28 in Minot, N.D.; -26 in Fargo, N.D., and Alexandria, Minn.; -22 in Bismarck, N.D. and -16 in Eau Claire, Wis.

No Break Indicated

No immediate break in the severe cold was indicated. Even colder temperatures were expected in the frigid belt. Cold wave warnings were issued for northern Ohio, western Pennsylvania and western New York. Weather Bureau forecasters said the icy air will hold tight through the Middle Mississippi Valley, the Ohio Valley and the middle Atlantic states.

Chicago had its second straight morning of subzero weather with the mercury dropping to -5. It was 5 degrees lower in nearby Joliet, Ill.

Temperatures in the South ran from 20 in Crossville, Tenn., 27 in Birmingham, Ala., 29 in Augusta, Ga., Memphis, Tenn., and Asheville, N.C., to 31 in Atlanta.

Temperatures dropped into the 30s in parts of northern Florida, mild weather continued in southern sections, with readings in the 60s.

Who's Chasing Who

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) —Was T. J. Bailey harassing the ducks on Lake Overholser or was it the other way around?

It took a justice of the peace court jury just 45 seconds to decide after hearing this testimony Tuesday:

Clay Boyd, state game and wildlife officer, and Ace Marrs, a municipal lake patrolman, said they saw Bailey drive his motor boat recklessly into a flock of ducks.

Bailey said the ducks were chasing him.

Kingston Town Job Applications Open Until 26th

The resignation of Town of Kingston Constable William McGinnis was received and accepted with regret at the regular monthly meeting of the town board held at town hall Monday night.

Applications for town constable and custodian of the town honor roll will be received by members of the town board until Jan. 26, when a meeting of the board will be held in the town hall at 6:30 p. m., to act on applications.

Discuss Car Purchase

At the meeting Monday the board discussed the purchase of a police car for the town but no action was taken on the proposition.

All board members together with several interested taxpayers were present at the meeting, as well as Town Attorney Francis Vogt.

The matter of payment of highway bills of the road superintendent, recently resigned, will be investigated by the town attorney. Town bills were audited and ordered paid.

Town law pertaining to town constables was read and explained by Attorney Vogt. It was explained that under Section 39 of the Town Law, a town constable may not attach or use a siren on his privately owned vehicle, nor attach thereto a sign reading "police" notwithstanding that such vehicle is used in the performance of his official duties. No light other than white or yellow may be displayed on a motor vehicle owned by a town constable so as to be visible from a point directly in front of the vehicle.

Councilman Robert Vinson reported on recreation insurance for town property.

Committee on Ordinance, Councilman Robert Vinson.

Committee on Speed Limit, Councilman John Kloepping.

Committee on repair of honor roll, Supervisor George J. Leedecke, Lyndon Seaver and William Ferguson, taxpayers.

A resolution was offered by Supervisor Leedecke that an inventory of each town office be made and filed with Town Clerk Paul W. Burton.

A meeting will be held Tuesday, Feb. 6, at 8 p. m., at the town hall for the purpose of auditing town bills.

Speed Padding Probe

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Henry I. Fineberg, executive vice president of the New York State Medical Society, says it is speeding the handling of cases of physicians charged with padding their bills.

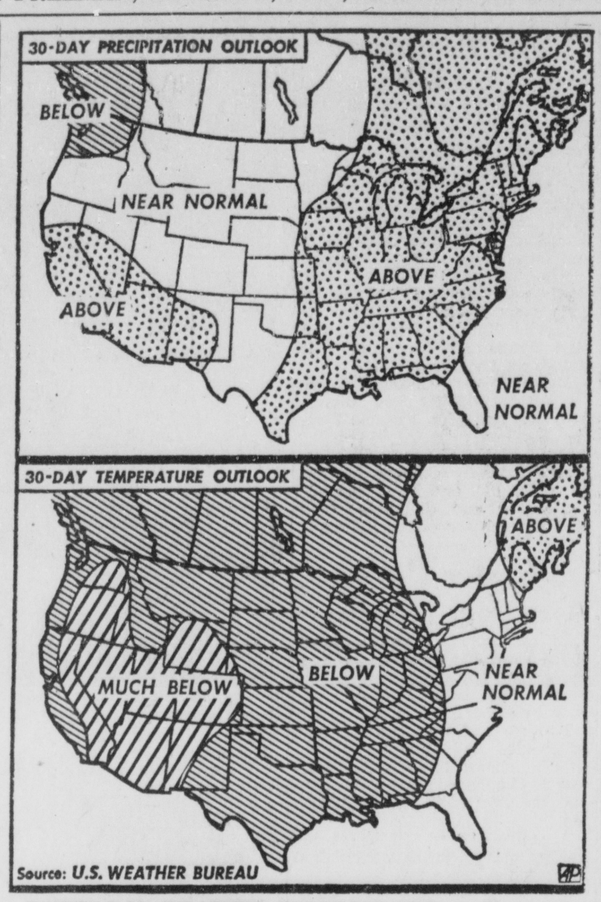

However, he says, it will "take several years for the society's grievance committee to handle all of the cases before it."

Fineberg held a news conference Tuesday to outline the society's efforts to eliminate fraud and deceit in the profession.

The state division of professional conduct reported last week that 1,300 New York metropolitan area physicians faced charges of professional misconduct for allegedly inflating bills used as bases for claims in accident cases.

Despite U. S. Objections

Britain to Proceed With Peiping Sale

LONDON (AP) — Overriding American objections, Britain will go ahead with sales of six Viscount jet airliners to Red China, government officials report.

They said a reported U.S. ban on an American firm's supplying certain parts for the six planes will not hold up the sales since the equipment can be obtained from other suppliers.

Frederick G. Dutton, U.S. assistant secretary of state for congressional relations, said in a letter to Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., that an American firm whose British subsidiary supplies navigational and radar equipment for Viscounts had been warned not to supply the equipment for the six airliners.

Dutton said the parts are strategic materials banned from sale to Red China.

The British position, sources here said, is that the gear is subject to such control only in a quantitative sense because it would only be disadvantageous to sell it to the Reds in large numbers. The airliners themselves are not embargoed for sale to the Communist bloc.

The United States and Britain have long been at odds on the matter of trade with the Communist Chinese regime, which Britain recognizes and the United States does not.

Racial Quota Hit

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York City Board of Education is accused in a federal court suit of using a "racial quota" policy in assigning students to high schools.

This policy, the suit contends, has resulted in the assigning of approximately 90 per cent of the Negro pupils to 20 per cent of the city's high schools.

The school board denied such a policy exists.

The suit was filed yesterday in behalf of Sheldon Rector, a 15-year-old Negro junior high school graduate; his mother, and "all Negro and Puerto Rican children similarly situated."

Coast Church Robbed

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Two gunmen in business suits and porkpie hats robbed the First Presbyterian church of more than $1,000 Tuesday night.

Nearly 200 persons were attending "new members' night" on the floor below when the robbers entered the church's business office and forced the business manager, Robert Bruce Young Jr., to open the safe. They carried automatics, and one stood guard in the doorway while the other rummaged through cash boxes with his gloved hand.

Illinois to Take Over Fire Probe, Confession Told

CHICAGO (AP)—The state's attorney's office has taken over the investigation of a 13-year-old boy who allegedly confessed he started the fire at Our Lady of the Angels School which killed 92 children and 3 nuns in 1958.

State's Atty. Daniel Ward said the boy will be brought into Family Court and a delinquency petition is expected to be filed.

The boy is not under arrest or police guard. No charges have been filed against the youth and authorities have declined to disclose his name.

The boy, now an eighth-grade public pupil in suburban Cicero, was in the fifth grade in the Chicago Roman Catholic school at the time of the fire, Dec. 1, 1958.

Ward declined to disclose the substance of the delinquency petition, saying he did not want to comment on the case because it might prejudice the interests "of the people or the boy."

The Chicago Tribune, in a copyright story Tuesday, said the boy admitted setting the school fire to John E. Reid, who runs a lie detection service, last Friday. But neither Reid nor Ward would say whether the boy has made a confession.

Accord Resident Seeks Damages For Injured Hand

Michael Vurchio Jr., of Accord is seeking damages from Irving Tepper of Kerhonkson for injuries to his hand which plaintiff alleges he sustained while at the Ship Gally back in February 1958.

Vurchio, a mason, alleges his hand was broken when he struck a machine in the Tepper tavern where a partron, Roger DePuy, had engaged in a fight with Tepper. Vurchio charges that Tepper was negligent in not maintaining order in the place and seeks damages under the theory of negligence.

Says Door Blocked

In Supreme Court before Justice Louis G. Bruhn, Vurchio testified he had gone to the tavern on business and after using a telephone attempted to leave the premises.

DePuy and two companions entered the place and although he attempted to leave, the entrance was blocked and during an altercation he attempted to defend himself and was struck by DePuy.

In some manner his hand struck a machine in the place and his hand was fractured. He testified he was unable to go to work at Napanoch Institution because of the hand injury and that the injury presently continued to hamper use of the hand.

After the fight in the tavern, state police were called. DePuy was removed from the place by companions and Tepper locked the place until troopers arrived. Vurchio testified that after arrival of the troopers he left the tavern and while outside perferring a charge of assault against DePuy he was struck by DePuy.

Philip Korn appears for plaintiff.

Does Not Recall

During cross examination by defendant's counsel, Lavery, Lauterbach and Babchak, Vurchio was asked if he had not testified on a prior occasion that he had been injured when he went to the assistance of Tepper who was being attacked by DePuy. He said he did not recall former testimony but was engaged in defending himself when the injury took place. He said after being injured he did not strike DePuy but "hugged" him to prevent further injury until DePuy was removed from the premises and state police summoned.

The case is being tried before a jury.

Military Coup Is Charged In D. R., Balaguer Quits

MAYORS MEET—A meeting of New York State mayors in Rochester split down party lines over a statement challenging the Diefendorf Committee staff report on state aid to education. The statement, issued by the Democratic mayors, said the committee's proposal "continues to ignore the need of the large cities." From left: Mayor John Flynn, Yonkers; Mayor Erastos Corning II, Albany; Mayor Robert Wagner, New York City; Henry Dutcher, Rochester city manager; Mayor Henry Gilette, Rochester; Dr. Max Rubin, president of New York City board of education; and Dr. Robert Springer, superintendent of the Rochester board of education. Explosion Clue To Vanished B47

PLATTSBURGH, N. Y. (AP)—A report of a pre-dawn explosion near Watertown gave searchers a possible clue today to the fate of a B47 jet bomber that vanished with its crew of four.

Air Force planes scoured snow-covered, hilly farmland southeast of Watertown after a woman who lives about 10 miles from the city reported that, at 2:15 a.m. Tuesday, she heard a plane flying low and then a blast that jarred her house, beside Route 177.

The B47 had been expected to return to Plattsburgh at 7 a. m, Tuesday and had fuel enough to last until 8:30 a. m. Watertown is 133 air miles southwest of Plattsburgh.

Violence Pressures Decision

4 Killed, Score Hurt in Rioting

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Pressured by bloody rioting, President Joaquin Balaguer resigned Tuesday night and a new civil-military junta was sworn in to rule this troubled Caribbean island nation.

The junta was installed at the National Palace several hours after air force tank troops fired into a defiant crowd of hundreds in the heart of the capital, killing at least four persons and wounding a score more.

Shots Touch Off Riots

The shooting touched off the most violent rioting in the city in months, and demands mounted for the resignations of Balaguer and his armed forces chief, Air Force Gen. Pedro Rodriguez Echavarria, who had been accused of planning to set up a military dictatorship.

(News dispatches from Santo Domingo were subject to censorship and made no mention of the fate of Gen. Rodriguez Echavarria. However, he told newsmen of the government change and Balaguer's resignation after a long emergency meeting of the State Council, and it was assumed he was still in control of the armed forces.)

Seven in Junta

The junta — four civilians and three military men — took over the government from the all-civilian seven-man council which had ruled for only 16 days. The council, headed by Balaguer, was installed Jan. 1 to guide the nation for 13 months toward its first free elections after 31 years of iron-fisted rule by the late dictator, Generalissimo Rafael L. Trujillo.

The change in government drew immediate fire from the National Civic Union, the largest anti-Trujillo faction, and leader of the opposition to Balaguer. A spokesman called it a military coup d'etat and said all Civic Union members in government posts would resign. However, associates of one of them, Foreign Minister Antonio Bonilla Atiles, said he had no plans to step out.

Rules Until 1963

Radio Caribe, a government station, said the new junta will rule until Feb. 27, 1963, the date Balaguer had set for an elected government to take over.

Project Is for $2,409,000

Rosendale Approves Flood Control Work

A $2,409,000 project for flood control in the Rosendale area of Rondout Creek, which is part of a $5,948,000 program approved by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, North Atlantic Division, was unanimously approved Tuesday night at a meeting of the Rosendale Flood Control Committee.

The Army Engineers, according to U. S. Senator Kenneth B. Keating who last week disclosed the $5,948,000 project approval, recommended in a report to Washington authorization for construction of local protection works on the Beer Kill, Fantine Kill, Ellenville, on North Gully at Ellenville and on Rondout Creek at Rosendale.

Costs Are Included

The recommendation also included $29,600 annually for operation, maintenance and replacement costs.

The recommendation also includes provisions requiring local interests to protect the channels, ponding areas, other flood agencies from encroachment and to bear a portion of the costs of construction, maintenance, operation and replacement, Senator Keating said.

Follows Wharton Report

The approval action followed a report from Congressman J. Ernest Wharton to the Rosendale Flood Control Committee last week informing the group that the Army Engineers' report was complete and sent to Washington.

The Engineers' report was authorized in resolutions adopted by the Senate public works committee late in 1955, Senator Keating said. He explained that Congress must approve the project and appropriate money before work can begin.

The Rosendale flood control project was submitted by the village officials in June 1960 and accepted by the Army Engineers. The program involves Rondout Creek between LeFever Falls and the Route 32 bridge, according to William P. Curran, counsel for the Rosendale committee.

Curran noted that the project

Agree on School Need

Conflict Is On Method Of Giving

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Almost-unanimous agreement that state spending for schools should be increased but sharp conflict on how it should be done marked the Diefendorf Committee's public hearing today on its staff recommendations.

Parents, teachers, school-board officials, representatives of local governments and others assembled for the hearing shared the view the staff program did not go far enough in meeting financial needs of public schools.

Big cities, led by New York and Buffalo, protested that the staff proposals, if adopted by the Legislature, would be unfair to them and overly solicitous of rural schools.

Point to 'Error'

Others among the 70 scheduled speakers echoed Gov. Rockefeller's view that the staff erred in using the traditional yardstick of real-estate valuation in measuri the wealth of school districts.

The governor has said that a district's ability to raise money through income, sales or other non-property taxes also should be taken into consideration in determining its ability to support its own schools and its need for state help.

The staff committee recommended that districts be authorized to levy non-property taxes to relieve property-owners but the Republican - controlled Legislature has long opposed this plan and its opposition is particularly intense in this election year.

The Diefendorf staff proposal for pegging state aid to an annual per-pupil cost of $500 also came under fire.

To Draft Views

After today's hearing, held in a downtown Albany hotel, the Diefendorf Committee will draft its own, final recommendations and submit these to the Legislature.

Because of the wide, divergence of opinion on how school-aid formulas should be revised, it now is uncertain whether any major changes will be adopted this year by the Legislature.

In any event, it is expected that state aid to schools, now $800 million a year, will be increased by at least $100 million, regardless of how it is divided.

At present, districts and the state share a cost of $389 per pupil.

State aid to education now takes a third of all state spending. Educators have said they see no end of rising school costs so long as enrollments keep going up.

Local school districts raise nearly $1 billion, practically all in real-estate taxes, as their share of education costs.

No Halt Underground

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States plans a determined new effort in the next round of disarmament negotiations to get the Soviet Union to agree to a treaty banning nuclear weapons tests under an international inspection system, officials said today.

The United States will go ahead, meanwhile, with its program of underground test explosions, and the probability is that in the next couple of months President Kennedy will make a final decision to conduct nuclear tests in the atmosphere.

Informants said today that the present trend of administration thinking is strongly in favor of atmospheric tests aimed at improving U.S. nuclear weapons performance and developing an anti-missile missile.

Next Round March 14

The next round of disarmament negotiations is expected to open in Geneva March 14. The date and place are tentative pending approval of the 18 nations which will participate in the conference under U.N. auspices.

Nuclear test ban talks, which opened at Geneva almost three years ago, came to a dead end Tuesday.

However, the United States and Britain stopped just short of making a final break in the negotiations with Moscow. Representatives of the two Western powers told the Soviet delegation their governments were willing to take up the test ban problem as part

Nixon's Chances Enhanced

Knight Out, Coast Squabble Tightens

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Goodwin J. Knight's exit from the 1962 campaign tightened up California's race for governor today.

Political leaders differed on the eventual effect, but most agreed it enhanced Richard M. Nixon's already bright chances for the Republican nomination.

No Slugfest Now

Knight, 65, announced Tuesday he would not file for his old job in the June 5 primary. He was stricken last November by infectious hepatitis—a liver disease. His doctor, he said, advised against a strenuous campaign.

The decision by the colorful ex-governor removed the prospect of a Republican slugfest between Nixon and Knight, who had pledged a "real gloves-off fight."

It installed a hard-charging state assemblyman, Joseph C. Shell, 43, of Los Angeles, as Nixon's chief challenger on the Republican ticket.

Shell, an avowed conservative, has been making evident headway against Nixon's early commanding lead in polls. A wealthy oilman, he has delivered at least 400 talks throughout the state while Nixon has been busy on a book and other matters.

Another Makes Bid

A third GOP candidate, former Lt. Gov. Harold J. (Butch) Powers, made a pitch for Knight's votes, saying "he and I always saw eye to eye." Knight, governor from 1953 through 1958, remained silent on whether he'll take sides in the Republican primary.

Democrats probably were disappointed by Knight's action. They had hoped that a serious cleavage in Republican ranks would help Gov. Edmund G. Brown in November.

Brown, who is expected to announce his own candidacy next Wednesday, got a lift in 1958 when Knight gave up his bid for re-election under heavy Republican pressure and handed the party's nomination for governor to former Sen. William F. Knowland. Brown defeated Knowland by more than a million votes.

The Democratic governor said the latest development means that the moderates voting on the Republican primary "apparently are left without a candidate."

In his statement Knight said: "It is with greatest regret that I now follow the advice of my doctor. I shall not file as a candidate for governor in March."

Nixon, in a statement, extended his sympathy to Knight and best wishes for his recovery.

"I know," he said, "this is a difficult blow to a man who has been such a vigorous and tireless campaigner."

Carlino Claims Affidavit False on Control of Him

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlino says one of the key affidavits in the fallout-shelter conflict-of-interest case against him is false.

The embattled legislative leader made the statement to newsmen yesterday after he had appared for the first time before the Assembly Committee on Ethics, which is investigating the Carlino case.

Carlino testified under subpoena, although he has said he was willing to testify at any time. The meeting was closed.

The affidavit by Warren C. Adams, president of the Adams Manufacturing Co. of Camden, Tenn., quoted officials of a fallout-shelter firm as saying in 1960 they had Carlino "in our hip pocket."

The New York Times quoted Adams today as saying in a telephone interview from his Camden home that Carlino and some of his associates were trying to ruin him because of the affidavit.

"Everything I stated in the affidavit is absolutely true," Adams was quoted as saying, "and I shall be happy to testify at any time that the committee calls me."

Mark Lane, a Democratic assemblyman from Manhattan, has accused Carlino of a conflict of interest because he was a director of the firm, Lancer Industries Inc., when Gov. Rockefeller's school fallout - shelter program was passed by the Legislature last November.

Carlino said Tuesday the Adams affidavit was "tailored" to fit the facts that existed in 1961. It would have been impossible for such facts to have been available to anyone in 1960, Carlino said. He also noted that no one had corroborated Adams' statement.

"Completely false and perlurious," Carlino said of the affidavit.

Carlino also confirmed reports that two of his lawyer friends had gone to Camden last week to investigate Adams' background. Adams has said the men posed as New York investigators and began a smear campaign against him. He implied they were trying to scare him from testifying.

Adams had been engaged by Lancer as a subcontractor to manufacture fallout shelters but the agreement later was terminated.

Strict secrecy surrounded the Ethics Committee meeting. Several hours before, the chairman, Assemblyman Donald A. Campbell, R - Amsterdam, said no formal meeting of the committee was planned.

Carlino's office announced that he was testifying shortly after Carlino had entered the meeting, held in an office in the Capitol.

No date has been fixed for a public hearing.

An additional $20,000 was added by the Legislature Tuesday to the committee's regular appropriation of $5,000.

Molotov Charged As Opponent of K's Coexistence

MOSCOW (AP)— Pravda today accused former Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov of waging dogmatic and stubborn opposition to Premier Khrushchev's policy of peaceful coexistence.

The attack in the Soviet Communist party newspaper was the first propaganda blast against the old Bolshevik since the Soviet government announced Jan. 8 that he would return to his former post as permanent Soviet representative to the International Atomic Energy Agency in Vienna.

Battle Still Raging

The blast was so strong that foreign observers in Moscow felt the battle against Molotov and his so-called anti-party group could still be under way.

"Lenin's views on questions of foreign policy," said Pravda, "and above all on problems of war, peace and peaceful coexistence are being distorted not only by

Massacre Is Linked to Same Group That Slew 13 Airmen

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — The United Nations displayed concern today over reports of the massacre and mutilation of from 18 to 20 Roman Catholics by bands of Congolese troops and youths at Kongolo, in North Katanga.

Reports received by the U.N. said 20 European priests were killed. Vatican representatives said, however, 17 European priests and a lay brother were the victims.

Neither the United Nations nor the central Congolese government could confirm the report of an African seminarian who fled from Kongolo after the attack. But in passing the account on to Premier Cyrille Adoula the United Nations noted that the story was told under oath in the presence of the Roman Catholic bishop for Kivu Province.

The seminarian said the troops were inflamed against the Roman Catholic priests because they were "poisoning the minds" of young people in the area.

The priests—believed all Belgians—were lashed, the report said, and shot by the troops; their bodies mutilated by the youth groups; then thrown into a nearby river by young seminarians who had been arrested by the soldiers and forced to assist.

No nuns were attacked, according to the report.

The troops involved apparently were the same contingent that massacred 13 Italian U.N. airmen in Kindu last November. Normally based in Stanleyville, they were sent by leftist leader Antoine Gizenga to invade North Katanga, and since their rampage in Kindu have been cohsidered a disorderly, undisciplined band under no one's control.

Schwenk Is Not Debating On Jobs, Says He's Busy

Mayor John J. Schwenk in reply to charges issued Tuesday by Attorney William A. Kelly as county Democratic chairman today said he is more concerned with his job as mayor than involvement in political argument.

Kelly charged that the mayor has "indiscriminately fired" city employes and he hit at proposed legislation that would create the posts of executive assistant and stenographer in the mayor's office. He did not list any departmental changes made but some were reported by other sources today.

The Democratic chairman also proposed appointment of former Mayor Edwin F. Radel or F. William Sheehan, of the Veterans Administration, as urban renewal director.

Mayor Schwenk, in his reply, said: "The political campaign ended last November. My main concern now is to give the city a good administration and not engage in a series of charges and counter charges."

Kelly charged the mayor with acting illegally in his first 15 days in office in a move to create "an assistant mayor by dictatorial appointment." The mayor, he held, realizing a law violation was involved sought the change through legislation "to create this wholly unnecessary position." Obligations and responsibilities of the post, he claimed, are actually those of the mayor. He felt the council will not approve the change.

In addition, he charged, "in his frantic search for jobs for his political cronies, the mayor has indiscriminately fired a number of employes not because they were not doing a good job, but merely because they were Democrats." In some instances, he held, the changes were made "in callous disregard of their closeness to retirement age under the social security law."

In contrast, he claimed, former Mayor Radel, kept on a man for over a year to gain retirement benefits. He charged that in one case involving Mayor Schwenk the employe had only months to go.

City boards involved, he held, were not consulted, and he claims that Schwenk "has shown his contempt for the law

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—That great institution, the circus, in recent years has fallen upon hard times. Other forms of entertainment, including broadcasts, reached parts of the country that once depended upon an occasional visit of the traveling tent shows.

But now, in the measured opinion of Emmett Kelly, probably the nation's most famous clown, television is reviving interest in the big shows.

Kelly, whose "Weary Willie" character has delighted cotton candy-eating crowds for two generations, said that around 1950 he felt the circus had really "started to go." Crowds were no longer turning out, circuses were combining and sometimes not even leaving winter quarters.

"But now things seem to be picking up," he continued. "People seem to want to go to the circus again. And I think TV is completely responsible — particularly because the children are interested."

Kelly will be narrator Sunday night of a Project 20 documentary showing behind-the-scenes circus life on NBC's "Show of the Week."

ABC will follow NBC's lead by running full length feature films regularly in prime time. Starting April 8, the network will put old movies with big star names in a two-hour spot on the Sunday evening schedule. There are reports that the plan will dislodge "Bus Stop" and "Adventures in Paradise," neither of which have been getting good audience ratings.

NBC's Saturday night movies—two hours of old films—have done fairly well, but their popularity seems to rise and fall with the quality of the movie and the size of the movie-star names involved.

ABC's decision to go ahead on Jan. 23 with the taped comedy special made by Ernie Kovacs shortly before his death could be a mistake in view of the tragic circumstances. It will be difficult for viewers to catch the spirit of his comedy. It may be a pretty morbid half hour.

Recommended tonight: Perry Como Show, NBC, 9-10 (EST)—Polly Bergen is guest star; Circle Theater, CBS, 10-11 — "Securities Are for Suckers," about stock forgeries.

Budget Hearing Falls Back to School Subsidy

HARRISBURG (AP)—The legislative budget hearing returned to the controversial public school subsidy today.

The Department of Public Instruction was called before the joint House and Senate Appropriations Committees to discuss the remainder of the $487.4 million spending for education in Gov. Lawrence's $1 billion general fund budget for 1962-63.

The department, which began its testimony Monday, yielded its place Tuesday to permit the committees to take up Lawrence's $41.1 million request for the state-aided universities.

It produced the first public airing of the proposed new aid program for Temple University, an airing that indicated the opposition to the program was overrated.

Heated Controversy Marks Penn. Hearing

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Pennsylvania Pharmacy Board will resume hearings Jan. 29 on the heated controversy over a license application from the Bazaar of Nations in Delaware County.

The board scheduled the new hearing Tuesday after a day-long session of testimony marked by fiery exchanges between two board members and a state senator acting as counsel for Bazaar of Nations.

The senator, Benjamin R. Donolow, D-Philadelphia, touched off the fireworks almost as soon as the hearing got underway, then threatened to call for a state police investigation of the board.

Atty. Gen. David Stahl apparently managed to smooth things over however, because by the afternoon session, Donolow withdrew his threat.

Group Concerned With Truck Ban On Rural Roads

Closing of many rural roads to trucks during the spring is an increasingly critical problem to thousands of farm families and should receive the attention of the current session of the New York State Legislature, according to a resolution unanimously adopted by the New York State Highway Users Conference.

Fred H. Sexauer of Auburn, chairman of the conference, in announcing the resolution today, said that the posting of roads is creating hardships both for those performing delivery services to the state's large agricultural population and for the farmers themselves. The Highway Users Conference resolution gives recognition to the growing problem of posted roads and calls for the amendment of certain sections of the vehicle and traffic law of the state. The amendment would provide that, upon application by any vehicle operator, permits may be issued to use such posted roads as is deemed necessary for the performance of essential local services.

Sexauer explained that each spring, state roads in many areas are "posted" so that vehicles over a certain weight are not allowed to use them for an unstated period of time. The major agricultural industry, dairy farming, has been particularly hard hit by these postings since it is essential to handle milk daily, and a growing number of dairymen are having their milk hauled by tank trucks directly from the farm to processing plants. Also, more farmers are taking their feed and grain supplies in bulk deliveries, he said.

The problem of posting, said the conference chairman, also affects a growing number of people moving to rural areas who use fuel oil for heating. The conference, composed of 17 statewide organizations, believes that some form of relief is needed to prevent these hardships from continuing, he concluded.

Special System

A special radio-telephone communications system is used on the New York State Thruway to control all State Police patrol cars, emergency service vehicles, maintenance and toll collection cars and administrative vehicles.

Moses Is Booed At Hearing for Mitchel Future

MITCHEL FIELD, N.Y. (AP)—Long Island State Parks Commissioner Robert Moses was ruled out of order Tuesday as he criticized the conduct of hearings to determine the future of abandoned Mitchel Air Force Base.

Boos and catcalls dotted his appearance before the Federal Aviation Agency panel in the first of two days of hearings. At issue is whether a portion of the 1,112-acre site should contain a 540-acre general airport.

Moses was gaveled down by hearing chairman Oscar Bakke as he said "there has been nothing remotely approaching a judicial attitude on the part of this agency..."

There followed a heated exchange in which Bakke said:

"I invite you to continue testimony directed constructively toward the issue before us at this proceedings, namely, the feeling of the community toward an airport at Mitchel Field."

Moses countered that "in the course of 40 years in public work, I have never heard of an instance where a chairman refused to put something in the record."

About 67,000 disabled vehicles are furnished with emergency service along the New York State Thruway each year. The super-highway is patrolled night and day.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JANUARY 17, 1962

PRELUDE TO MASTERY

The history of the human race can be written in terms of man's efforts to control and rise above his environment. One might wish that man would get on with this task, and stop devoting so much energy to feuds and disputes and wars. All this energy would be more profitably used in the battle to master the natural world.

These thoughts come to mind as a result of the storms which have brought the cold wrath of the elements down upon an enormous expanse of the United States. Such manifestations of nature in a rough mood are a reminder that, though man is able to contend successfully with his environment, he is very far from controlling it.

Scientists dream of mastering the weather. Already they are able to see future weather with considerable accuracy. The U. S. weather satellites have given them a valuable new tool for prediction. There is talk among the experts, now, that in time mankind may be able to "play" the weather as he would some planet-sized organ.

Granted that uncertainty as to tomorrow's weather adds zest to life, this dream is a pleasant one. The January storms reaching from South to North and across a vast section of the Middle West caused much hardship and required an expenditure of energy—human energy, and the fuel energy of machines and heating units—that cannot be measured. It would be a wonderful thing were man able to moderate such storms.

The other advantages of weather control are obvious. Billions of dollars and untold human labor could be saved. But the chances that this will ever come about are slim as long as men devote so much of their time to fighting and preparations for more fighting. If only man could learn better control of himself, control of his environment would be well on the way from dream to reality.

HOW TYRANTS OPERATE

The late Henry L. Mencken, a good deal of a poseur as well as a writer who excelled in puncturing stuffed shirts, once made a remark which explains much of the Russian policy. He said, "The whole aim of practical politics is to keep the public alarmed, and hence clamorous to be led to safety."

The restrictions that communism imposes on its subjects would be intolerable, were they not represented as absolutely necessary in view of dangers from without. Any insistence on a higher standard of living can be put down if it is stated that, without sacrifices, an unrelenting enemy would enslave the Russian people. Hitler used the same technique; he justified his oppressions by proclaiming that Germany was in peril, and could be saved only if the people were willing to endure hardship.

Thus a tyrant appeals not only to the instinct of self-preservation, but to that of patriotism. In World War II, for example, Stalin recalled the achievements of Peter the Great, and of the Russian resistance to Napoleon.

All this leads to a general conclusion that help to place the Soviet Union in perspective. The important thing is not so much what Khrushchev says, as why he says it.

THE CHANCE IS REMOTE

Coming to wider attention is a relatively new school classroom device which is supposed to measure how well a student audience understands what the teacher is saying.

Under this "responder" system, each student can signal electronically his response to an instructor's questions and statements. The teacher can at a glance get an evaluation of the whole group's grasp of the material, and slow down if he seems to be moving too fast.

So far nobody has proposed installing such a system in the U. S. House and Senate to gauge how well our lawmakers may understand the bills they act upon.

If it comes to that, and we get honest electronic answers, the legislative mills may grind far more slowly in future than they do now.

'These Days'

THINGS DO HAPPEN!

The other night, I went to the Metropolitan Opera House to hear the Walkuere, which, if you do not know, Richard Wagner took out of the Volsungs and Niblungs and wrote a series of opera about. It takes enormous energy to sing any of the music in the Ring, first because Wagner had no mercy for singers, expecting them to blow themselves to bits and secondly because it is undoubtedly the most glorious music ever written if you can understand what it is all about.

Richard Wagner's concept of the opera was that it united all the arts into a single idea. However, the night I went, the star lost her voice and they substituted another, poor dear, who had not enough wind to carry Wagner across the mountain which he expects a soprano to do. Of course, Flagstad had no problems because nature built her that way and all went well until Walter Winchell called Flagstad a Nazi.

So the night I went to hear the Walkuere, they had a real German Wotan, with all the muscles and stomach that is required for such a character but a bug got him and his voice was not what it should have been — an accident that shows what can happen to an actor who plays a god. So they got another Wotan, gods being available in these days as in those and the curtain went up and everyone was happy.

Wotan was doing pretty well until he — the second one — lost his voice or forgot his part; I do not know what happened for I, not being a master of these things, listen only to the orchestra that carries into dreams.

When Wotan sang, in German, of course:
"Thy bed shall be lit by torches more brilliant
Than ever for bridal have burned!
Fiery gleams shall girdle the fell,
With terrible scorchings scaring the timid,
Who, cowed, may cross not Brunnhilda's couch
For one alone freeth the bride;
Or freer than I, the god!"

Down came the curtain. The god had lost his way. Nobody knew whether he was to get his money back or what, but on the whole it was a decent audience that took what came good-naturedly, figuring that these German gods were playful folk who got all mixed up with maids and beer and sometimes even with such a one as Hitler.

My eyes were cast on a bass fiddle player, a girl, who I was told was part of the augmented orchestra. I recalled what Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes said to Justice Brandeis when both were aged and walking to the Supreme Court to prove their eternal youth, "Oh! Would that I were eighty again."

The curtain rose again and the first Wotan courageously finished the show, for come what may, the show must go on and Wagner was justified when the original Wotan sang:

"He who my spear in spirit feareth,
Ne'er springs through their fiery bar!"

Brunnhilda lies though dead and Wotan disappears through the fire.

Slow curtain.

All the time I wondered when the big chandelier would fall from the ceiling and put an end to the whole business. Next time I shall take Bob Considine and Toots Shore or some other pundit to listen to Wagner's leitmotif. For them only the first row would do.

But this must be said: Erich Leinsdorf, the maestro who ran the whole show, leading the orchestra, bringing in the singers, directing what the stage hands should do about the curtain, was as cool as a captain on a sinking ship.

This Leinsdorf, at 25 or some such age, was Toscanini's assistant conductor which means that he was apprentice to the greatest baton that ever was whirled. I shall, God willing, be watching him for years to come at Tanglewood where he is to succeed the lovable Munch and the dramatic Koussevitzky.

Tanglewood, up in the Berkshires, is where music can be done at its best. There Munch introduced Berlioz to me in a richness I had never expected to experience and Leinsdorf will do something like that. For a man who could go through such a Wednesday at the Metropolitan can do anything. And these days at the Met it is standing room only.

Blood Pressure Readings: A Gauge to State of Health

Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

In a previous column, I explained how blood pressure is recorded and the meaning of the figures you are given. In short, to take a simple example, if you are told your reading is 150 over 100, that means your systolic level (force of the heart pump) is 150 millimeters of mercury (written mm.Hg.) and that 100 mm.Hg. is your diastolic level (written 150/-100).

What do these figures mean in terms of health and disease?

Well, the diastolic level is the more important and the easier to define. It's easier to define because it is not subject to all sorts of variations. In other words, it's fixed, like the price of a postage stamp.

It's more important than the systolic level because it represents the resistance against which the cardiac pump must work. So there's general agreement that the normal range of the diastolic tension is between 60 and 90 mm.Hg.

The answer to "how high is up?" so far as the diastolic level is concerned is anything over 90 or, at most 100 mm.Hg. Indeed, an elevation over 100mm.Hg. is a matter of grave consequence.

When we come to systolic levels, which are emphasized most (often to the exclusion of the more important diastolic), we're going to have a difficult time defining the height of "up." The systolic pressure is subject to as many fluctuations as April weather.

Within the course of a few minutes it can vary as many as 50 mm.Hg. These variations can be caused by any number of factors most of which have nothing to do with the state of the heart or its blood vessels.

For examples, systolic levels are influenced by age (higher as we grow older), sex (higher in women), weight (higher in the obese), body build higher in Mr. Five-by-Five than in Mr. High Pockets), heredity (higher in certain families, consistently lower in others), the position of the subject during the test (higher when lying flat), the place of the test (higher in a doctor's office than at home), the identity of the observer (higher when taken by a doctor than when taken by a nurse or by the subject himself), the emotional state of the observer (higher if tense, irritable and excitable), the emotional state of the subject (very much higher if under strain), the purpose of the examination (very much higher if an insurance or induction physical than one done by own doctor for routine check-up) etc.

Now then, you ask "How high is up?" Well, like the old vaudevillan of whom the question was originally asked, I have to do a bit of head scratching. For, as you can see from the list of variables I just mentioned, even Univac might have a tough time coming up with an exact answer.

But, so as not to beg the question entirely, let's say that any systolic reading in excess of 200 mm.Hg. constitutes hypertension. And in the last of these columns, we'll go into the meaning of an elevated systolic tension.

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Comparison of President Kennedy's State of the Union message with the one he delivered a year ago, nine days after his inauguration, shows that he hasn't backed up an inch. The second message goes way beyond the first, enlarging earlier recommendations in number and size.

Speculation that the President would cut down his objectives and present only programs that were more likely to be approved by Congress turns out to be all wrong.

THE 1961 MESSAGE found the American economy in trouble from seven months of recession, three years of slack, seven years of diminished economic growth and nine years of falling farm income.

One year later the President finds the number of labor surplus areas reduced by 40 per cent, employment up a million, the work week lengthened, farm income up by a billion dollars.

Unemployment is still admittedly too high.

Corrective measures asked for by the President and enacted by Congress last year helped keep unemployment from going higher. But to make it go lower, additional measures are now asked for. They include manpower training, youth employment opportunities for new workers, permanent strengthening of the unemployment insurance system.

A YEAR AGO, the prospect of a government budget deficit of several billion dollars was unavoidable. Now the President promises a balanced budget for next year. It may not materialize, but it is within the realm of attainability if there is cooperation between Congress and the White House.

The balanced budget with increased government spending is possible, of course, only if there are increased tax payments on greater business and labor income in an expanding economy. But this is nothing to sit on contentedly.

So the President puts forward radical new tax programs intended to promote greater economic growth and, with new flexibility, to hold back future trends toward recession.

The President now reports inflation held to the lowest increase in the cost of living for any year since the end of World War II. But this is no cause for resting on the oars, either. The President therefore rows forward in the new message to urge again that business and labor keep price and wage increases in step with productivity increases, in the public interest.

LAST YEAR, THE CONGRESS DID NOT accept Kennedy's recommendations for a new farm program, federal aid to education, health insurance for the aged, tax reform, postal rate increases, health and welfare improvement. This has not deterred him in the least.

He is back this year urging passage of all his old programs and adding new ones.

Of the 30 major domestic programs recommended in the President's 1962 message, about 10 are brand new. Some of them may not seem so new, because they have been reported and discussed widely in recent weeks. But they will be new proposals before the Congress.

Among them are mass immunization of children against contagious diseases, a new public welfare program, a massive attack against adult illiteracy more aid to medical and other higher education, long range conservation and recreation programs, new starts on water, power and rural electrification, support for civil rights legislation already before the Congress even though these are not White House proposals, urban transportation and a new department of urban affairs and housing.

PERHAPS THE MOST SWEEPING proposal is for a wholly new approach, a bold new instrument of American policy embodied in a new five-year trade expansion act. One goal is "to enlarge the prosperity of free men everywhere."

If there is one key phrase in the whole new message that sums it up, it is, "but we have just begun."

Drive on Clubs in Capital Called New Demagoguery

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Lots of things are "new" under the Kennedy administration besides the "new frontier," and one of them is the new demagoguery.

Webster's New World Dictionary defines a demagogue as "a person who tries to stir up the people by appeals to emotion, prejudice, etc., in order to become a leader and achieve selfish ends."

Officials of the Kennedy administration from the President down as well as some members of Congress, have launched a crusade to cause social clubs in Washington to admit Negroes as members. Although these clubs are private institutions—like a private home—high officials of the Kennedy administration have used their power of publicity to denounce those clubs which for years have selected their members without regard to outside pressures. The purpose, of course, is to win votes not only in this area but in all the Northern states of the Union.

President Kennedy told his press conference that his application for membership to a local club, which had been recently withdrawn, would not be resubmitted. It had been sponsored by Professor Galbraith, U. S. Ambassador to India, who resigned from the club when it turned down the application of a Negro for membership. No information has been made available as to whether the club did or did not reject the application on racial grounds or whether it was done because of some failure of the applicant to meet all requirements for membership. Various white applicants also have not been admitted.

More Drastic Step

A more drastic step has been taken by Rep. Herbert Zelenko, Democrat of New York, who has just introduced in Congress a bill that would prohibit the District of Columbia from issuing food and beverage licenses or occupancy permits to any club that practices racial or religious discrimination in admission of members. Who is to find out why an admissions committee declines to elect an applicant?

What of the clubs in other cities? This is supposed to be a state and municipal matter, but the Federal government these days is not dismayed by such barriers. Mr. Kennedy in his State-of-the-Union Message boasted that his Administration "has shown as never before how much could be done through the full use of executive powers."

Thus, any business which wants to retain or get a contract with the government can be threatened with withdrawal or denial of such contract unless its employment policies and purchasing practices conform to the interpretation of "civil rights" laid down by the executive branch of the government.

Full Use of Powers

This very procedure not only is being used with government contractors, but reaches down into subcontracts. Business is not alloted to subcontractors unless they too, will agree to conform to the obligations of the contractor in his relations with the Federal government on matters of discrimination in employment. Congress has never written a law covering these matters, and it's all being done by what the President calls "full use of executive powers."

Likewise, tax exemptions granted to non-profit organizations can presumably be withdrawn at will by the Administration if they do not toe the mark—though a few "freedom rides" may be required to force action in this field.

The plight of government officials themselves, incidentally, now is an unhappy one. The President said in a statement to his press conference this week about the episode in which a Negro official of the State Department was denied membership in a local club:

"I have said from the beginning that I thought this was a personal matter which involved not only the members of this government, but involves everyone in the city and everyone in the country, and every individual must make his judgment in the way that he believes to be right and I have stated that my application for the Cosmos Club was not being renewed."

Is It a Hint?

Is this a hint that all government officials should follow the lead of the President? His brother, the Attorney General, resigned from a club here that declines to admit Negroes. How long can other officials withstand the pressure being exerted? Many of the clubs here have members employed by the government or members who do business with the government.

To the new demagoguery, however, there may have to be added added the "new hypocrisy." For there are lots of officials in the Kennedy administration—including President Kennedy and Vice President Johnson—who belong to clubs here and in New York and other parts of the country which practice various forms of racial and religious discrimination. Will some Administration official soon go to the annual meetings of such clubs and demand the passage of resolutions condemning what their admissions committees do when they bar certain applicants? It is just as logical, and it all comes under the head of the new coercion and the new demand for conformity.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Mark Twain wrote in 1907, "The political and commercial morals of the United States are not merely food for laughter; they are an entire banquet. Our standards were fairly high a generation ago. They had been brought to that grade by some generations of wholesome labor on the part of the nation's multitudinous teachers. But Jay Gould, all by himself, was able to undermine the structures in half a dozen years. Before Jay Gould's time, there was a quite elegant phrase that was on everybody's lips and everybody enjoyed the thrill of it: 'The press is the palladium of our liberties.' It was a serious saying and true but it is long ago dead and safely tucked away in the limbo of oblivion. No one would venture it now, except in sarcasm. Mr. Guggenheim has lately been chosen United States Senator from Colorado, reputedly by a bought Legislature—which is almost the customary way. In many instances, the palladium of our liberties has nothing but compliments for him and justification."

The Denver Post said that even though Guggenheim spent a large sum of money, he only followed the precedents of other states. There was nothing "essentially wrong" and Guggenheim would "make the best Senator Colorado has ever had."

"He is just the man for the place," the Post continued. "There is no use trying to reform the world. The Denver Post bows to the will of the people."

Mark Twain was competitive and controversial in those days, for he was a contemporary of colleagues in the palladium who were henchmen and, some of them, subsidized, covert press agents of the likes of Gould and Guggenheim. I have seen similarities in the change which has taken place in the political morals of the United States in the years since Roosevelt's first Inauguration in March, 1933. I have seen the rise of a corps of tedious, always predictable defenders of enormities by members of one royal family in the White House. I have observed the glorification of synthetic honors called "awards" which invariably fall to politico-social agents of the cult of corruption.

The odious, impalpable vapors offend the numb sensibilities of Americans who now are damned from the White House as extremists of the right. The "extreme left" is the right-border of Communism and treason. The same tight roster of eligibles, especially among famous or notorious women, revolves from year to year. The considerations by which they are adjudged to be great women are never set forth in a way to permit arguments. Like the undefined epithet, "McCarthyism," their virtues are suggested, not specified. The palladium that Mark Twain mentioned in contempt precludes definition.

In my time in journalism on the national field, I have seen the rise of uncompromising contempt for the defenders of the standards which Mark Twain had viewed with longing retrospect in 1907. True, he detested the Republicans then and believed the Democrats were pure by comparison. But he was near the end of his life and unable to observe the subtle defilement of the Democratic Party.

It is inexact to say that William Buckley and his National Review are the only successors of Swift, Dickens, Mark Twain and Henry Mencken. But dissent is not encouraged and mostly is forbidden while assent grows more impudent. There is not one writer in such general practice in the daily press today whose literary expression excels in art or honor the Democratic Platform of 1960.

The dejection of the Denver Post so long ago has taken possession of us.

The palladium does "bow to the will of the people" and again, "there is no use trying to reform the world."

Historian's Report Includes Paltz, Shawangunk, Gardiner

The annual report of Kenneth E. Hasbrouck, historian for the Town and Village of New Paltz, and the Towns of Shawangunk and Gardiner was released for publication this week as follows:

The year of 1961 went by all too quickly and like many other people, the historian must admit that a number of items that should have been accomplished, just did not make the schedule. Perhaps one can find some consolation in the fact that new tasks presented themselves and time had to be borrowed to care for that proverbial "stitch in time."

On December 31, 1960 at midnight, The Hugenot National Bank, which was founded and organized as the Huguenot Bank in 1853, merged with the State of New York National Bank of Kingston. It is of interest to note that the Huguenot Bank became the Huguenot National Bank on April 10, 1865.

Sees Eventful Year

1961 seems to be an eventful one for the banks in New Paltz. In March New Paltz Savings Bank celebrated its 90th year in business. A collection of old pictures of early New Paltz made an excellent display for the anniversary. The need for such pictures resulted in having the old glass slides preserved in the vault of the Memorial House reproduced.

The slides, taken by William Shults between 1880 and 1915, had to be handled very carefully. They have now been reproduced as regular negatives and a collection of photographs, size 8 by 10 inches is available for display purposes. Others were given by Mrs. Virgil B. DeWitt.

During the past autumn a collection of aerial views of New Paltz was purchased by the historian for the historical collection. The area is growing so rapidly that we must keep some pictorial record for the future.

The State University College at New Paltz completed its celebration of the 75th Anniversary of teacher education. Considering that the total college enrollment in September 1961 was 3,000, it is difficult to imagine what changes will take place within another 75 years.

History of College

A history of the College, "In A Valley Fair," by Elizabeth and Robert Lang, 1960 made its appearance during the past summer. It was a very worthy project, which should have been done before. It is evident that the Langs had to do a great deal of diligent work to produce a history when the sources of information were so widely scattered. Perhaps we can hope that a Volume II will be forthcoming in the not too distant future.

A new Town Hall was built during the past year which forms an addition to the Municipal Building, erected in 1950. New Paltz can be proud of this achievement.

New Paltz School District once again defeated a proposal presented by the School Board for additional school buildings. The proposal was to build a new elementary school in New Paltz. There was a separate proposal which would permit the School Board to purchase land in the Town of Gardiner for a second elementary school in the future. The voters defeated both items by a fairly large majority. It has become increasingly apparent that the taxpayers in New Paltz as well as other neighboring districts are becoming rather difficult to convince that additional funds for education are needed.

Sees Dilemma

It is definite that we find our good citizens in the midst of a dilemma. On the one hand, if they wish to give their children a good education, they must tax themselves for that purpose beyond what they feel they can afford; on the other hand if they continue to procrastinate and proper facilities to educate our young people are delayed, the problem is often duplicated. We generally find ourselves outdated before a solution to a given need is arrived at satisfactorily.

The present generation is surrounded by taxes and is confused in its appraisal of value received and the price of progress. The school is one place in which the local taxpayer can still have a voice. Perhaps a thorough examination of other taxes would cause more agitation than evidenced at a school meeting.

Perhaps part of the problem is in the fact that the public has not been educated to the needs of education and that our system of taxation has become antiquated. Most assuredly there must be another form of tax other than property tax to meet the bill for school requirements and more aid must come from the state.

The day has passed when we can consider property to be a true evaluation of wealth.

Library Gets Addition

The year of 1961 saw the new addition to the Elting Memorial Library underway. The project is to cost approximately $25,000 and the funds are being raised by means of a drive which has been most successful under the leadership of the President William Heidgerd. The new addition has been needed for a long time and with the facilities it will provide, should prove to be of great value to our fast-growing community.

During the past year the parish of St. Joseph's at New Paltz and St. Charles' Roman Catholic Church at Gardiner have the honor of being given a Monsignor. Father Edward P. Monckton is the first Monsignor designated here since the founding of a parish in the 1860's.

During June, the members of Huguenot Historical Society and The Descendants of the New Paltz Patentees met on Huguenot Street for their annual luncheon and meeting. The affair was highlighted by an excellent talk given by Mrs. John Lee Frisbee (Lucy P. Frisbee), well-known feature writer, who spoke on the importance of preserving the old houses on "the street," which is becoming nationally famous.

Thousands come to New Paltz to visit the old houses that retain their original architectural simplicity.

Stone House Day Held

Stone House Day was most successful on August 5. Eleven houses were open to the public and the affair was considered by all who attended as a perfect way to spend a day.

Many guests remained to spend the weekend in New Paltz and promised to return with friends. Sponsored by the members of the Reformed Church and aided by the members of the Huguenot Historical Society, the event which is always held on the first Saturday of August will quite likely continue for many years. Stone House Day will be held for its 12th year on August 4, 1962.

The historian continues a policy of good publicity which includes filing records and reports, sending material to travel agencies, bus companies, and to any and all sources that will place New Paltz and this area before the public.

Another house has been added to the group owned by the Historical Society. In August of 1961, the members of the Hasbrouck Family Association purchased the Abraham Hasbrouck House on Huguenot Street. The Family Association will finance and sponsor the house under the ownership of the Historical Society. The society now has four houses: Memorial House, Freer House, Col. Josiah Hasbrouck House and the Abraham Hasbrouck House. The last named will become a museum after it has been put in condition in the spring.

In August, The Hasbrouck Family in America With European Background was completed. The two volumes cover the descendants of the family throughout the United States (1672-1961).

When a family is traced over a period of at least 10 generations and over 14,600 descendants have been recorded with many references to individuals, it becomes a social history as well as a genealogy. Copies of the genealogy have gone to France, Saudi Arabia, Germany, Puerto Rico, Canada and England as well as to individuals and libraries in most of the states of our country.

Brochures Requested

During the past year brochures from our towns have been requested by libraries in foreign countries. It is amazing the number of people we have from other nations that visit our area.

Due to the fact that 1961 was the beginning of the 100th anniversary of the Civil War, efforts have been made to organize the papers and miscellaneuos materials in the museum. It is hoped that people who have Civil War items in their possession will give them to the Historical Society.

During the past year Dr. Virgil B. DeWitt and Mrs. Abel Quick gave the historian some very interesting letters written by soldiers and sailors who served from this area.

Town of Shawangunk

In Septemer, the Town of Shawangunk was very well represented in the 100th Anniversary, commerorating the Civil War. The exhibit of Civil War items, which have been collected by Addison and James Crowell of Wallkill, were of great interest to the members of the Ulster County Historical Society when they made a field trip to Southern Ulster.

The fine museum of Will Plank at Marlboro was also visited. The members enjoyed visiting the old New Hurley Church and having an excellent luncheon prepared by the ladies of the congregation. Such trips make us aware of the interesting places and collections we have in our own county.

In connection with the Town of Shawangunk, 1961 should note the very fine old house, known in recent decades as the Phinney House, located in the Village of Wallkill, Ulster County. It is for sale and in danger of being destroyed.

The house was built by Severyn or Cornelius Bruyn in 1766. At that time, Wallkill was not in existence and the Bruyn House and a mill were the only evidences of civilization in the "Basin."

Of course Benjamin Hasbrouck lived on a stone house up on the hill where the Borden's later resided and about a mile north DuBois and Ostrander families had settled. The Scotch-Irish Grahams, Kanes and Banks lived across the Wallkill River.

Fireback Dates House

To return to the Bruyn house, one finds that an iron fireback in the fireplace marked: S. B. 1766 which is supposed to record the name of the builder and the date the house was erected.

In 1929 the house was pictured and described in Dutch Houses of the Hudson River Valley by Helen Wilkenson Reynolds as "an interesting exception to the architectural rule in Ulster County."

The house is built on two levels. On the lower level is an old stone basement, above which conceivably a stone house could once have risen. The front and rear verandas are approximately 1800 in design and so also is the carved fan-light over the front door. These details suggest that the house belongs in the period 1790-1800. The gambrel roof is very unique.

Actually the date of construction of the building is of little importance in relation to the fact that the structure should be preserved. The house would make an excellent museum or colonial restaurant. There are some very fine things that could be done for communities if we only had money. Perhaps the main thing we need for such a project is hard work and a spirit of preservation.

Mansion In Good Hands

It is interesting to note that the mansion built by Marion Borden on the hill to the east of Wallkill in 1906, seems to have finally come into the hands of those who will use it for a good cause. After years of standing empty, the great house will become a private school.

The event of John G. Borden coming to Wallkill, (or as it was known in those days, Shawangunk Post Office), had a lasting effect upon the community, especially in relation to parcels of land. Actually it is difficult to find an area in and around the village that was not at one time owned by the Borden family.

Fortunately most of these land purchases of John G. Borden and their subsequent resale following his death in 1891 and continuing through until the death of his daughter, Marion in 1930, are available locally.

Of course it is possible to find all the legal transactions in the County Clerk's Office or the Surrogate's Office at Kingston, but in Wallkill one can find a much more interesting story of the land, its people and their daily lives.

Documents Preserved

Deeds, wills, mortgages, letters, leases and many interesting notes on the properties were preserved in the Borden safe. This large collection was given to the Town Historian in 1953. The collection will soon be catalogued and placed in the vault of the Town Building.

These papers trace the lands at and in the vicinity back to the 18th Century. They will be available to the public. The records give quite a complete record of the people who lived in the area between 1750 through 1925. This collection will augment the town records.

During 1962 the historian would be very pleased to see some of the following projects undertaken:

A group of articles dealing with "Fact and Fiction."

A catalougue of historical material relating to the Civil War.

Listing of our old houses, 19th Century.

A record of industry.

A new history of Ulster County.

Handicrafts which were a part of our culture.

A catalogue of paintings (primitive and others) owned by museums and private owners in this area.

A catalogue of town records (Gardiner and Shawangunk).

Pupils Show Interest

It is pleasing to note the interest of a number of our school children in the history of their community. A very fine piece of work was accomplished in New Paltz Central School in the form of a manuscript done by the children of the Seventh Grade. Such projects should be made available for the educational benefit of others.

A Junior Historical group has been formed, sponsored by Mrs. William Heidgerd and Mrs. Raymond Otis.

During the past year some very fine collections of old papers, documents and records have been turned over to the historian. It is hoped that the practice will continue. Our historical library is growing, but in many cases it is an expensive process as some of the books dealing with our area and families are out of print and must be obtained at the price set by book dealers.

Occasionally a generous person gives a book which is greatly needed. Due to the cost of such books it is impossible to loan them out, but information is always available from the historian. During the summer, the library of the museum on the Modena Road in the Town of Gardiner is available to all who wish to make use of it.

Record Is Kept

An indexed record of events is being kept up to date and the policies in relation to preservation as reported in previous Reports from the Historian are being continued.

Mr. and Mrs. Foster Traver and Mr. and Mrs Cleveland Nohearn are doing a very fine job of greeting our visitors at the Memorial House and the Locust Lawn. Both museums report a larger number of visitors during 1961 than we had in 1960. The Historical Society is most fortunate in having such dedicated people.

The historian is grateful to the three supervisors and mayor for their continued support. The Town Boards and Village Board permit the use of "freedom of choice" in matters pertaining to historical matters, which is greatly appreciated. We are moving ahead slowly, but in time when clerical help is financially possible, the matter of increased publicity should be explored to the fullest. The historian would like to see this area triple its amount of good publicity that will inform the public of the outstanding features of Ulster County.

Respectfully submitted,
KENNETH E. HASBROUCK

Ward Chairmen Named for 1962 Mothers March

Mrs. Lincoln Crosby, Mothers' March chairman, today has named the ward chairmen for the 1962 Mothers' March in Kingston for the continuing fight against birth defects, arthritis and polio.

The Ward leaders are: Mrs. Dorothy Lacey, Ward; 1; Mrs. John Pugliese, Ward 2; Mrs. Frank Martino, co-chairman Ward 2; Mrs. John Fitzgerald, Ward 3; Mrs. Sylvester Bujak, Ward 4; Mrs. John Lucci, Ward 5; Mrs. Donald Williams, Ward 6; Mrs. Frank Sass, Ward 7; Mrs. Daniel Bittner Jr., Ward 8; Mrs. Charles Cole, Ward 9; Mrs. Donald Quick, Ward 10; Mrs. George Barringer Jr., Ward 11; Mrs. Allen Baker, Ward 12 and Mrs. John Glowinski, Ward 13.

Mrs. Crosby also said the march, which is one of the major events of the 1962 New March of Dimes campaign, will be held on the night of Jan. 30.

"Millions are suffering from arthritiis today. Many are children. And there are 250,000 babies born each year in the United States with a significant birth defect. Many of these defects will someday be prevented through research," the March Chairman explained.

"Mothers understand the suffering a child can go through with birth defects or arthritis or polio . . . that's why we are out in numbers, not only in our own community but all over the nation, trying to help prevent these crippling diseases."

"We aim to support more and more special treatment centers and evaluation clinics with New March of Dimes funds. That's why the Mothers' March is so important. We are sure the residents of Kingston will respond to our appeal on January 30 as the mothers march through our neighborhoods."

New Hurley

NEW HURLEY — Saturday afternoon the New Hurley Guild met at the Church Hall with Mrs. Francis Garrison and Mrs. Edward Humphrey as the hostesses. The devotions and program were led by Mrs. Frank Dylewski with others taking part.

Stiffens Resistance

GENEVA (AP) — Pro-Western Prince Boun Oum stiffened his resistance to an agreement with Laos' other two political princes Tuesday night, and it appeared a Geneva conference of the princes would not even meet unless the United States could pressure Boun Oum to the table.

Boun Oum, premier of the conservative royal government in Vientiane, (1) refused to address the 14-nation Geneva conference on Laos because it had also asked pro-Communist Prince Souphanouvong to speak; (2) repeated that he would not agree to giving the defense and interior ministries in a coalition government to neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma's faction, (3) said again he would not hold formal negotiations here with the other two princes on formation of a coalition government.

It costs about $10,600 a mile each year to maintain the 559-mile New York State Thruway.

PRESIDENT REPORTS—President Kennedy, nearing his first anniversary as Chief Executive, tells newsmen at Washington news conference that failure to negotiate a nuclear test ban treaty is his biggest disappointment to date. He cited as the most heartening development of his freshman year in the White House was "a greater surge for unity" among Western nations and in U. S. relations with Latin America. (AP Wirephoto)

WALLKILL — At the regular meeting of the Wallkill Chamber of Commerce, Eugene Crockett, a communications specialist affiliated with the First Army Communication Center, Bullville, presented talk and slides on the old and new in the communications world.

He emphasized that progress has bettered the communications system in that transmitters are now receiving and sending at 100 words a minute to all parts of the world. Noting that there is an open house planned at the Bullville Operations for early in May, he extended an invitation to all who are interested to attend.

Penney thanked all of the members, and business people and all citizens who contributed or helped in the Christmas lighting program undertaken by the chamber. He noted that the success of the venture was due to the fine cooperation of everyone in the Wallkill area.

Progress is being made on the Industrial Trade Program being undertaken in the spring.

Keep Brush Clean

Brushing clean hair with a soiled brush is like spattering mud on a clean white dress. So be sure to wash your brush at least as often as you shampoo your hair.

Oil Can Handy?

When you next plan to have stuffed green peppers for the family dinner, try oiling the peppers before baking. Their color will then stay fresh and green.

Finland Picks Kekkonen Again

HELSINKI, Finland (AP) — President Urho Kekkonen today looked forward to a new six-year term as chief executive of Finland after solidly beating Communist and Social Democrat candidates at the polls.

Kekkonen, who has had a ticklish time keeping Finland neutral in the face of recent Soviet pressure, was assured of victory when his electors polled 45 per cent of the popular vote in this week's election. The electors will meet later to name him president officially.

U. S. Assails Junta

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States assailed the new junta government in the Dominican Republica today as a "step backward." Officials said the United States is considering withdrawal of recognition.

State Department informants said they are afraid the new political upheaval at Santo Domingo may mean the beginning of an effort to establish a new military dictatorship.

Refresher Class For Area Pilots To Start Feb. 1

Certified pilots in the Poughkeepsie area will have an opportunity to attend a 12-week Pilot Safety Refresher Ground School in Poughkeepsie High School beginning Thursday, Feb. 1, the State Commerce Department announced today.

Part of a Statewide aviation safety education program initiated by Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller, the Ground School offers pilots 36 hours of comprehensive instruction in civil air regulations, navigation, radio, meteorology, aircraft operation and instruments. Sessions will be held from 7 to 10 p. m. each Thursday through April 19.

The course is co-sponsored by the State Commerce Department's Bureau of Aviation and the Poughkeepsie Adult Education Department. It is open to all area certified pilots. Student pilots may enroll if they have written permission of their flight instructor or flying school operator.

Information on registration can be obtained from Rudolph Albanese, coordinator of Adult Education, Poughkeepsie. There will be a registration fee, payable to the Poughkeepsie City School District.

Objective of the State's air safety education program is to give certified pilots an opportunity to familiarize themselves with new technical and safety advances in aviation as well as to improve their general aviation knowledge.

Ground instructor for the course will be Raymond Lucey, a commercial pilot, flight instructor and ground instructor for Poughkeepsie Aviation Services. Assisting him will be Roland K. Alexander, air safety consultant of the State Commercial Department.

Lucey is a pilot with several thousand hours flying time. Alexander is a licensed pilot with more than 7,000 hours logged to his credit. Previous to joining the State's Aviation Bureau, he was employed for 17 years as flight operations inspector with the Federal Aviation Agency.

Pilots who successfully complete the course will receive certificates from the State Commerce Department. To date, approximately 550 certificates have been awarded throughout the State.

Favors Present Milk Controls

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dairy industry advisers have given Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman ammunition for ditching the present federal dairy support program in favor of rigid controls on milk production.

A National Dairy Advisory Committee urged that the present program be continued.

Under it, dairymen produce as much as they like, and the government must buy the surplus in the form of butter, dry milk and cheese.

Freeman has said the government cannot continue costly farm programs. He has predicted the cost of dairy supports may run to $600 million during the marketing year beginning April 1, more than double the current year.

The committee also set up guidelines for a possible production controls and asked that before any cuts are made in the support rate, dairy farmers be given a chance to vote on a production-control program.

Freeman is expected to press Congress for authority to impose dairy controls.

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) — Lt. Col. L. F. Kengle Jr., of the U.S. Lakes Survey, predicts lakes Superior, Huron and Michigan will be higher this year than last but lakes Erie and Ontario lower.

Great Lakes shipping companies measure inches in millions of dollars over the shipping season. Although assured of only 27-foot channels, every inch above this low-water mark permits the loading of additional tons.

Kengle made his estimates at the 24th annual joint conference of the Great Lakes Carriers' Association and the Dominion Marine Association.

Astronaut Glenn Must Wait Until Valve Is Fixed

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The attempt to launch astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. into round-the-world orbit has been postponed one day, until Jan. 24, because of a faulty valve in a unit designed to cool Glenn's space suit.

Reliable sources reported the delay. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration has not announced a specific date for the launching and had no comment on the report.

Two previous launching dates, Dec. 20 and Jan. 16, slipped by because of other problems. Glenn is scheduled to orbit three times around the earth in 4½ hours.

FOOD FOR AMERICANS Stuffed Eggplant Is Delicious Fare

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Looking for a main dish with nutrition, flavor and economy? Then try this lamb-stuffed eggplant.

Select an eggplant that is firm, free from blemishes and of a uniform dark color. It can be baked in the skin, boiled in water, stewed in oil or stock, or sliced and fried in butter. Notice to weight watchers: One pound eggplant carries only 111 calories.

CURRIED STUFFED EGGPLANT
(Yield: 4 servings)

- 1 cup chopped onion
- 1 cup chopped fresh mushrooms
- 1¼ teaspoons curry powder
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 cup ground cooked lamb
- ½ cup fine dry bread crumbs
- ¼ teaspoon ground black pepper
- 1 teaspoon salt
- Toasted sesame seed for garnish
- Fresh parsley for garnish

Wash eggplant. Wrap in foil and bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 50 minutes or until partially done. Cut in half and remove pulp to within ½-inch of the skin, being careful not to cut skin. Chop pulp and place in a mixing bowl. Saute onions, mushrooms and curry powder 2 to 3 minutes in butter or margarine. Add to eggplant pulp. Add lamb, bread crumbs and seasonings. Mix well. Spoon mixture into eggplant shells. Place halves in a close-fitting baking dish close together so they hold their shape. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 35 minutes or until browned. Garnish with toasted sesame seed and fresh parsley.

NOTE: To toast sesame seed: Place sesame seeds in a shallow pan and put into a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 20 to 22 minutes, stirring once or twice to toast uniformly.

CURRIED stuffed eggplant provides enough good eating to be the main dish. Toasted sesame seeds are the garnish.

Bill Would Curb Some Bill Collectors

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A Republican state senator proposes to curb what he terms the sharp practices and harassing methods of "abusive and over-diligent" bill-collectors, including their use of profanity in pressing claims against debtors.

A bill introduced in the Legislature Tuesday by Sen. Walter Van Wiggeren of Herkimer would bar agents of bill-collecting companies from:

Publishing the names of debtors, using badges or uniforms, sending demands for payment on forms that resembled government documents, and, in addition to profanity, using obscenity or vulgarity.

Under his bill, the State Department would license collection agencies, which would be required to post a $10,000 bond to be forfeited if they broke any of the rules.

Bing Counts on Win

He joked with newsmen and waved to fans as he came down the stairs. A newsman asked: "Are you going to the Pebble Beach golf tournament?"

"Going?" said Bing with mock disbelief, "I'm going to win it."

Holy Cross Will Sponsor Mission From Jan. 21-28

BROTHER FRANCIS

Children of the city and surrounding areas are invited to attend a mission conducted by Brother Francis, Order of the Holy Cross, it has been announced by the Rev. K. A. B. Hinds, rector of Holy Cross Episcopal Church. The mission will begin Sunday, Jan. 21, and will continue through Jan. 28 in the church on Pine Grove Avenue.

In announcing the mission, Father Hinds said that this will be the first such undertaking for children at Holy Cross Church in many years, and that all children, regardless of religious affiliation, are welcome to attend.

More Pox Cases

LONDON (AP)—The search for smallpox victims in Britain widened today as new suspected cases of the disease cropped up in three more industrial centers.

After being confined mostly to areas around Bradford, in Yorkshire, four new suspect cases appeared in Manchester, Birmingham and Cardiff, in Wales.

Already five deaths—and possibly a sixth—have been attributed to smallpox since immigrants from Pakistan brought it to Britain just after Christmas. An undisclosed number of suspected cases are being held in isolation hospitals.

Milking for Science

BRISTOL, England (AP)—Stan Evans said modestly today that as far as he knows he is the first person ever to milk one of the world's shortest-tempered beasts—a rhinoceros.

Evans, 30, a keeper at the city zoo, is milking two-ton Stephanie, a recent mother, in the interests of science.

The milk is being analyzed with a view to concocting a substitute food for baby rhinos whose mothers are killed by poachers in Africa. If the experiment succeeds, it may save the increasingly rare black rhino from extinction.

Protest Color Bars

ERLANGEN, Germany (AP)—Students from African and Asian countries have protested against color bars they say have been raised by restaurant owners in this little Bavarian university town.

The foreign students office of Erlangen University said the protest was lodged after a number of African and Asian students had been thrown out of inns or were refused service.

Pair to Face Jury On Theft Charge

Two area young men are being held for Grand Jury action today as the aftermath of a burglary at a Woodstock home Monday night.

According to state police of the Lake Katrine station, Robert J. Fenton Jr., 17, of Route 28A, West Hurley and John W. Eckert, 22, of 101 Main Street, Rosendale, were arrested Tuesday night, following a break at the Bruce Woodin home in Woodstock when $2 in cash, two packs of cigarettes and five figurines, whose value was not immediately ascertained, were stolen.

The two were charged with burglary, first degree.

Fenton and Eckert waived examination before Justice of Peace Arthur A. Reilly of the Town of Ulster and were held for Grand Jury action. They were committed to Ulster County Jail.

2 Motions Denied In Gambling Case At Poughkeepsie

Motions on behalf of an accused Beacon gambler, seeking permission to inspect the grand jury minutes and a list of witnesses who testified during a recent investigation, were denied Tuesday by Dutchess County Judge John R. Schwartz.

The motions were made by counsel for John Nuccitelli, 47, of 478 South Avenue, Beacon, named defendant in three indictments charging four felony counts of operating a policy business in Beacon between Jan. 1 and July 13, 1961, and misdemeanor charges of conspiracy, keeping a place for policy, being a common gambler and possession of policy slips.

Judge Schwartz granted the defendant's counsel a third motion seeking a bill of particulars setting forth specifically the street and number of the premises, buildings, rooms and establishments claimed by authorities to have been operated by Nuccitelli in the operation of the alleged policy business.

The motions were made by Henry Hirschberg, of Newburgh, counsel for the defendant.

Charlie Pleads Guilty

NEW YORK (AP) — Charles Van Doren, big-winning contestant on a rigged television quiz show, pleaded guilty today to second-degree perjury and was given a suspended sentence.

His plea, admitting that he lied in testimony before a grand jury, also amounted to an admission that he had been given answers to questions on the now defunct TV program, "Twenty-One."

Veto Po'keepsie Park

Voters of the Town of Poughkeepsie turned down a proposal Tuesday night to purchase 157 acres of land off Spackenkill Road for a municipal park. The plan to buy the property for $20,375 was defeated by a vote of 1,465 no to 760 yes.

Tax Charge Hits Goshen Dentist

NEW YORK (AP) — A dentist is charged by a federal grand jury with evading payment of $34,368 in income taxes for the years 1955 through 1958.

An indictment was returned Tuesday against Dr. Augustus R. Lippert, 68, of Goshen.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Mortimer Todel said Lippert reported income on a total of only $13,865 during the period, while he actually earned $97,861 — including $46,858 in 1955.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — Economic news was bright but the stock market put on a dull performance, displaying a mixed pattern in quiet trading early this afternoon.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .10 at 256.10 with industrials down .10, rails off .30 and utilities up .20.

Gains and losses of most key stocks were fractional, some moving a point or so. A few specially-situated issues made wider gains.

Steels and motors recovered as the session wore on but rails eased for a change. Tobaccos and rubbers were mostly lower. Airlines, chemicals, aircrafts and nonferrous metals were mixed.

Market technicians looked for a test of support levels around 700 in the Dow Jones industrial average.

A 1-point drop by American Motors, which touched a new low, was accompanied by fractional gains among the Big Three motors.

American Telephone also sank about a point.

South Puerto Rico Sugar fell about 4. International Business Machines fell more than 3 and Lorillard more than a point.

Pays 16 Car Fees

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — A Roman Catholic priest collected 16 extr tickets Tuesday night while sponsoring a charity Golden Gloves boxing show at Buffalo's Memorial Auditorium.

The Very Rev. Msgr. Franklin M. Kelliher, director of the Working Boys Home, a Catholic Charities agency, reimbursed 16 automobile owners $5 each after their cars were ticketed for illegal parking near the auditorium.

Denies Club Has Racial Policy; JFK Is Member

WASHINGTON (AP) — The president of an exclusive club in which President Kennedy holds honorary membership denies that the organization has any policy barring Negroes and Jews from membership.

Randall H. Hagner, prominent builder and president of the Chevy Chase Club in Maryland, was asked about the matter after it had been brought up in a column by Arthur Krock in Tuesday's New York Times.

The article, discussing the controversy over exclusion of Negroes in which several high administration officials have resigned from the socially eminent Metropolitan and Cosmos clubs, reported Kennedy's honorary affiliation with the comparably rated country club.

Chevy Chase, Krock wrote, has maintained "a more rigid discrimination than either of the others, and broader in that it also excludes from membership all Caucasians it assigns to one ethnic group."

"The Chevy Chase Club has no such policy," Hagner said. "Each candidate for membership is considered as an individual."

Asked about the composition of the club membership, Hagner said there are no Negroes on the roster but there are "several Jewish members."

Wants Job for Radel

Schwenk, he charged, has "suddenly abondoned his campaign position against federally financed urban renewal," and "has just completely endorsed the Radel urban renewal program."

If the mayor is sincere in his announcement that he wants the best men in city positions, he said, "he should at once offer the position of urban renewal director to the one person responsible, more than any other, for bringing about the plan for urban renewal, and who has more knowledge about it than any other person in our city, namely Edwin F. Radel." Then he added that he might also consider Sheehan, "who for 19 years has been one of the most competent public officials who ever held office in the VA."

Changes Noted

Noted today were these changes in city jobs: Appointment of Albert Appa, of Third Avenue, to succeed Thomas Coughlin, former Seventh Ward alderman and supervisor as custodian of the Municipal Auditorium, the naming of Roland Lamoreaux, of 86 Spring Street to replace Thomas Donahue, of 50 Ravine Street, as steam boiler fireman, city heating plant, and appointment of James Locke, of Delta Place, to replace Harry Howard as stock clerk of the public works department. Howard is now a sewage displosal plant trainee.

Local Law No. 1 of 1962 has had its first reading in the Common Council. Kelly's statement indicates that it is unlikely to be adopted because the Democrats have an 8-5 advantage in the council. Eye Tax Dodges

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tax collectors are keeping their eyes on donations of art and the like.

Bona fide gifts to museums and schools and other charitable institutions are fine, said Internal Revenue Commissioner Mortimer M. Caplin. Such donations have contributed to the nation's cultural resources.

But he said Tuesday there have been a significant number of cases where the donations have been used as a tax dodge—contributing mainly to the giver's pocketbook.

Military Coup

ment spokesman described the situation in the Dominican Republic as fluid and withheld immediate comment. The United States resumed diplomatic ties with the Dominican government after the installation of the State Council.)

The junta, to rule without a presiding officer, retained two members of the deposed council—Antonio Imbert and Luis Amiamatio, prominent businessmen and the only survivors of the band of 12 that plotted Trujillo's assassination last May.

Other Members

The other members are Maj. Wilfredo Medina Natal, Lt. Col. Neil Rafael Seija and Rea. Adm. Enrique Valdez Vidaurre, and two government officials during the Trujillo era, Armando Oscar Pacheco and Huberto Bogaert.

Unconfirmed reports said three members of the old State Council were placed under arrest. They are Rafael Bonnelly, lawyer-teacher who had been scheduled to replace Balaguer as head of government; Dr. Nicolas Pichardo, president of the University Professors' Association and a Civic Union member; and Eduardo R. Barreras, second vice president of the council and former president of the Supreme Court.

The seventh council member, Msgr. Eliseo Perez Sanchez, Roman Catholic vicar general of the nation and a long-time opponent of the Trujillo regime, was reported to have asked to be taken prisoner also but was sent home. This report could not be verified.

500 Mass in Park

The shooting broke out after a crowd of about 500 massed in Independence Park across from Civic Union headquarters as Civic Union loudspeakers blared anti-government broadcasts.

Targets of the demonstration appeared to be Balaguer, a holdover from the Trujillo era who had been dragging his feet on his promise to resign, and Gen. Rodriguez Echavarria.

Police were unable to cope with the demonstrators. Troops and six tanks of the air force—strongest of the Dominican armed forces—moved into the square. Troops on one of the tanks opened fire and the crowd dived for cover.

Official estimates put the toll at four dead and 19 injured. The Civic Union said at least eight persons were killed and many injured.

A government spokesman blamed Communist agitators for the violence. The commander of the tank unit said his troops were forced to open fire in self-defense.

The shooting brought thousands storming into the streets. They overturned trash cans, hurled stones and set fire to a theater. Navy and army troops armed with automatic rifles moved in to reinforce police and cleared the streets in two hours. A dusk-to-dawn curfew was enforced.

on her way to classes at Arlington Junior High school.

Police said the girl was in a car with Pilch when the vehicle was stopped by State Police on Route 17 near Deposit, Broome County, Saturday night. Pilch returned to Dutchess county in custody. The girl was taken home by relatives.

Poughkeepsie Police Chief John L. Martin said city police have a warrant charging Pilch with first degree grand larceny, accused of the theft of a rented car.

Warrant Waiting

The Dutchess county sheriff's office reports a warrant is there charging Pilch with abandoning two sons.

Pilch told authorities he formerly resided at Rhinebeck and Staatsburg and prior to moving to Pleasant Valley he resided at 820 Main Street, Arlington.

Authorities said Pilch was divorced from his first wife in 1957. He remarried December, 1960, and later was separated from his second wife.

Over 100 Appear At 1-Day Session In VA Office Here

It was a busy time Tuesday at the one-day session here for a representative of the Veterans Administration who sat at the central post office for interviews.

F. William Sheehan who was in Room 213 interviewed more than 100 ex-servicemen or their widows, some of whom had to wait for over two hours for their turns.

Sheehan who will be at the post office every Tuesday for consultations formerly had a permanent office until the VA closed 191 stations the last of December.

Today he is in Poughkeepsie at the post office there, Room 200; and will be on Wednesdays from now on.

There are no permanent stations now between New York City and the Canadian border except in Albany.

It was the decision of the VA in Washington that the need for district offices had diminished because most of the GI benefit programs and housing matters have been taken care of, it was announced.

The Kingston office covered five counties.

Those who visited the one-day office yesterday from 8:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. expressed unhappiness over closing of the permanent VA here, and some of them said they intended to write to authorities.

When it was announced that the VA offices were to close, telegrams, petitions and letters were sent to Washington, D. C., by servicemen's organizations, civic officials, labor unions and individuals.

Wharton for Office

Congressman J. Ernest Wharton who represents this area stressed that the offices were needed and was one of those favoring their continuance.

There is a state agency here which handles claims, the New York State Division of Veterans Affairs at 32 Main Street, which has county branches.

Those appearing at the VA one-day station yesterday reported to the Marine recruiting office which they deemed inadequate with three shaky chairs and not much room. They crowded in the hall and the line continued down stairs to the sidewalk.

To Write Again

Many said they intended to write to the VA Regional office, 12-16 Russell Road, Albany 1, and others thought they would take another try at writing to Congressman Wharton who has an office at the Stuyvesant-Kingston Hotel, and to Senators Kenneth Keating and Jacob Javits in Washington, D. C.

Reopening the office here is up to the VA, however, and all the elected representatives can do is make appeals.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING...

by ROGER E. SPEAR
Investment Advisor and Analyst

ROGER E. SPEAR

Look for Future Growth; Forget About P-E Ratios

Q) "Several years ago I inherited a few thousand dollars and began investing for capital gains. After two years I found that I wasn't doing much more than breaking even after commissions, taxes and a few losses. One year ago I did a lot of selling and bought 100 shares of Reynolds Tobacco. Since then, it has split two-for-one and moved up substantially in price. From what I can gather, a stock selling at 30 times earnings is ovepriced. What should I do?" A. S.

A) If I were you, I'd hold. Every so often we hear that an issue selling at a certain price-earnings ratio is overvalued. While this could be the case in a weakening situation, I think it is a poor yardstick to use for judging the market levels of the best-acting stocks.

IBM and Xerox, for instance, have been standout growth issues for years and most likely will continue to move rapidly ahead. Three years ago, if you had used a similar yardstick in evaluating either of these stocks, you'd have sold—and lost out on some very large subsequent market gains.

At present, Reynolds Tobacco sells for about 30 times 1960 earnings and about 26 times expected 1961 results. Considering the company's growth potentials, I don't think this is out of line. In fact, when you look back several years from now, it may seem pretty reasonable.

Q) "Do you like McLouth Steel?" P. G.

A) Yes, I do. In recent years, McLouth has had one of the best earnings trends in its industry. Dividends have not been paid since 1948, but the recent retirement of the preferred plus prospects of record earnings in 1962 could lead to a resumption of a cash payment. Share action has been quite good, and at present levels I believe the stock is still reasonably priced.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

in Rosendale would eliminate the north channel around Ackerman's Island, would widen and deepen the south channel, eliminate the canal at the site of the gorge, lower the lips of LeFever Falls and straighten the creek between the Route 32 bridge and the Thruway bridge.

Slight Work in Village

The only work in the village, Curran said, would be the raising of a section of Main Street to the level of Route 32.

Members of the Rosendale Flood Control Committee present at last night's meeting were: George Mollenhauer, town supervisor; Henry Mollenhauer, Attorney Curran, Herbert Kimker, chairman of the Rosendale committee; Joseph P. Bianco and Warren Larrabee.

Others attending the meeting held at Villa Bianco were Bernhardt Kramer, representing Congressman Wharton; Mayor George DeFelicis, James McKeown, village water superintendent; Mrs. McKeon, village treasurer; Charles George, village trustee and Mrs. Hunter.

Active Since 1955

The Rosendale committee organized in October, 1955 and since has been actively engaged in promoting the project.

The $5,948,000 program approved by the Army Engineers also includes estimated costs of $1,584,000 for the Beer Kill and Fantine Kill project and $118,000 for the North Gully project also at Ellenville.

The improvement on Beer Kill, Fantine Kill and North Gully will afford protection against recurrence of a flood larger than the maximum of record, that of August, 1955, while the improvement on Rondout Creek will protect against a flood equal to the maximum flood of record.

Elsewhere, the cost of local protection works or flood control reservoirs would exceed the benefits which would accrue.

U. S. to Try

of general disarmament negotiations.

Full Blame on Russians

The State Department put the full blame for the collapse of the nuclear test talk on the Soviet Union.

The Soviet government, the department said in a statement, had categorically rejected "the objective of reaching agreement on a separate nuclear test ban treaty under effective international safeguards."

Furthermore, the department said, the Soviet Union long had insisted "that it will only discuss such an arrangement (a test ban) in the context of general disarmament negotiation."

Resume on Tuesday

The nuclear test sessions resumed in Geneva Tuesday after a holiday recess. The United States and Britain immediately made an appeal, the State Department said, for the Soviet Union to agree to engage in "serious negotiation."

This appeal the Russians flatly rejected, the State Department said.

Molotov Charged

bourgeois ideologists but also by people who slip from the living and creative Marxist-Leninist position to the path of dead dogmatism.

"This refers directly to the anti-party group headed by Molotov, (Lazarus M.) Kaganovich and (former Premier G. M.) Malenkov. As is known, Molotov, in his dogmatic stubborness, slips down to making statements alleging that Lenin never and at no time spoke about coexistence of states with different social systems."

Returned Nov. 12

Molotov, now 71, returned home from Vienna Nov. 12 to fight a move to expel him from the Communist party after Khrushchev had denounced him and other members of the anti-party group once again at the 22nd Soviet Communist party congress. It was generally assumed that Molotov would be expelled from the party and at best would be allowed to live out his days in obscurity.

The announcement that he was returning to Vienna aroused immediate speculation in diplomatic quarters that Khrushchev had suffered a setback.

Vienna Trip Uncertain

The Foreign Ministry at first said Molotov already was en route to the Austrian capital. Later that week the ministry said it did not know when he was going back. The ministry now will not even discuss the matter with Western correspondents. Neither will the headquarters of the Soviet Communist party.

Pravda's article declared peaceful coexistence is absolutely necessary now because a new world war would be suicide.

It praised Khrushchev for having made more than 30 visits to countries in Europe, Asia and America in support of his policy of peaceful coexistence.

Congress Approval Of Army Changes Appears Assured

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress appears willing to accept President Kennedy's plan to streamline the Army's high command.

The reorganization program caused little surprise and no declared opposition when it was announced by the Pentagon Tuesday. Its major provisions were known beforehand to key members of both House and Senate, either of which could kill it by passing a resolution.

The plan—the first major Army reorganization in nine years—involves creation of two new commands under which will be concentrated (1) research, (2) development, (3) procurement and (4) other functions now performed by such individual technical services as the Ordnance, Quartermaster and Signal Corps.

It does not affect the Army's combat structure or any of the field command organizations.

"The prime purpose of this reorganization is to develop an army with the best possible command structure, management, training, doctrine, weapons, equipment and morale," said Secretary of the Army Elvis J. Stahr Jr.

A House Armed Services Committee member said he had heard of no strong opposition to the scheme and doubted whether any member would even go through the motions of offering a disapproving resolution.

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., member of the Senate Armed Services committee, commented that "I am convinced that the proposed changes will give us a better Army—and also the maximum return for the taxpayer's dollar."

The Continental Army Command at Ft. Monroe, Va., will take over the training of technical manpower, a job it already does for combat personnel.

The Army will also establish an office of personnel operations to exercise central control of all Army assignment and promotions.

$2 Million Bail Asked for Jailed Trader of Stamps

UTICA, N.Y. (AP)—A lawyer planned to ask State Supreme Court today to raise from $10,000 to $2 million the bond required for the release of a trading-stamp trader from jail.

Anthony J. Fernicola, the lawyer, failed Tuesday to obtain from Justice Frank Del Vecchio an order that would free Theodore Berkley. The justice reserved decision on a petition for a writ of habeas corpus.

Berkley, involved in a court fight with one of the nation's oldest and largest firms dealing in trading stamps, was jailed because he refused to pay a $500 fine for contempt of court. He has said he was willing to remain in jail "on behalf of the American housewife."

The Sperry & Hutchinson Co., which deals in trading stamps, had obtained a temporary court order to restrain Berkley from engaging in his business of swapping stamps of one kind for another. The firm contended the operation was an unfair business practice.

Seeds of Unrest

Sukarno Arrests Former Premier

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Former Premier Sutan Sjahrir, a pioneer in Indonesia's struggle for independence, has been arrested along with a dozen other leaders of dissolved political parties, informed sources said today.

The arrest of Dr. Sjahrir, former Foreign Minister Mohammed Roem and others took place early Tuesday, apparently on orders from President Sukarno, sources said.

All those reported taken into custody were leaders or associates of the Socialist party or the right-wing Masjumi Moslem party.

There was speculation that the arrests were due to political tension in the country generated by the clash with the Netherlands over West New Guinea.

Sjahrir, a leader of the now-dissolved Socialist party, was premier of the unrecognized Indonesian republic from 1945 to 1947, during the first two years of its fight for independence from the Dutch. He had been mostly out of public life since the nation became independent in 1949.

Both the Masjumi and the Socialist party had bitterly opposed Sukarno's "guided democracy" government until he banned them on August 17, 1960.

Wagner May Seek Governor Post, Eleanor Indicates

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP) — Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York, who has said he intended to serve his new, four-year term, may seek the Democratic nomination for governor after all, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt indicates.

Wagner has been mentioned often as the likely opponent of Republican Gov. Rockefeller, who will seek re-election in November.

The mayor has said repeatedly, however, he planned to keep his New York City post, to which he was re-elected last fall.

But Mrs. Roosevelt said Tuesday night a political declaration like Wagner's frequently is "not a permanent announcement."

The widow of President Franklin D. Roosevelt commented at a news conference prior to speaking at a meeting of the International Relations Club at Harpur College in nearby Vestal.

Turnpike Aide Is For Safety Belts

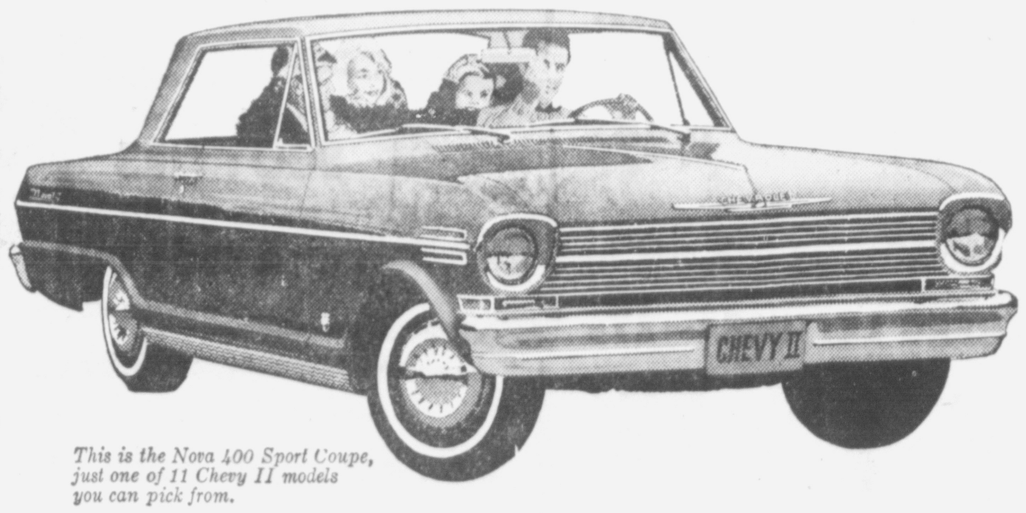

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Auto seat belts could have saved one out of every five persons killed on the Pennsylvania Turnpike last year, a turnpike aide said Tuesday.

Turnpike Public Relations director Robert E. Hetherington, addressing the Western Pennsylvania Safety Council here, said many deaths were caused by accidents in which the victim died after being thrown out of his auto. Seat belts could prevent these deaths, he said.

Noting that seat belts are not yet in widespread use, he pointed out that of the few motorists involved in turnpike accidents while using the belts, none was killed.

CHEVY II WINS AWARD FOR ENGINEERING EXCELLENCE!!!

This is the Nova 400 Sport Coupe, just one of 11 Chevy II models you can pick from.

The men who know cars best put Chevy II to the test. And, after they had compared it with the rest of the '62 crop, the editors of Car Life magazine picked Chevy II for their coveted Engineering Excellence Award. Why? Well, here are just a few of the reasons in the editors' own words: "We think the Chevy II, in either 4- or 6-cylinder form, represents an important development in the American automotive field. . . .

"The car is maximum transportation at minimum cost—minimum in both initial price and cost of operation." And sprinkled throughout the editors' reports on the engineering and road testing you'll find authoritative accolades like "easy maintenance and service" . . . "long wearing ruggedness" . . . "simple elegance" . . . "modern in concept and design" . . . "reasonable size" . . . "sound and solid" . . . "delightful car to drive" . . . "up to date as the missile age."

Get the full story on the spunky, stylish Chevy II in the February, 1962, issue of Car Life. Or, better yet, get on down to your Chevrolet dealer's and see for yourself why liveliness, luxury and low price have never been more beautifully blended!

He is now serving as assistant chief, a position he has held since 1960.

The course will run for the next ten weeks and all volunteer firemen are especially urged to attend in order to become acquainted with all the latest fire fighting regulations. Chief Thein in making the announcement of the courses, expressed his pleasure at the excellent turnout of volunteers from the Cedar Grove and Saxton Fire Companies who have attended the first two classes already held, and requested attendance from volunteers of other companies to join the 30 men who are already registered.

Blasts Damage Negro Churches

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Dynamite explosions at three Negro churches—the first such violence involving churches here in 3½ years—damaged the buildings and nearby houses Tuesday night.

No one was in any of the church buildings at the time and no injuries were reported by nearby residents.

Two police officers near one of the blast scenes received minor injuries from the force of the explosion.

Fire Marshal A. Rosenfeld said the blasts were caused by dynamite.

The first explosion occurred at New Bethel Baptist church shortly after 10 p.m.; the second seven minutes later at St. Luke's African Methodist Episcopal Zion church three blocks away; and the third about 40 minutes later at a small independent church—Triumph Church of Kingdom of God in Christ—about three miles from the area of the other explosions.

Several bombing incidents—some with racial implications—occurred here in recent years. The last was an unsuccessful attempt to dynamite a Negro church in 1958.

Pastors of the churches bombed Tuesday night said they could give no reasons for the blasts.

Spasmodic racial trouble has erupted here several times in recent years. Some houses occupied by Negroes were damagd by dynamit in April 1956.

OAS Report Will Lash Cuba, Ties

WASHINGTON (AP)—An inter-American peace committee report due today or Thursday is reported to condemn Cuba for acts of intervention, human rights violations, and Communist ties.

The Organization of American States report is based on the committee's investigation of Prime Minister Fidel Castro's regime in Cuba. The investigation was requested in a resolution introduced by Peru.

Authoritative sources have said the report contains these major points:

1. Citation and condemnation of Cuba for acts of subversion and political intervention. This reportedly is backed by nine examples of political intervention on the part of the Castro government. In each case, sources said, evidence is presented by the government concerned.

2. Condemnation of human rights violations. Six broad categories of these violations are cited, including executions, jailings, deportations, and deprivation of property.

3. Condemnation of Castro's proclaimed ties with the Sino-Soviet bloc.

Latin American experts regard the report as one of the strongest documents ever presented against a country. One diplomatic source said the report is "a serious document that makes no affirmation that is not backed by fact."

The committee chairman is Ambassador Francisco R. Lima of El Salvador, whose government, with other Central American states, plans to seek sanctions against Castro at next week's foreign ministers' conference at Punta del Este, Uruguay.

The other members of the committee are Colombia, the United States, Uruguay and Venezuela. The committee approved the report unanimously.

The peace committee's report will be one of the basic documents to be laid before the foreign ministers, who will determine if the Castro regime constitutes a menace to the peace of the hemisphere and, if so, what steps are to be taken to meet the problem.

The U.S. delegation, to be headed by Secretary of State Dean Rusk, made plans to leave Saturday night for the foreign ministers' conference, which opens on Monday.

Ask JFK Policy To Help Rails

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—President Kennedy has been urged to draft a national transportation policy to help save the New Haven Railroad and other faltering lines.

The appeal was sent to the White House Tuesday after a meeting of executives of the four states in which the New Haven operates.

Their telegram to Kennedy also asked him to urge Congress to lift the 10 per cent railroad excise tax for lines in financial jeopardy.

Participating in the meeting were governors John N. Dempsey of Connecticut, who called the session, Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, John A. Volpe of Massachusetts and John Notte of Rhode Island, Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York City and Edwin Michaelian, county executive of Westchester County, N.Y.

New Yorkers In Washington

By JOSEPH R. COYNE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Never underestimate the initiative of an 11-year-old who wants to deliver newspapers.

There's one in Rochester, N.Y., who wanted a paper route but said he couldn't get one because he was too young. He asked Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., to help.

The youngster, whose name Keating did not disclose, penciled this note to the senator:

"I don't like the law that says kids cannot have paper roots until they are twelve because I am eleven and I want a paper root. You can't get any other good jobs either. Can you do anything about it?"

Keating was out of town at the time, but an aide said the law the youngster spoke of must be a state law. He suggested the lad contact his state assemblyman for advice.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., is convinced that Russian spies slipped into his hotel room each night and rummaged through his luggage during his recent trip to the Soviet Union.

"There's nothing definite," Javits said. "It's just a feeling."

He said clothes in the suitcases he and his wife carried appeared on many occasions to have been disarranged.

New Yorkers kicked off the opening of Congress in style this year. The state society, which is made up of Empire Staters who work in Washington, held a reception in the old Supreme Court chamber at the Capitol.

The society is headed by Rep. Robert R. Barry, R-N.Y.

Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., jokingly referred to Rep. Leo W. O'Brien, D-N.Y., as "my congressman" when both met in the Speaker's lobby for the opening of Congress last week.

In the recent reapportionment of congressional districts, Stratton's home county, Schenectady, was moved into O'Brien's district for the 1962 elections.

Grahamsville Sets Fair Date Aug. 25

Concessions will start operations Friday afternoon and continue through the fair on Saturday. There will be auto races Saturday night.

Rain date is set for Aug. 27, the following Monday.

Radford Moore, A. J. Erath, C. M. Dayton and Van Furman were re-elected directors for three-year terms. Emmett Walter and Arthur Burch were again chosen president and vice president, Robert Many was re-elected general superintendent; Oland Erath, secretary; Theron Hasbrouck, treasurer and Inez Gridley, publicity agent.

Miss. Paper Closing

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — The Jackson State Times, an afternoon newspaper, announced today it would end publication with today's editions.

R. E. Dumas Milner, president of the State Times Publishing Corp., said at a news conference he had made the decision because of a continued decrease in advertising.

He said equipment of the paper, which began publication Feb. 28, 1955, would be sold to the Mississippi Publishers Corp., which publishes the rival Jackson Daily News and Morning Clarion-Ledger.

Can't See Water Now in Creek That Did Damage

MOHAWK, N.Y. (AP) — The usually placid Fulmer Creek, which went on a rampage and flooded the main street and basements of 50 homes here, was so peaceful today that it couldn't be seen.

The flood waters returned to the stream bed Tuesday night and flowed out of sight beneath thousands of chunks of ice that still choked the 25-foot-wide creek.

"We can't see the water," a policeman said.

The creek surged into a residential area of this Mohawk Valley community Monday night as an ice jam, piled against a concrete bridge, diverted the water over the banks.

In addition to the flooded basements, these were some of the effects: 50 houses left without heat, 20 families evacuated from their homes and dozens of foundations weakened.

Although no damage estimate was available, it was expected to run into thousands of dollars.

Crews blasted ice jams in the creek in an effort to clear the channel. Other workers, including volunteer firemen, manned pumps of every type to remove water from the flooded basements. Still other workers used plows and trucks to haul away the 6-by-8-foot pieces of ice washed into the main street, Route 5S.

The flood followed a heavy downpour, which coupled with temperatures in the 40s, broke a solid bed of ice in the creek.

Won't Give Out Surplus Potatoes To Welfare Folk

WASHINGTON (AP)— The Agriculture Department says it definitely will not distribute surplus potatoes to families on relief.

Such distribution would be a "very questionable undertaking," Acting Secretary John P. Duncan Jr. said in a letter to Rep. Harold C. Ostertag, R-N.Y.

Ostertag had asked the department to make surplus potatoes available to welfare recipients in New York State.

In his letter, released Tuesday, by Ostertag, Duncan cited warehouse and storage problems, the availability of potatoes at low cost in grocery stores and the high cost of nationwide distribution as reasons for reaffirming the department's position.

Duncan recently rejected a similar request by Sen. Kenneth B. Keating R-N.Y.

State Police travel about 6,500,000 miles each year while patrolling the New York State Thruway.

DON'T MEET ME IN ST. LOUIE, LOUIE— The State highway near St. Louis takes on the appearance of the Actic wastes as snow is piled nine feet high along the road. Plows pushed the snow to the side of the highway and high winds added an artistic touch to the scene. (NEA Telephoto)

Project in Mothballs

GOP Leaders Reject Chief's Union Message

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate and House Republican leaders have quietly vetoed National Chairman William E. Miller's effort to write a GOP state of the union message.

Miller circulated among party chieftains a 4,000-word document vigorously criticizing the Kennedy administration's record and proposing a series of political stands to be taken by Republicans in the new session of Congress.

Miller predicted 10 days ago the issuance of such a statement. He said the idea was to advance "affirmative programs" which Republican candidates could cite in the campaign as being more effective than President Kennedy's proposals.

The Republican leaders in the Senate and House, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, declined to go along with the idea.

They put the project in mothballs for possible consideration later in the year of some statement of broad principles on which a majority of Republicans could agree.

Dirksen and Halleck will continue to lay down Republican tenets in their weekly "Ev and Charlie" news conference, uninhibited by any guidelines Miller wanted defined in advance.

The first of their 1962 news conferences is scheduled for Thursday.

Science at Work In World Today

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Mother Earth taking a breather from earthquakes; the possible magic of souped-up light; and aerial typewriting are among the latest subjects for science at work.

Bushed-out Earth

Although plenty of major political rumblings occurred on its surface during 1961, the earth last year was comparatively quiet by the standpoint of producing internal rumblings — earthquakes, that is.

U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey seismologists told a reporter the year was a weak one for earthquakes—with only a few really big temblors occurring, and these at widely separated places.

Their explanation:

Mother Earth was, in effect, pretty bushed after rumbling in real tough fashion the year before —when she loosed such major quakes as the Chilean one that spawned a great tidal wave in the Pacific Ocean.

Souped-up Light

Keep the name LASER under your hat. Some day, devices bearing that monicker may vastly increase the range of space communication; make possible knifeless surgery; allow transmission of 100 million simultaneous telephone calls; and even provide a new form of death ray.

Navy and other scientists say such possibilities are envisioned from still highly experimental research on the LASER technique, more formally known as "Light Amplification by Stimulated Emission of Radiation."

LASER is a system for amplifying and sharpening weak waves of light to produce a very narrow, powerful beam—and the ultimate hope is to employ optical waves in much the same way radio waves are now used.

Its secret is based on the fact that if certain chemicals, gaseous or solid, are excited to emit light —for example, under the influence of an electric current—the weak light will further interact with atoms of the material. Under proper conditions, the original waves of light are thereby intensified.

Aerial Typist

Now we have skytyping by airplanes as well as the more familiar skywriting.

As described in Ethyl News, five airplanes fly parallel courses in tight formation and . oot out staccato smoke bursts electronically. The idea is to get a skywritten advertisement out fast before poor weather sets in.

In the typing technique, one central-control pilot in the squadron operates a radio transmitter which sends impulses to receivers in the other planes—triggering smoke valves.

Farmer Dies in Mishap

CLAY, N.Y. (AP)—A 71-year-old farmer died Tuesday after he fell head first into a chicken feeder and was nearly buried in grain, police said.

Fred Joss lost his life in the accident on his farm near this Onondaga County community.

N. Y. Holding Firm To Buy Co. Control

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Public Service Commission today authorized National Fuel Gas Co., a New York City holding firm, to acquire control of Empire Gas and Fuel Co. Ltd. of Wellsville.

National Fuel will exchange 108,100 shares of its stock, valued at $3,080,850, for 12,400 shares of Empire stock, the PSC said.

Empire sells natural gas to approximately 15,000 customers in parts of Allegany and Steuben counties, including the cities of Hornell and Wellsville.

The PSC said National Fuel planned to integrate the operations of Empire with the Iroquois Gas Co., one of its subsidiaries serving much of Western New York.

Budget Time in Washington

JFK Will Air New Figures, To Be Record for Peacetime

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the most awful things about the federal budget—and it is awful if you're not good at arithmetic—is that it will monopolize Washington conversation for quite a while.

In two plump volumes President Kennedy at noon Thursday unfolds for Congress the national budget, his estimate on the cost of running the government another year.

More Simplified Now

One of the most delightful things about Kennedy's budget, in a gruesome kind of way, is that it is supposed to be more simplified and streamlined than any budget of the past.

The only one likely to think so is the superintendent of a digit factory. Nobody could enjoy this budget, or any other budget, except an accountant. Having to read it is like being sentenced to frustration.

Many people in government, thousands, have been putting this estimate together since last summer.

The all-time peak for budget spending, in any one year — $98,416,000,000 — was reached in 1945. That was the big, climactic year of World War II.

Kennedy's budget is expected to be around $92.5 billion, the highest of any peacetime year. It is for the fiscal year beginning next July 1 and ending June 30, 1963.

If this seems like a shocker, it needn't be. The cost of running the government has been going up. In the fiscal year ending next June 30 spending will probably top $89 billion.

Steady March Up

The budget trend under President Dwight D. Eisenhower was up, too, although it dipped a couple of times. It has been that way ever since President Harry S. Truman's time when, after a postwar low point of $32,955,000,000 in 1948, there was an almost steady march up.

In the various departments and agencies of government, beginning last summer, officials began estimating their next fiscal year cost. Department heads went over the figures. They are supposed to cut where they can.

When all that is done, the figures go to the Budget Bureau, which not only is supposed to reduce dollars to pennies but insist that department heads justify every dime they say they need.

Then Fun Begins

After that the President and his advisers go over the estimates. The final, finished bundle, covering everything from pencils to missiles, is what Kennedy hands Congress.

Then the fun begins. Some members of Congress have regular reflex actions every year when the budget arrives. This time, before he ever saw it, Rep. Clarence Cannon, D-Mo., announced as he has in the past: "We will have to cut it."

Cannon is chairman of the House Appropriations Committee which will divide itself up into a lot of subcommittees and then for months hold hearings to quiz government officials on why they need so much.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The Kennedy Administration is giving the old college try in its hope of changing the pattern of prime labor crises.

Americans are used by now to important labor - management negotiations going down to the final deadline for strike, with tension mounting over possible calamities to companies, workers and public alike. The suspense often takes a toll itself—in nerves, in bitterness, in money, in economic disruption.

Early Pact Sought

In the upcoming steel contract talks, widely labeled this year as crucial, the administration is hoping to get a pact well in advance of the July 1 strike deadline. The public would doubtless be the gainer, especially if the hurried-up talks don't set off another inflationary wage-price spiral.

But even the well-wishers for the success of the administration effort, and they are many, wonder a little if the goals the President set in his news conference Monday can be reached, human nature being what it is.

The President wants the early pact to halt a buildup in steel inventories already under way and likely to get up steam if the talks later should appear headed for deadlock. Such a buildup could upset the time table of the current recovery, and a subsequent letdown could disrupt the economy.

It is only natural for both labor and management negotiators to want to use any tool they can to win their points. One traditional tool is an approaching deadline whose increasing nearness inspires concessions to avoid a strike. Neither side would want a strike if it could get in other ways the concessions on which it has set its heart.

Against Stockpiling

While the administration strives to get the steel talks under way and hopes for an early pact, it is urging steel users to avoid piling up steel stocks. Their increased orders, apparently for a hedge against a possible strike, has sent steel output to its highest weekly volume since early April 1960.

It is to the steel users advantage to avoid piling up stocks beyond their current needs, the Iron Age points out today. The metalworking weekly says this would ease pressure on the market, eliminate the cost of carrying heavy stocks, and help prevent a possible business decline in the final months of the year, which would hurt them along with many others.

But the magazine also notes that many steel users feel they can't afford to gamble on any evidence to date that there won't be a strike or a hike in prices as a result of it or of a pact averting it. Company executives feel they can't afford to be caught without steel.

Dynamite Removed

An employe of Hercules Powder Company, Port Ewen, was summoned Monday to remove five sticks of dynamite from the premises of Deputy Sheriff Frank Neri Jr., of Mountain Road, Ashokan. While cleaning up about the premises, which he had purchased a week ago, Neri found the dynamite in a chicken coop. Sheriff Claude Bell was notified and sought assistance from Hercules in removing the explosive which was placed in a container and disposed of. How long the dynamite had been in the chicken coop is not known. The premises were acquired by Neri from Harold Buley.

Right Opening Is Slam Setter

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

At last year's winter carnival tournament in St. Paul, a few people couldn't play because the hotel ran out of chairs and tables.

For this year's event on Feb. 1, 2, 3 and 4, Leo and Reine Seewald, who are largely responsible for making the tournament one of the best there is, have promised there will be chairs and tables for all.

In last year's event, Reine really pulled the chair out from under South when she came up with the right opening lead against his slam contract.

She was faced with two tough problems after North's bid of six spades. The first one was whether to save at seven hearts, but she decided against that course.

The choice of opening lead was tougher. Everyone likes to lay down an ace against a slam contract, but Reine was sure that North would be void of hearts. She also was sure that North was going to show up with a tremendous diamond suit.

Therefore, a trump opening could do her no good. That left a possible ace and one diamond opening. Leo might be able to ruff the second diamond. That seemed unlikely and this left one other suit, clubs. The club was led and South had a bottom score.

Bright Colors Are Introduced in Style Show by Italians

By LOUISE HICKMAN

FLORENCE, Italy (AP) — Patrick de Barentzen produced a new spring and summer fashion collection Tuesday night chock full of ideas.

Rib-hugging little jackets had collarless necklines high in front and carved out in V shapes or squares or horseshoes to just over the shoulder blades in back.

Opened-out accordion pleatings gave appealing texture to some of the trim, spare De Barentzen silk suits. Closely placed bias bands—worked horizontally, vertically and diagonally—added surface interest to other designs.

An evening coat's pleated collar swirled high around the face or opened out flat.

Colors were bright: yellow, oranges, maroons, pinks and greens.

De Barentzen's coats had close-fitting bodices, wide skirts and wide bell sleeves falling from narrow shoulders.

Slim afternoon dusters, in crepes used the knotted scarf motif for bodice draping. Waistlines started to rise about cocktail time, when the line went Empire with pleat-broken flared skirts.

The De Barentzen evening scene went off in too many directions at once to be consistent. The hats by M. Gilles, De Barentzen's partner, were the best part. Circlets of flower pouf, with veiling centers, covered the face like a fencer's mask.

Peters-Goercke Wedding Is Announced; Ceremony Takes Place at St. Joseph's

Miss Madge Martha Peters, daughter of Mrs. Helen Paradies, 302 Wall Street, exchanged nuptial vows with Rolf Alexander Goercke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander J. Goercke, 176 Smith Avenue, this city, on January 16 in St. Joseph's Church.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony was the Rev. William E. Williams. Mrs. Frank Rafferty was organist and Max Schmitt was soloist.

Poinsettias decorated the church and the pews were marked with white satin ribbon.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother. She wore a gown of white Chantilly lace over satin. It was styled with a Sabrina neckline outlined with pearls and sequins, long sleeves and a long molded bodice. The bouffant hooped chapel length skirt was designed with tiers of pleated tulle. She also wore a matching lace mantilla and carried two white orchids.

Joan Murphy of Kingston served as maid of honor in a ballerina length gown of lavender satin peau designed with a scoop neckline, short sleeves and a pouff bustle in back. Her matching crown with circular veil and short white gloves completed the outfit.

Marion Goercke, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, and Joan Dwyer of Kingston served as attendants. Candace Scott of Kingston was junior bridesmaid and Eve Scott of Kingston was flower girl.

The attendants wore gowns identical in style and color to that worn by the honor attendant. The junior bridesmaid wore a ballerina length gown of pale lavender silk with a matching crown and short white gloves. The flower girl was attired in a ful length gown of pale lavender silk. All carried bouquets of lavender mums.

Eric R. Goercke, the bridegroom's brother, was best man. Ushering were Robert J. Langling of Woodstock, and Bernard Smith of Morgan Hill.

Approximately 100 guests were entertained at The Alpine.

The bride was graduated from Kingston High School and the Moran-Spencerian School of Business. She is employed by Rusk, Rusk and Feeney. Her husband is an alumnus of Kingston High School and is employed by William Rylance and Sons, Inc. He served three years in the U. S. Navy, two years of which were spent in the Pacific area.

For her wedding trip to New York City, the bride wore a raspberry crepe dress with black accessories and a corsage of white orchids.

Mr. and Mrs. Goercke will reside at 7 St. James Court, this city, when they return.

Discussion Meeting Held at Methodist Church; So. America

The first of a series of meetings to be held at Clinton Avenue Methodist Church opened Sunday, Jan. 14 with a covered dish supper under the supervision of Mrs. Louis Becker. Later those present adjourned to the Assembly Room for services at 7 p. m.

The Rev. R. T. Edwards, pastor of the church, welcomed the group and made the announcements. Mrs. Clarence Dederick had charge of the Worship Service. A choir of 16 young people under the leadership of Mrs. Robert Gaines led the musical program. Mrs. R. T. Edwards was pianist.

Mrs. Alex Arcus, in charge of the program, used the book on Latin America "Land of the Eldorado" by Bishop Santo Uberto Barbiero as the basis of her study. The subjects used were "First Came the Conqueror and the Friar," "From Imperialism and Ecclesiastical Dominion to Freedom" and "The Fight for Self Government." These are descriptive chapters of early life in Latin America. Through discussion, map study and a quiz session, Mrs. Arcus gave a very comprehensive coverage of the early days in the Southtern Continent.

Mrs. Thomas Miller and Mrs. Arthur Crist had an interesting display of articles from Latin America. Mr. Crist had made a large poster of the Land of the Eldorado which served as a background for the display.

Mrs. Clayton R. Smith gave a brief summary of the castrophe which befell Peru last week. Mrs. Florrie Campbell closed the meeting with an inspiring meditation.

Sunday evening, Jan. 21, Thomas Miller will lead the Worship Service and Mrs. Clarence Dederick will continue the Study.

A covered dish supper will be served at 5:45 p. m. Evening Service, at 7 p. m. These are public services and everyone is invited.

SHOWER FOR A NEW HOUSE OWNER

Q: A friend of mine who is in her late thirties has just bought a small bungalow type house. She is not married. I would like to know if it would be proper to give a household shower for her. There are many things she needs as she has never set up housekeeping before. Heretofore she lived in a furnished apartment. This friend has gone to many showers throughout the years for friends and relatives and I thought it would be nice to give a shower for her and invite all those whom she gave presents. Would such a shower be in order, and if so, what would it be called?

A: It will be quite proper to give this friend a household shower. It would be called just that.

Q: What obligation is there for the bride's family to put up the various guests coming from out of town to our daughter's wedding? Are there any who have to be taken care of and any who don't have to be?

A: The bride's attendants who come from out of town have to be provided for by the bride's family, but not necessarily any others. It would of course be very hospitable to take care of the bridegroom's immediate family, if possible. But this is the exception rather than the rule.

Q: We are a family of moderate means and live a simple, moderate life. Our youngest son who has graduated from the Naval Academy has recently become engaged to a girl who comes from a very social and well to-do family. Will you please tell me what our duties and obligations are toward the girl and her family? I do so much want to do the right thing and not embarrass our son.

A: You and your husband should call on the girl's parents, telephoning first to find out when would be a convenient time for them to receive you. After this one formal requirement you let your future relationship with them take its natural spontaneous course.

We The Women

On Guard, You Husbands, For These Wifely Phrases

For men who haven't been married long enough to know—these are all wifely phrases that should put you on your guard for what's to follow:

● "Oh, by the way,"... Sounds casual, doesn't it? But your wife is about to announce something she has been waiting to spring on you until just the right moment. "Oh, by the way ... I had a letter from my sister, Sue, and she and Bill and the six children are planning to spend their vacation with us. Isn't that nice?"

● "I've got a surprise for you ..." This will be a surprise, all right, usually in the "it-was-such-a-bargain - I-just-couldn't-resist-it" department—though it may be anything from a fur coat for her to a new sofa for the living room. But don't expect it to be anything for YOU—not with that opening.

● "Now don't say a word until I've finished..." This is going to be bad. She's smashed a fender, overdrawn your checking account, or something of the sort. This is the time when you can make yourself a hero in her eyes just by not reacting the way she expects you to react. And with this opening you can be sure she expects the worst.

● "Oh, I almost forgot to tell you."... She hasn't almost forgotten. She has just been putting off telling you something you aren't going to be happy about... like accepting an invitation from a couple who bore you to death, or volunteering your services as a handy man or something of the sort.

● "I've got the most wonderful idea...." She'll look excited and starry-eyed when she begins with this one, because she knows good and well that while you may have your faults, you just can't disappoint her when she really has her heart set on something very special.

Safety in Numbers But Divorce Holds

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Judge Raymond W. Graham granted Evelyn Jones, 27, a divorce from Ernest Jones Tuesday but said the basis for the petition was "the most amazing I've ever seen."

"That a husband and father of 11 children should be guilty of incompatibility does injustice to the term," said Judge Graham.

The couple married when Mrs. Jones was 13 and has children aged 12, 11, 9, 8, 7, 6, 5, 4, 3, 2, and 1.

Who Will Foot the Bill For Higher Education?

BY FAYE HENLE

Here's a question I've been expecting from you: On what investment can I get a guaranteed 10 per cent return?

And, here's the answer: education.

Expenditures for education have been doubling every 10 years. Last year, according to a study by the Chase Manhattan Bank, formal education cost Americans nearly $45 billion, an amount equal to 9 per cent of production of all goods and services.

Included in this staggering figure were the salaries of two million teachers, plus salaries of others in schools and colleges. It included the maintenance and carrying charges on $43 billion in buildings and equipment as well as the time and effort of 13.8 million high school and college students, whom it is pointed out, might otherwise have contributed to the nation's output.

Because so many people realize the 10 per cent or more return that education yields, the pressure for education is great. A study financed by The U. S. Office of Education under its Cooperative Research Program affirms the economic significance of learning and notes:

"State colleges and universities will enroll an increased proportion of the nation's student population."

Based on a survey of 3,000 families on the question of financing education, half felt that a larger part of the cost of higher education should come out of tax funds.

This same survey reports an overwhelming majority of parents plan to send their children to state colleges, thus imposing more pressure than presently on states and the federal government to finance education.

Why the interest in state-endowed education? In many instances it costs about half as much to attend a state endowed college as it does to attend a private college. Many educators point out that good students are, and will continue to be, lost to private colleges because of rising costs.

It seems now that business is stepping in to insist that our economic growth is directly related to our educational gains. The bank study points to the fact that the rate of return on investment in education is about the same as the rate of return on business investment. They say, we have not passed the point where a dollar invested in education would yield the community less than a dollar of new plant and equipment.

The question then is: who is to support the financial needs of education, private enterprise or the government?

If you are in any position to make your voice heard, you might drop a note in the company suggestion box. I think you should press for more aid to education from private enterprise. Not only should more dollars come from private citizens but also greater vigilance over the rising cost of learning.

The bank study suggests more efficient programming of classroom use over a longer day and longer school year to reduce from $12.7 billion to $4.3 billion the funds which it is estimated will be needed to add new classrooms between now and 1970.

Solons Briefed On Differences Of Pin Machines

WASHINGTON (AP)—Take an austere congressional hearing room. Bring in a couple of garish pinball machines. Set them to chugging and dinging, banging and whirring, winking and blinking, and what have you got?

You have a row of congressmen grinning like a bunch of kids who know they're not supposed to smile in church, but can't help noticing the minister is still wearing his bedroom slippers.

That was the situation Tuesday with the House Interstate Commerce Committee. The amused smiles didn't last long, because the subject at hand was serious—a proposed law to ban gambling type pinball machines that can't be touched under current federal laws.

Lawyer Rufus King demonstrated the difference between an amusement type pinball machine, made by one of his clients, and a gambling type that looks much the same but has an electronic inside that "looks like the control section of an ICBM rocket."

King said his client, the Gottlieb Co. of Chicago, and the American Bar Association supports the proposed measure to ban interstate shipment of the gambling machines and require their makers to register with the Justice Department.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy earlier told the committee organized crime is making hundreds of millions of dollars a year out of these machines and it is time to tighten the federal laws against them.

Po'keepsie Man Gets Jail Term In Assault Case

A 20-year-old Poughkeepsie youth was sentenced Tuesday afternoon to 10 days in the Ulster County Jail after pleading guilty before Town of Lloyd Justice of the Peace Philip W. Schunk to third degree assault.

Henry Graham Hall, of 35 Market Street, Poughkeepsie, was arrested by Highland State Police. Sergeant Robert Smith said Hall was accused of cutting Salagiel Lee Merritt Jr., 19, of 135 Main Street, Poughkeepsie, on Monday. The incident occurred on Route 9W, Highland.

Merritt was treated at Vassar Hospital for lacerations of the face, which authorities said were inflicted with a penknife.

Havana Readies Parley Defenses

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro's regime today lined up heavy defense artillery for the inter-American conference in Uruguay. The government announced that President Osvaldo Dorticos would head the Cuban delegation and Carlos Rafael Rodriguez, one of Cuba's top Communists, would go along with the rank of ambassador.

Until Tuesday, Foreign Minister Raul Roa was scheduled to head the delegation to the conference Jan. 22 which will take up charges that communism based in Cuba threatens the peace of the hemisphere.

The switch was interpreted as evidence Castro's regime is going to do everything possible to head off drastic collective action against it.

Except for the Uruguayan host, Dorticos is the only chief of state scheduled to attend the conference. A government communique said he would hold the rank of foreign minister during the meeting.

Rodriguez, editor of the Communist paper Hoy and a chief planner in Castro's campaign to lead Cuba down the Marxist-Leninist road, also was a last minute addition to the delegation.

It was understood word of the change was communicated to Latin-American diplomats at a reception given Tuesday night for Roa by the ambassador from Uruguay, one of the seven Latin-American nations that still maintains diplomatic relations with Cuba.

Another benefit dance party is planned for Thursday night, Jan. 25, at Tommie's on High Street. Both dances will commence at 8 p. m.

ARTIST AT WORK—The late Clarence Bolton of Woodstock is shown at work in one of his familiar haunts in Woodstock, with Overlook Mountain furnishing the backdrop.

Ethel Magafan, State College in New Art Fund

State University College of New Paltz will be among seven art galeries and museums in the East receiving gifts of contemporary American artists from the American Academy of Arts and Letters in New York, it has been announced.

Nineteen museums throughout the country wil receive paintings, which are acquisitions from the Childe Hassam Fund which is administered by the academy.

Woodstock's well-known Ethel Magafan is among the list of artists whose paintings were selected and acquired by the academy for gift to the various recipients.

Other artists in the group are: Paul Sample, Leonid Berman, Xavier Gonzalez, Ruth Gikow, Aaron Bohrod, Jay Robinson and Stuyvesant Van Veen.

The eastern recipients, besides New Paltz, will be Finch College, New York University, Cayuga Musueum, Auburn; Prendergast Free Library, Jamestown and Rutgers University and University of Vermont.

Clarence Bolton Was Outstanding In Woodstock Art

Clarence Bolton, who died recently, was known as "Bolt" to his family and many friends and earned an enduring reputation as one of Woodstock's noted lithographers and landscape painters.

A native of Wallingford, Conn., he came to Woodstock in 1917 for a two weeks vacation and remained in the artists colony until his death.

A graduate of the Yale School of Fine Arts, "Bolt" became famos for his lithograph of Woodstock's historic Dutch Reformed Church which he named "Morning Worship." Among other well known lithographs of his are "At Home" and "Still Waters."

Bolton was one of the first members of the Woodstock Artists Association; also a member of the Society of American Graphic Arts, the Oklahoma Art League and the Connecticut Fine Arts Academy. He was honored with many prizes and sold many of his lithographs and paintings in galleries throughout the country. He was awarded the Warren H. Manning Purchase Prize of the Southern Society in 1938, and in 1939 his lithograph, "The Sap Gatherer" won him the Purchase Prize of the Oklahoma Art League.

Published Newspaper

Clarence Bolton married Woodstock's own Louise Cashdollar with whom he weathered many business ventures along with his art work. At one time they were the original owners of The Nook.

"Bolt" also printed and illustrated a one-sheet newspaper here in Woodstock, which later became a monthly magazine. He named it the "Clatter." It ran for two years. His manifold talents also earned for him a first prize in the National Textile Design Exhibition in New York among about 1,500 exhibitors. His oil paintings were hanging in the National Academy of Design.

"Bolt's" unassuming, untiring and unselfish traits of character are unmistakably reflected in his paintings by the simplicity of design and by his masterful capturing of the atmosphere and feeling of his subjects.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Louis Bolton; a sister, Mrs. Henry Jochim of Lake Park, Florida; and a brother, William Bolton of Old Greenwich, Conn.

Italian Scene, Second Part By Schimmerling

This is a continuation of the preceding article. I wish to express my gratitude to the representatives of the Italian government and the affiliated Italian Cultural Institute for the information used in this column.

At my repeated visits to Versailles I did not realize that the Sun King Louis XIV would have been unable to build the famous Hall of Mirrors without the help of some craftsmen who escaped from the Republic of Venice. Likewise, when visiting the glass factories in Murano near Venice, I did not know that the world's looking-glass manufacturing started here. Nobody said so in Venice. But this is what you can read in and between the lines of the 1961 October issue of the above mentioned bulletin.—Some Czechoslovak glass experts frowned at this statement. They are of the opinion that in Jablonec (Northern Bohemia) this type of glass merchandise was manufactured at an earlier date. We know that glass was known before Murano and Jablonec existed and, if I am not mistaken, Cleopatra of Egypt "admired herself in a mirror."

The bulletin says that Italy built 650,000 cars in 1960, 150,000 more than in 1959 and that the output in 1961 will show about the same increase. As much as this must be welcomed from the Italian industrial viewpoint, for the sightseeing visitor who wants to cross a street in Florence or Rome, this is no joke, Thanks God, many of the streets are exactly as narrow as during the time of the Medicis and the Borgias, but traffic conditions have changed considerably. Perhaps less gasoline manufacturing will counteract the rise in automobile production. One oil chemist, says the bulletin, is of the opinion that the stupidest thing one can do with oil today is to make gasoline. Italians turn only 40% of the available oil into fuel, the other 60% are turned into all kinds of fertilizers, plastics, artificial rubber, etc. I truly hope there would be fewer cars in Via Porta Rossa or around Trinita dei Monti in Florence and Rome respectively the next time I come there.

In Southern Italy unemployment is still a problem. But some relief, as the bulletin implies, will be the oil chemical plant in Brindisi which will be bigger than the city of Brindisi itself.

Who is engineer Claudio Marcello from Forli (Italy)? He can boast to have built the largest number of dams all over the world. He constructed 38 within 37 years, perhaps the best average on record; more than one a year. He built the longest "arched" dam in the world, "the great rainbow" in the Northern Appennines, as well as the "tallest", the 900-foot-high Vajor dam in the Venetian Alps. When he was asked "what was the most dramatic episode in your career," he said "In dam building, there are no dramatic moments, only major disasters. My dams are all standing."

Christian Science Theme Is on 'Life'

Conflicting demands of everyday living can be resolved through spiritual understanding of God as divine life.

This is a theme of the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Life" which is to be read at Christian Science services Sunday in Woodstock.

Selections from the Bible will include this verse from Psalm 40: "I delight to do thy will, O my God: yea, thy law is within my heart."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy this citation will be read (p. 184): "Truth, Life, and Love are the only legitimate and eternal demands on man, and they are spiritual lawgivers, enforcing obedience through divine statutes."

The Golden Text is from John (17): "This is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent."

Every Member Visitation Set At Lutheran

John Frederick Goedecke, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Goedecke of Woodstock, was received into the Christian Church through the Sacrament of Baptism at Christ Lutheran Church in Woodstock. Sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. Russell Kerl of Kingston.

This Sunday, at the 11 o'clock service the 1962 Every Member Visitation will receive its commission to visit all the members of the congregation. The purpose of the visit is to receive each member's financial pledge for the year, which will assist the church as it seeks to meet its local and world wide objectives.

In addition, the Visitation Program will provide an occasion for the members to become acquainted with the church's objectives for 1962, as well as providing an opportunity for each member to participate directly in the attainment of these objectives.

The women of the church will meet on Tuesday, Jan. 23, at 10 a. m. at the home of Mrs. Linda Smith of Woodstock to roll bandages which will be sent to the Lutheran mission in Liberia, Africa. Clean, old sheets may be left at the church this week for the purpose of providing bandage material.

Members of the committee are: Mrs. Ruth Bark, Lawrence Deede, Miss Carol DeWitt, Robert Hessenauer, Mrs. Hans Horgan, Mrs. Morton Moseman, Harold Schussler, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Snyder, Mrs. Fred Thaisz Jr. and Mrs. Alice Weider.

Hollywood News, Views

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Corinne Calvet, the Americanized French pastry, is getting her career off the ground after a hiatus of a few years.

The start of Corinne's renewed activity is a role as the contessa in Hemingway's "Adventures of a Young Man." It may well start her phone jingling again, but she isn't waiting around for that happy sound.

She has a new career: painting. To my own unstudied eye, it would seem this new career might overshadow the other one.

Corinne showed me some of the canvases in her Trousdale Estates home, a stone's throw from those of Richard Nixon, Dinah Shore and Groucho Marx—if you're the kind who throws stones.

The paintings are everywhere, even in the bathroom, and some of them seem brilliant. They are splashed with color, and in many of them you can see what the picture is about.

She classifies herself as "an impressionist who lets you know what she is doing."

Art is not new to her. When she started dabbling in drama in Paris, she was also studying sculpture and architecture at the Beaux Arts. Drama took precedence as she won fame in French and American films. When good roles stopped coming, she returned to art.

Now she is working till dawn each day to finish 45 paintings for a one-woman show in London in late spring.

Three years ago she was upset by her divorce from actor Jeffrey Stone and by the procession of sexpot roles that were submitted to her. She packed up son Robin and went to live in Paris. She remained a naturalized American citizen.

C. B. Aitchison, Former Member of ICC, Dies at 86

WASHINGTON (AP)—Clyde B. Aitchison, 86, a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission for 35 years before he retired in 1952, died Tuesday night.

An Oregon Republican, Aitchison was appointed to the ICC by President Wilson in 1917. He was reappointed by succeeding presidents.

He engaged in private law practice here after his retirement from the commission.

Aitchison was born in Clinton, Iowa, and was graduated from Hastings College. He later received a law degree from the University of Oregon. After practicing law in Oregon, he was a member of the state's railroad and public service commissions.

Surviving are a daughter, Miss Beatrice Aitchison, Washington; and a son, Clyde B. Aitchison Jr., Encino, Calif.

KLAGENFURT, Austria (AP)—Police are investigating an outbreak of anti-Semitism.

Anti-Semitic slogans have been scrawled repeatedly in the Jewish cemetery of this capital of Carinthia Province.

Graves of one Jewish family were smeared with excrement, tombstones were damaged and a member of the family received threatening letters.

Skids Off Runway

CHICAGO (AP)—A four-engine jet plane owned by the Corning Glass Works, Corning, N.Y., skidded off a runway Tuesday night at O'Hare International Airport.

Lt. Gene Iwanski of the airport fire station said no one was injured when the huge craft came to rest in deep snow. He said two crewmen and four passengers were aboard.

A nose wheel was damaged and a fuel tank punctured, Iwanski said. He said the plane will be towed in for repairs.

Trailway, Yellow Jackets, Byrne Register 'Y' Cage Wins

READY FOR TEE—Bing Crosby, feeling "all right," tosses a golf ball as he leaves St. John's Hospital, Santa Monica, Calif. Crosby underwent surgery to remove a kidney stone two weeks ago. Trailway Cafeteria, Yellow Jackets and Byrne Chevrolet scored victories in the Kingston YMCA Basketball league last night with Marty Kaye and Bruce Wiederspiel giving good individual performances.

The Cafeteria quintet nipped Accord, 64-60, thanks to a 34 point surge by Kaye, who normally feeds instead of taking shots. The former Gettysburg ace rimmed 16 field goals and two free throws for his total. Al Brown and Bill Fitzgerald were also in double figures for the winners, who had to stop a late surge by Accord. Ron Roby, the baskeball playing sportscaster, led the losers with 18 markers.

The Yellow Jackets overcame a bad first period and came from behind to nip Hub Delicatessen, 53-46, in a defensive battle. John Burris and Mel Williams shared honors for the winners while Al Short's 12 points paced the Delicatessen five.

Wiederspiel, one of the league's top shooters, had 12 field goals and eight free throws for 32 points in leading Byrne's to an easy win over Dick's Barber Shop, 93-73. Bruce Ruffner, Fred Orr and Walt Harder aided Wiederspiel. Joe Spada had 28 for the losers and Frank Allen contributed 19.

Tonight's schedule lists Baliton against Doran's at 7 o'clock and then a rematch of Saturday's night thriller between the Rye YMCA All-Stars and the Kingston stars, beginning at 8 p. m. It figures to be another good show.

Hawks Home Tonight Against C. W. Post

Seeking their fourth straight victory and their fifth in 11 outings, the New Paltz State Teachers College Hawks will host the C. W. Post cagers of Staten Island tonight, 8 p. m., at the New Paltz High School court.

Coach Doug Sheppard's cagers have scored consecutive wins over Fredonia State, Maritime and Drew University. The 94-53 decision over Drew was the best showing made by the Hawks to date.

After tonight's tilt, the team will be idle until Feb. 2 when it plays at Danbury State. Mid-term examinations are scheduled, giving the cagers a rest of some two weeks.

Only one home game will remain on the schedule when action resumes after the exams. That will be on Saturday, Feb. 17, against Oneonta State. Seven opponents will be met on the road.

Dates for State Tournament Snapped Up by Lady Keglers

As the closing date of January 23 draws nearer, the schedule for the 29th annual championship tournament of the New York State Woman's Bowling Association is rapidly being filled with teams from all parts of the Empire State.

There are exceptionally few open spots on weekends during the month of April. Entries are now being scheduled in March or later in May. All bowlers are urged to mail entries as soon as possible so that teams can be scheduled to the nearest date of their request.

All entry blanks must be signed by each local city association secretary and mailed to the office of the New York State Woman's Bowling Association, Inc., Mrs. Clover Bayley, secretary, 330 Electric Building, Watertown, N. Y., and must be postmarked not later than Jan. 23, in order to be honored as a bonafide entry in the tournament. This rule applies to all team, doubles and singles entry blanks.

Each of the 1961 champions of the New York State Woman's Bowling Association, Inc. are entered to defend their titles.

The defending champions are:

Team—Bar Chris Construction team, Nassau County, N. Y.

Doubles—Elouise Kennedy and Judy Edel, Buffalo.

Singles—Pat Culp, Hempstead, N. Y.

All Events — Phyllis Notaro Brant.

The Kingston Woman's Bowling Association is putting forth all efforts to make the bowlers' visit to Kingston, the hostess city, a pleasant one. The goal is 3,000 teams which would be an all-time record for the state tournament.

The Big Guy . . . In Trouble

Chamberlain Is Too Tall Even For Present-Day Basketball

BY MURRAY OLDERMAN
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

LOS ANGELES, (NEA)—The storm that has been building under seven-foot Wilt Chamberlain erupted on the floor of the Los Angeles Sports Arena.

Chamberlain was thrown out of a game for the first time. There were imprecations about the ancestry of the referee. One technical. A biting comment about the conduct of the game. Second technical and ejection.

To make sure the ripcord was pulled, Wilt pounced back on the court in two lopes for added riposte and got slapped with a third technical.

Chamberlain does everything big. It took courage for Norm Drucker to stand under the chin of the riled Philadelphia Warrior and keep pointing to the exit. Like surfboarding in a tidal wave.

The trouble now is that Chamberlain in scoring too much.

"He's become impossible the last several weeks," muttered a National Basketball Association official, "since he started hitting 50 a night. He's been reading what they write: 'So Chamberlain scores 70 points. What's it mean if his team loses?'

"He really wants to be known as a great player, like Elgin Baylor. Not just as a freak who dunks 'em."

One referee maintains that Chamberlain is bashful about the height that makes him a basketball superman and a highly controversial figure.

"Guy on the Warriors told me that Wilt doesn't even like to dunk the ball on a break unless he has to because he doesn't want to call attention to his height," he said.

WILT CHAMBERLAIN
"Not a freak who dunks 'em"

That's hard to believe. Like Jayne Mansfield wearing baggy clothes.

Sensitive Performer

Chamberlain is a sensitive, proud performer, however and, according to Coach Frank McGuire, is trying to take the spotlight off his point-making.

"He begs the other guys to shoot," insists McGuire, "and to drive up the alley because it would help him. The defense would have to switch and loosen up on him. But the players see this big guy so close to the basket. Psychologically they got to try to get the ball into him."

"Oh yeah," scoffs one official, "when did you ever see the Big Guy (that's how they talk about Chamberlain) pass off? When three guys drop off on him, you mean to tell me there aren't a couple of men open he could pass off to? You don't see them dropping off on (Bill) Russell."

Maybe they expect too much of Chamberlain. Because of his overwhelming physical prowess, he's never had to perfect the nuances of team play. Or maybe, as one official observes, they don't pay $65,000 a year to a guy who passes off.

"Wilt is a fine analyst,' defends McGuire. "He knows the game. I enjoy talking basketball with him. He's learning all the time. I've seen improvement since the season began.

"He'll come across the key hole to meet a pass, and that's asking a lot of a center who has gotten position. In this league you have to fight for it."

The way the incidents have been piling up, that isn't all Wilt Chamberlain will fight for.

Triandos Signs, So Do Ford, Berra

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Gus Triandos, Baltimore's bruised backstop, has signed his 1962 baseball contract, exchanged his problem child status for a role as the team's dean and temporarily at least signaled an end to all trade rumors.

The catcher, 31, who had his poorest season last year when he wound up with a .244 batting average and a few additional wounds on his battered hands, became the first Oriole to sign Tuesday by inking a contract for his eighth campaign with the club.

That stilled the debate over Triandos' status with the club, questionable since he expressed a desire last month to be traded.

Triandos was among a host of notable players who signed Tuesday, joining two members of the world champion New York Yankees—Whitey Ford and Yogi Berra—Willie Kirkland of Cleveland's Indians and Chicago Cubs' Don Cardwell.

Ford, the top winner in the majors last season with a 25-4 record, signed for $50,000 and became the highest paid Yankee pitcher in history. Berra, veteran catcher turned outfielder during the 1961 campaign, received a figure estimated at $52,000.

Acquired by the Indians from San Francisco, Kirkland responded with 27 homers and 95 RBI and was rewarded with a "nice raise" to about $18,000. Cardwell, top pitcher on the Cubs with a 15-14 mark, and outfielder Danny Murphy brought Chicago's signed list to 18.

Pettit Is MVP for West Team

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — The West holds an edge in top talent with the likes of Oscar Robertson, Elgin Baylor and Jerry West, and with youth on its side, soon may catch the East in the National Basketball Association All-Star game series.

That's the opinion of Fred Schaus of Los Angeles, who coached the West in its convincing 150-130 victory over the veteran East stars in the 12th annual game before 15,112 here on Tuesday night. The East still leads the series 7-5.

"Understand, I'm talking about individuals, not teams," Schaus said. "You have to concede the Boston Celtics still are the best team in basketball."

Bob Pettit, 8-year veteran of the game's most valuable player trophy with a record 27 rebounds. Wilt Chamberlain, the 7-1 Philadelphian who holds a 49-point scoring average, set an NBA All-Star scoring record with 42 points.

The Big Difference

Yet most observers felt the catlike Robertson was the difference with his smooth play making and 14-point third-quarter burst that put the West out of reach.

"Oscar got us running again in the third quarter and that broke open the game," Schaus said, "but I won't argue that Pettit deserved the MVP award. Anytime a man gets 27 rebounds over the heads of Chamberlain and Bill Russell (of Boston), you have to hand it to him."

Pettit had 27 votes from writers, Robertson 11 and Baylor 5.

Baylor, playing on an Army pass from Ft. Lewis, Wash., after a two-week layoff, led the West with 32 points. He admitted "I was tired and a little out of shape." Robertson had 26 points and Pettit 25.

Boston's Red Auerbach, coaching the East for the 6th straight year, thought Cincinnati's Jack Twyman "really killed us" with nine third-quarter points.

The West won last year 153-131.

New Paltz at Rondout Tonight

Rondout Valley Central, still battling for the UCAL championship, will host a dangerous New Paltz five tonight with the jayvee game listed to begin at 6:30 p. m.

The visitors have managed to win only two league games in four starts but they have two high scorers in Ken Freer, All-UCAL during 1960-61, and Woody Osterhoudt.

Rondout doesn't have a high scoring club but specializes in defense. Lynn Johnson is Coach Chick Meehan's biggest offensive threat. The Ganders are 3-1 in circuit competition and need this one to stay in the race.

Mel Farris Wins '325 Class' In State Archery Tournament

Mel Farris of the Kingston Archery Club won first place in the "325 Class" in the New York State indoor archery tournament at the Memorial stadium in Utica last weekend.

Don Bowra, a consistent local winner, placed second in the "400 Class" with a score of 712.

The tournament was a "Chicago" round where a perfect score is 864. It was interesting to note that the higest score of the day was only 756, shot by a sight shooter. Bowra's 712 and Mel Farris' 708 were the second and third highest instinctive scores of the day and ranked seventh and eighth in the entire tournament, including sight shooters.

Several grandparents and eight wheel-chair archers competed in the tournament.

The local archery club is interested in hearing from any persons confined to wheel chairs who might be interested in archery shooting. They are asked to contact Don Bowra or visit the Teen-age canteen on Henry Street on Monday evening. The Kingston archers will be glad to offer instruction and demonstrations to anyone or any interested group.

The scoring:

Newburgh Scores Victory, 76-50

Richie Scott pumped in 27 points and Newburgh Free Academy rolled to its 10th straight win, 76-50, against Our Lady of Lourdes last night at Lincoln Center in Poughkeepsie.

Coach Ed Donohue's Warriors stayed on even terms with the powerful Goldbacks for a half, trailing by only seven points, 34-27, at the intermission. But the visitors found the range in the third and fourth period to win going away.

Scott had nine baskets and nine free throws for his total. John Sileno added 14 and seven other players also scored. Mark Palinski and Gary Henderson paced the Warriors, who are now 3-7 for the season but have improved with each outing.

Arlington Blasts Highland, 85-58

Five quick baskets in the third quarter by Joe Horvath turned a fairly close game into a rout as Arlington High School won at Highland, 85-58, yesterday.

The home side, which won its first game of the season on Friday night, managed its best point production of the season with John DallVechia showing the way with 14 markers.

Horvath, a deadly shooter from outside, had 26 to pace Arlington.

Sports Talk

By CHARLES J. TIANO

Freeman Sports Editor

Louise Jordan is getting her share of tenpin headlines these days.

A week ago she clouted a pair of New Drop League records with a 235 solo and 608 series, the latter a career-first six hundred slam.

It was also disclosed that she now leads three leagues in individual high series. Besides the 608 in the New Drop, she has a 576 in the Community League and a 572 in the Bowlero Mixed.

The size of the scores indicates a new star in the making. The bowling firmament can always use one.

Tenpin Topics, Observations:

A notice in the recent Hudson Valley League statistical sheet left us with a cold, clammy feeling. It read: "There is one team that has not paid any weekly prize money. This team has paid one check but that check was returned to the secretary because the account was closed." What are the HVBL moguls waiting for?

Kingston HVBL entries are making wholesale switches in home drives. Miron Lumber is moving to 5 and 6 at the Bowlero. Three Brothers are camping on 3 and 4 and Charles Ramsey Corp. is going to 19 and 20. The greener pastures, they hope.

JUST A MYTH: Contrary to the popular theory that repeated "taps" indicate a weak ball, we saw Eddie Lubanski leave five 4-pins in one game. A twist of the dial and there was Dick Weber, the new Mr. Moneybags of pro bowling, leaving the 10-pin four times in one set against Don Carter. If you hit the pocket with regularity, you'll leave the key taps 4, 8, 10 and even the seven.

Oster Rolls in Classic:

Jerry Oster will compete in the ABC Classic team division with the Edmond Oldsmobile. Other members of the squad are Joe and Mike Morys, Edmund Gray and Luther Leach, all hometown hotshots.

A likely looking combination is the famed Faber Cement Block of Paramus, N. J. with such worthies as Al Faragalli, Graz Castellano, Tony Sparando, Lou Campi and Stan Marchut.

It's a bit of irony that the only unsponsored team in the American division of the Tavern Association was leading the pack at the halfway mark. That would be Team No. 7 and it figures.

The deadline for entries to the New York State women's tournament, opening in Kingston March 23, is closer than you think. It's Tuesday, Jan. 23, as a matter of fact. Last time we heard the entry total was over the 2,000 mark.

Professionals at Albany

The second leg of the Professional Bowlers Association circuit will be held at the Redwood Lanes in Albany, Jan. 24-27, with the Saturday finals televised nationally at 4:30 p. m. Glenn Allison, winner of the inaugural Empire State Open in 1958, will be on hand. So will Jack Ferraro of Kingston. Now if Jack can just make the semi-finals, everything will be just fine.

Lindy Faragalli of New Jersey moved among the all-time 300 shooters with his tenth at Phelps Manor in Teaneck last month. He tied Pat Paterson of St. Louis. The all-time leader is George Billick of Old Forge, Pa., with 16. Walter Ward of Cleveland is second with 12. Frank Clause of Old Forge and Hank Marino of Milwaukee have 11 each.

First left hand bowler to roll a sanctioned 300 game is Carl R. Long, 26, of Reading, Pa. He is an accountant whose right arm was amputated after it was crushed in an auto accident in 1952. The perfect game wasn't exactly a fluke. A four-night-a-week kegler, Long carries a composite average of 185 and had previous highs of 279 and 686.

The Bowling Proprietors' Association of America has launched a campaign to raise funds for the American Cancer Society during Bowl Down Cancer Week, April 22 to 28. The campaign will be conducted at 6,000 BPAA member lanes and will be coordinated through 48 state associations. The proprietors group is spending a half million dollars in promoting the project.

There's been a happy deluge of female standings and statistics the past few days. Nice to see everybody kept posted.

Howard Defeats Pino, 125-118

Tom Howard was a winner in the city pocket billiard tournament Tuesday night, edging Joe Pino, 125 to 118, in a well played match at the Uptown Billiard Parlor.

Pino earned high run honors with 16. Howard had a cluster of 15.

Bill Costello takes on Jim Burns tonight at 7 o'clock.

Crosby Tourney Opens Thursday At Pebble Beach

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Bing Crosby's $50,000 golf production opens Thursday with a bulky field of 324 scattered over three courses and nature providing treacherous problems in a picturesque setting.

Celebrities in fields of entertainment, business, profession and sports team with golfing pros, who also shoot individually for a top prize of $5,300.

Crosby's event formally is known as the National Pro-Amateur, with the field boosted this year to 162 teams. Each pro has an amateur as his partner.

Bob Rosburg, former PGA champion, defends his individual title. He captured last year's event with a 72-hole total of 282.

Pro Wes Ellis teamed with San Francisco attorney Frank Tatum Jr. to take the pro-amateur crown with a best ball score of 252. They are seeking to defend a championship no team has won two years in a row.

Each golfer plays one round over Monterey Peninsula Country Club, Cypress Point and Pebble Beach before the field is reduced for Sunday's final at Pebble Beach.

Fingers are crossed for good weather, but rain is no novelty here, and winds whipping off the Pacific Ocean compound the problems on the trick courses.

Eleven pros who have won the Crosby are in the field. They face a host of young challengers including 1961 amateur champion Jack Nicklaus, Phil Rodgers who won the Los Angeles Open, and Tommy Jacobs who captured the top prize Sunday at San Diego.

Los Angeles Cage Team in Trouble; May Make a Move

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Los Angeles Jets are in trouble in the American Basketball League. Meantime the Cleveland Pipers, who "blew their tops" when they weren't paid Monday, have calmed down.

The final decision on the future of the Jets was to be made today. Their schedule probably will be altered to include some games in Long Beach and Pasadena.

The team has played most of its games on Monday and Tuesday nights, which the league considers undesirable from an attendance standpoint.

There had been talk of the club moving to either Fort Worth or Houston, Tex., or Portland, Ore. But it appeared that the club will stay in Los Angeles.

The Pipers, who lost a 118-110 decision to the Kansas City Steers in Commack, N.Y., Tuesday night, were not paid Monday, their regular payday.

"Some of the players blew their tops," admitted Coach John McLendon, "but it all has been straightened out and we'll play our scheduled game against the Pittsburgh Rens tonight."

He said the payroll would be met today.

In the other game of the doubleheader, the New York Tapers —moved from Washington—made their new home town bow by losing a 105-97 decision to the Rens.

Quebec Skaters May Vacate Cellar Slot

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Quebec Aces were only two points away from climbing out of the depths of the Eastern Division cellar of the American Hockey League today mainly through the efforts of goalie Charlie Hodge.

The Aces clobbered the Providence Reds, 7-0 Tuesday night in the only AHL game scheduled. That left the Aces with 37 points and the Reds with 39.

Center Skippy Burchell notched two goals for the Aces, while Reggie Grigg, Michel Labadie, Danny Lewicki, Gus Rousseau and

Floyd, Liston Bout Nearing Reality

NEW YORK (AP) — Tom Bolan, president of Championship Sports, told intimates a month ago that heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson would sign a contract the latter part of this month to meet No. 1 contender Sonny Liston, a boxing source said today.

The source, who did not want to be identified by name, said the proposed title bout probably would be held in New York no later than June.

According to the source, Patterson promised Liston a shot at the title last December through Bolan but never made a public announcement. In recent weeks Patterson reaffirmed that he would fight Liston with Championship Sports promoting, the source said.

In Philadelphia, George Katz, Liston's manager, declined comment on the matter.

Polio Benefit Cage Contests At OCS Saturday

Onteora Central school will be the scene of the annual polio benefit basketball presentation Saturday night with a tripleheader on tap.

In the 7 p. m. opener, two junior high teams will oppose each other. The women faculty will play a girls' athletic association team in the second game and in the final, the men's faculty five will oppose former Onteora Central school stars.

Money made at the games will be given to the March of Dimes. Athletic director Ed Witko is hopeful of another large turnout for this annual attraction.

U. S. Bobsledders Now in 10th Place

Garmisch-Partenkirchen, Germany (AP)—United States hopes for a title in the two-man world bobsled championships this weekend today rested on the young shoulders of Gary Sheffield of Lake Placid, N.Y., and the veteran handling of Lloyd Johnson.

With only two days left for practice runs the American team was hard-pressed to catch the veteran German drivers, Franz Schelle and Franz Maurer, and Italy's Segio Zardini. This trio paced Tuesday's runs, with Sheffield and his brakeman, Gerry Tennant, both representing the U.S. Marines, in 10th spot.

Johnson, living in Germany the past few years, has not yet arrived. Veteran Stan Benham of Lake Placid said he will take his spot on the jury and may not even compete in the four-man races the following weekend.

"I want to see how Sheffield does in practice," he said. "He is specializing on two-man sleds and if he doesn't get along in the four-man training next week, I'll take over and drop my seat on the jury."

Sheffield and Tennant had a combined time of 2 minutes, 43.39 seconds Tuesday on two runs of 1:21.44 and 1:21.95. Schelle had a 2:35.96 and Maurer a 2:36.72. Zardini, the crafty little Italian, was only one-hundredth of a second behind Maurer.

Nittany Lions Win Over Colgate Club

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Penn State's Nittany Lions basketball team ran up their highest tally of the season when they mauled visiting Colgate, 80-65, Tuesday night.

The night's victims also included winless Syracuse, which bowed to visiting Cornell, 86-78, despite a near-record, 39-point effort by Orange sophomore Carl Vernick.

Other action involving Upstate colleges included victories by host Cortland State over Alfred, 64-49, and Oneonta State over visiting Griffiss Air Force Base, 84-61.

Penn State, sparked by Captain Gene Harris' 24 points, chalked up its eighth victory against seven defeats. Colgate, led by Bob Duffy with 22 points, now has an 8-5 record.

Syracuse's Vernick rang up the second highest total ever scored at Onondaga County War Memorial auditorium with 39 points. Ironically, the record of 42 points was set by a Cornell man, Chuck Rolles. On Feb. 1, 1956, Rolles tallied 42 points.

Syracuse has 13 defeats this season and 18 in succession over two seasons. Cornell's record is 11-2.

San Antonio, Tex. — Humberto (Lefty) Barrera, Robstown, Tex., outpointed Nacho Escalante, Mexico City, 10. Bantamweights.

Hamond had 16 points and Pleasants 10 for the winners, who are now 3-6 for the season. Onteora will play at Hunter-Tannersville on Saturday.

In the jayvee contest, the visitors won, 36-21, as Gary Port scored 10 points.

Delay Possible In Title Bout

LONDON (AP) — A heavy dose of influenza which has knocked out British middleweight Terry Downes today threatened another delay to his championship return fight with America's Paul Pender.

Downes, holder of the disputed world middleweight title is due to meet Pender in Boston next April, but there was speculation the fight might have to be called off again.

Downes took the title from Pender last July. Then he injured a thumb and had to postpone the return bout. He hasn't had a scrap since July.

The Mature Parent

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Children Want to Know What Makes Adults Tick

Dear Mrs. Lawrence:

My two-year old grandson is a handful to manage, very active and with a will of his own. When he's at home, he minds better than when his parents leave him with me.

I can tell him three times to leave the electric toaster alone and the moment my back is turned, he's back at it.

My daughter tells me to slap his hands when he disobeys, but as I think a child's parents are the only ones who should slap him, I hesitate to do this. My own children were both girls and. . . .

Answer: Put the toaster out of his reach. If he grabs other things you don't want him to touch, runs away or otherwise disobeys, grab him and hold him until he gets the message and quiets down. Have interesting things about that he can investigate, such as old alarm clocks, balls of string, cartons, etc.

Your little grandson doesn't want to haress you. He wants to discover whether you mean what you say. He wants to know what you're like inside.

Just as he insists on exploring toasters and puddles, he must also explore people. For in the toddler's world, things are always turning out to be other than they seem to be.

He shakes an old alarm clock that seems to be quiet—and astonishing rattles result. The cat we've told him to pet darts out a claw and gives him a scratch. He steps on a stone—and the ground he thought was safe rises up and hits him.

Appearances, he is busily learning, are deceiving. So, if he is intelligent, he pays little attention to a command like "Don't play with the toaster" until we make our wish for obedience real for him by making it impossible for him to play with it.

We can't behave like old alarm clocks with toddlers. We have to be what we appear to be.

If we are going to make noises like Authority, we have to back up the noises with action so that our words and our deeds become all of one piece to him. Then he can trust us.

The trouble is, we confuse the toddler's need to explore our character with defiance. We take his probings into the quality of our fimness as our personal and particular problem. It isn't. He investigates everything.

Rochester Town Appointments Are Named by Board

The Town of Rochester Town Board held its first meeting of the year, Jan. 4, at the town clerk's office in Accord.

Newly elected Democratic Councilman Joseph Lee and newly elected Town Clerk Eileen Baker were welcomed by Supervisor A. Richard Terwilliger (R). All board members, Highway Superintendent Richard Gray and Town Clerk Eileen Baker were present.

Board Organizes

The first part of the meeting was devoted to the annual organization and making of appointments and resolutions.

It was voted by resolution that voting would take place by closed ballot.

The following appointments were made:

Welfare Officer, Lester Coddington, Enforcement Officer and Multiple Residence Law Officer, Howard Terwilliger, Dog Warden, Arthur Crose, Town Attorney, Saul Altholz, Constables Grant Schoonmaker, Joseph Avery, Wallace Baker Jr., and Hyman Bank, Grievance Board of Multiple Residence Law, Max Geller, Percy Greene, William Anderson, Lee Osterhoudt, Nathan Trowbridge.

Rosewitha Davis was named town historian. Hyman Banks was named Civil Defense Director; Lillian DiPasqua, deputy town clerk and Eileen Baker, registrar of vital statistics.

Salaries Listed

Supervisor, A. Richard Terwilliger $2,000. Tax Collector LeRoy Kelder $1,400. Superintendent of Highways Richard Gray $5,250. Town Clerk Eileen Baker $2,500. Justices of the Peace Abe Smith and Raymond Lawrence $1,500 each.

Councilmen Morris Sims and Joseph Lee $900 each. Assessors Sam Waruch, chairman, $1,800 and Assessors Harry Krom and Harold Bush $1,200 each. Secretary to assessors on audit. Welfare Officer Lester Coddington $1,200. Enforcement Officer and Multiple Residence Law Howard Terwilliger $750. Secretary to Enforcement Officer Margaret Marshall $350. Dog Warden Arthur Crose $600. Town Attorney Saul Althoz on audit.

Following the organization session the regular board meeting was held. After minutes of the previous meeting had been approved and bills audited the town highway superintendent gave his report.

A request was presented from Bern and Addis asking the town pave over a road in a development in the Granite area. The road fulfills the qualifications for becoming a town road.

Supervisor Terwilliger called for a special meeting to discuss the situation at Cherrytown Iron bridge which has been officially closed.

Urges Planning Body

Councilman Morris Sims suggested that a planning committee be appointed by the Town Board and include owners of businesses in the town. This planning committee would promote the efficiency and growth of the community. He requested the matter be considered and that further discussion with more details be had at a future meeting.

Fred Doscher requested Supervisor Terwilliger write to the Bureau of Traffic Control in Albany asking for a review and reduction of speed in the speed zone on the curves of Route 209 approaching and in front of the Accord bridge. Such speed zone would lessen the danger of accidents at the scene.

Bone-Chilling Cold Keeps Wide Section in Freezer

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bone-chilling cold stung broad areas of the nation's northern midsection today and freezing weather spread deep into parts of the South.

-40 in Minnesota

The core of the arctic air held an icy grip over North Dakota and Minnesota. Temperatures fell to nearly 40 degrees below zero in International Falls, Minn., on the Canadian border. It was 37 below this morning after a high of -14 Tuesday in the northern Minnesota city.

Freezing weather chilled Southern sections as far as central Texas and eastward through Arkansas, Tennessee, much of North Carolina and in parts of Georgia and Alabama.

The subzero belt stretched across the northern and northern central Plains, the Upper Mississippi Valley and the western Great Lakes region. Some ice-box readings: -30 in Duluth, Minn. -20 in Minneapolis; -28 in Minot, N.D.; -26 in Fargo, N.D., and Alexandria, Minn.; -22 in Bismarck, N.D. and -16 in Eau Claire, Wis.

No Break Indicated

No immediate break in the severe cold was indicated. Even colder temperatures were expected in the frigid belt. Cold wave warnings were issued for northern Ohio, western Pennsylvania and western New York. Weather Bureau forecasters said the icy air will hold tight through the Middle Mississippi Valley, the Ohio Valley and the middle Atlantic states.

Chicago had its second straight morning of subzero weather with the mercury dropping to -5. It was 5 degrees lower in nearby Joliet, Ill.

Temperatures in the South ran from 20 in Crossville, Tenn., 27 in Birmingham, Ala., 29 in Augusta, Ga., Memphis, Tenn., and Asheville, N.C., to 31 in Atlanta.

Temperatures dropped into the 30s in parts of northern Florida, mild weather continued in southern sections, with readings in the 60s.

A Pine Bush woman, hurt in an automobile accident on Route 52 in that town Tuesday night, is reported in fairly good condition today in Horton Hospital, Middletown.

According to Corp. Michael Bonney of the Ellenville State Police Barracks, Mrs. Margaret Fritschler, 42, of Pine Bush was driving east on Route 52, about a mile west of Walker Valley when her automobile hit an icy spot in the highway, skidded and overturned. Who's Chasing Who

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) —Was T. J. Bailey harassing the ducks on Lake Overholser or was it the other way around?

It took a justice of the peace court jury just 45 seconds to decide after hearing this testimony Tuesday:

Clay Boyd, state game and wildlife officer, and Ace Marrs, a municipal lake patrolman, said they saw Bailey drive his motor boat recklessly into a flock of ducks.

Bailey said the ducks were chasing him.

Kingston Town Job Applications Open Until 26th

The resignation of Town of Kingston Constable William McGinnis was received and accepted with regret at the regular monthly meeting of the town board held at town hall Monday night.

Applications for town constable and custodian of the town honor roll will be received by members of the town board until Jan. 26, when a meeting of the board will be held in the town hall at 6:30 p. m., to act on applications.

Discuss Car Purchase

At the meeting Monday the board discussed the purchase of a police car for the town but no action was taken on the proposition.

All board members together with several interested taxpayers were present at the meeting, as well as Town Attorney Francis Vogt.

The matter of payment of highway bills of the road superintendent, recently resigned, will be investigated by the town attorney. Town bills were audited and ordered paid.

Town law pertaining to town constables was read and explained by Attorney Vogt. It was explained that under Section 39 of the Town Law, a town constable may not attach or use a siren on his privately owned vehicle, nor attach thereto a sign reading "police" notwithstanding that such vehicle is used in the performance of his official duties. No light other than white or yellow may be displayed on a motor vehicle owned by a town constable so as to be visible from a point directly in front of the vehicle.

Councilman Robert Vinson reported on recreation insurance for town property.

Committee on Ordinance, Councilman Robert Vinson.

Committee on Speed Limit, Councilman John Kloepping.

Committee on repair of honor roll, Supervisor George J. Leedecke, Lyndon Seaver and William Ferguson, taxpayers.

A resolution was offered by Supervisor Leedecke that an inventory of each town office be made and filed with Town Clerk Paul W. Burton.

A meeting will be held Tuesday, Feb. 6, at 8 p. m., at the town hall for the purpose of auditing town bills.

Speed Padding Probe

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Henry I. Fineberg, executive vice president of the New York State Medical Society, says it is speeding the handling of cases of physicians charged with padding their bills.

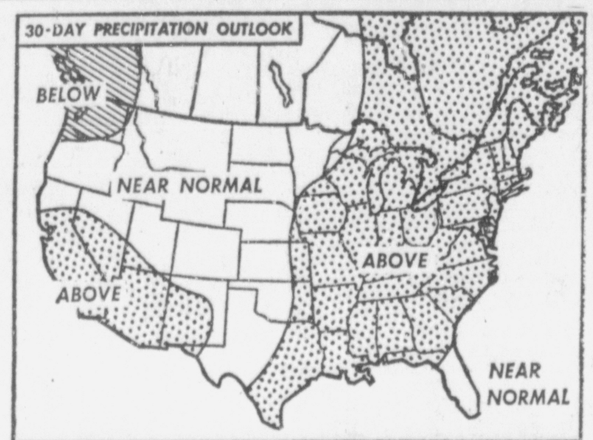

However, he says, it will "take several years for the society's grievance committee to handle all of the cases before it."

Fineberg held a news conference Tuesday to outline the society's efforts to eliminate fraud and deceit in the profession.

The state division of professional conduct reported last week that 1,300 New York metropolitan area physicians faced charges of professional misconduct for allegedly inflating bills used as bases for claims in accident cases.

Despite U. S. Objections

Britain to Proceed With Peiping Sale

LONDON (AP) — Overriding American objections, Britain will go ahead with sales of six Viscount jet airliners to Red China, government officials report.

They said a reported U.S. ban on an American firm's supplying certain parts for the six planes will not hold up the sales since the equipment can be obtained from other suppliers.

Frederick G. Dutton, U.S. assistant secretary of state for congressional relations, said in a letter to Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., that an American firm whose British subsidiary supplies navigational and radar equipment for Viscounts had been warned not to supply the equipment for the six airliners.

Dutton said the parts are strategic materials banned from sale to Red China.

The British position, sources here said, is that the gear is subject to such control only in a quantitative sense because it would only be disadvantageous to sell it to the Reds in large numbers. The airliners themselves are not embargoed for sale to the Communist bloc.

The United States and Britain have long been at odds on the matter of trade with the Communist Chinese regime, which Britain recognizes and the United States does not.

Racial Quota Hit

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York City Board of Education is accused in a federal court suit of using a "racial quota" policy in assigning students to high schools.

This policy, the suit contends, has resulted in the assigning of approximately 90 per cent of the Negro pupils to 20 per cent of the city's high schools.

The school board denied such a policy exists.

Coast Church Robbed

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Two gunmen in business suits and porkpie hats robbed the First Presbyterian church of more than $1,000 Tuesday night.

Nearly 200 persons were attending "new members' night" on the floor below when the robbers entered the church's business office and forced the business manager, Robert Bruce Young Jr., to open the safe. They carried automatics, and one stood guard in the doorway while the other rummaged through cash boxes with his gloved hand.

Royalty in Texas

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Former Belgian King Leopold and his wife, Princess Lilianen, are in Houston for a social visit with a heart surgeon.

The princess heads the Princess Liliane Cardiological Foundation in Belgium. She plans to watch heart surgery at the Texas Medical Center here.

The couple arrived Tuesday night to spend a week as guests of Dr. Michael DeBakey and his wife. The king and princess plan an official visit to South America next.

School Officials To Hear Talk on Fallout Shelters

A talk on fallout shelters will highlight the January meeting of the Ulster County School Boards Association scheduled for 7 p. m. today at Onteora Central School. The speaker will be Willard Jones of the State Education Department.

Philip Gordon, president of the Onteora Central School Board of Education will welcome the guests. The session will open with a dinner in the school cafeteria, prepared and served by the cafeteria staff. Husbands and wives of board members from the nine districts in the county and the Board of Cooperative Services, will be invited guests.

Board members are expected to be asked to voice their opinions on state aid for education during the session which will be presided over by Ben Miller of Ellenville. He was reelected president of the association at its December meeting in Kingston.

Illinois to Take Over Fire Probe, Confession Told

CHICAGO (AP)—The state's attorney's office has taken over the investigation of a 13-year-old boy who allegedly confessed he started the fire at Our Lady of the Angels School which killed 92 children and 3 nuns in 1958.

State's Atty. Daniel Ward said the boy will be brought into Family Court and a delinquency petition is expected to be filed.

The boy is not under arrest or police guard. No charges have been filed against the youth and authorities have declined to disclose his name.

The boy, now an eighth-grade public pupil in suburban Cicero, was in the fifth grade in the Chicago Roman Catholic school at the time of the fire, Dec. 1, 1958.

Ward declined to disclose the substance of the delinquency petition, saying he did not want to comment on the case because it might prejudice the interests "of the people or the boy."

The Chicago Tribune, in a copyright story Tuesday, said the boy admitted setting the school fire to John E. Reid, who runs a lie detection service, last Friday. But neither Reid nor Ward would say whether the boy has made a confession.

Accord Resident Seeks Damages For Injured Hand

Michael Vurchio Jr., of Accord is seeking damages from Irving Tepper of Kerhonkson for injuries to his hand which plaintiff alleges he sustained while at the Ship Gally back in February 1958.

Vurchio, a mason, alleges his hand was broken when he struck a machine in the Tepper tavern where a partron, Roger DePuy, had engaged in a fight with Tepper. Vurchio charges that Tepper was negligent in not maintaining order in the place and seeks damages under the theory of negligence.

Says Door Blocked

In Supreme Court before Justice Louis G. Bruhn, Vurchio testified he had gone to the tavern on business and after using a telephone attempted to leave the premises.

DePuy and two companions entered the place and although he attempted to leave, the entrance was blocked and during an altercation he attempted to defend himself and was struck by DePuy.

In some manner his hand struck a machine in the place and his hand was fractured. He testified he was unable to go to work at Napanoch Institution because of the hand injury and that the injury presently continued to hamper use of the hand.

After the fight in the tavern, state police were called. DePuy was removed from the place by companions and Tepper locked the place until troopers arrived. Vurchio testified that after arrival of the troopers he left the tavern and while outside perferring a charge of assault against DePuy he was struck by DePuy.

Philip Korn appears for plaintiff.

Does Not Recall

During cross examination by defendant's counsel, Lavery, Lauterbach and Babchak, Vurchio was asked if he had not testified on a prior occasion that he had been injured when he went to the assistance of Tepper who was being attacked by DePuy. He said he did not recall former testimony but was engaged in defending himself when the injury took place. He said after being injured he did not strike DePuy but "hugged" him to prevent further injury until DePuy was removed from the premises and state police summoned.

The case is being tried before a jury.

Mile for Mile

About a mile of interchange access roads or approaches, or relocations of existing roads, were necessary for each mile of the New York State Thruway constructed between Buffalo and New York City.
